

LONG'S PENSION CASE

The Reargument of the Case in Washington Does Not Appear to Awaken Much Interest.

Commissioner Lochren Confident That the Same Opinion Will be Reached as Was Given Before.

He Discusses the Work Done by the Special Examiners, Criticized in Congress and Elsewhere.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The re-argument of the Long pension case in the district court of the District of Columbia does not awaken very much interest. Commissioner Lochren is confident that the same opinion will be reached. In his annual report the commissioner reviewed the Long case at some length, in which he said:

"This case has attracted wide attention because of the fact that the pensioner is one of the judges of the supreme court of Michigan and has upon the roster and through the press unstintingly denounced the bureau and myself for alleged arbitrary and illegal proceedings in the reduction of his pensions and because of the suits instituted by him in this district against myself to prevent such reductions."

After reviewing the proceedings in the case, Commissioner Lochren says: "It is quite clear that under honest but mistaken interpretation of the pension laws by prior commissioners, this pensioner has obtained from the treasury more than $7000 to which he was never lawfully entitled. Should he make good his assertions that he will take this case for decision to the supreme court of the United States he may, when it shall be finally decided, consider the propriety of returning this money to the treasury."

In the same report the commissioner discusses the work of special examiners, which have been criticized in congress and elsewhere. The commissioner says: "The report of the chief of the division exhibits the character and importance of its work. Cases which appear to have merit, but in which the claimants are unable to obtain essential evidence, are with such information in respect to witnesses as the bureau possesses, placed in the hands of special examiners, who are often able to discover and obtain the evidence necessary to prove the claims. The larger part of the force is always kept employed in this class of work."

"But the special examination division, aided as it is by the law division, constitutes the main protection which the government has against fraud and imposition. Most of the pension attorneys and claim agents are capable and honorable; but some among them are the most dishonest and unscrupulous of men, dealing habitually in perjury, forgery and every species of fraud. Without special examiners the validity of such men would operate without check or fear of detection and be generally successful, as it is too often now in spite of all safeguards."

"Such men are a constant source of trouble to the bureau, and their dishonesty and desertion, and the fraudulent maligners. As many of their crimes are discovered, their frauds are exposed and they are themselves and their confederates brought to punishment by the work of special examiners (there were 103 convictions for pension frauds last year), it is but natural that such men and their clients should be loud and unceasing in denouncing special examiners, as spies and seeking with the aid of unscrupulous partisan newspapers, and politicians, to create a prejudice against special examiners in the minds of deserving pensioners and others."

"The worthy and deserving soldiers are still modest, and in the race for pensions are elbowed to the rear by the unworthy in their continued struggle for pensions and increases as when operating for bounties. They crowd themselves to the front at soldiers' gatherings with clamor for resolutions for more pensions, and denunciations of every regulation tending to unmask or prevent dishonesty and fraud as unfriendly to the soldiers." Their insatiable greed and detestation of all resolutions made to insure honesty and restrain or discover

SAYS TAMMANY TOTTERS.

A Jersey City Clergyman Predicts That Strong Will be Elected Mayor.

New York, Oct. 29.—In a prelude to his sermon, the Rev. John L. Scudder, of Jersey City, spoke last night on the case of Mrs. Herman, the Lexow witness, who is detained in the county jail pending the arrival of extradition papers. He said in part:

"During the past week Jersey City has been misjudged and become the victim of unpleasant notoriety through the endeavors of Senator David to prevent Mrs. Herman, formerly the keeper of a disorderly house in New York city, from testifying before the Lexow committee. This attempt to thwart the ends of justice and prevent the introduction of criminal evidence against blackmailing officials across the Hudson is something for which Jersey City is in no wise responsible. Neither the mayor nor the chief of police nor Justice Potts has shown the slightest sympathy with this endeavor to shield the criminal classes and the good people of this city deprecate and repudiate the whole disgraceful proceeding."

"There are two lessons to be drawn from this sensational attempt to keep this woman off the witness stand. First, it is one more evidence that Tammany is side light cast upon the rottenness of the government in New York city and serves to confirm the people in their opinion that they must have a total change of administration. We predict that on Nov. 6, New York will enter the procession of cities that are declaring in favor of municipal reform. Jersey City led off in the election of Mayor Wanser, Brooklyn followed by electing Mayor Scherren, and New York will fall in line by electing Mayor Strong."

"The second lesson is that the sentiments of the old Hudson county ring politicians have not changed one iota. Their sympathy was largely with the criminal element and it is today. When evildoers are in trouble they know where to go to find assistance. It would be a great detriment to this city if in the coming election the ring candidates should be elected."

ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE.

A Train Robber Nearly Escaped From an Arizona Jail.

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 29.—Oscar Rogers, one of the men charged with holding up a Southern Pacific east bound overland train a few weeks ago, near Maricopa station, and now confined in jail here pending a hearing on indictment found by the grand jury for Pinal county, made a daring and almost successful attempt to escape.

The friends who planned the escape did their work well, despite the fact that part of the plan failed. They placed a battery about 30 yards away. When the signal was given only about half a dozen of the sticks exploded.

Two Thousand Killed.

Terrible Loss of Life and Property in Brazil by an Earthquake.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A special dispatch from Buenos Ayres says: La Rioja, capital of the province of the same name, was ruined by last night's earthquake. The churches, schools and public edifices were all thrown down.

The scene was a horrible one, women shrieking and running for their lives as the walls came crashing down. Two sisters of Mercy were killed and many more are now entombed beneath the ruins.

The governor fears that the killed and wounded throughout the province must number at least 2000, as many of the outlying towns also suffered.

CRITICISMS OF ROSEBERY.

London Papers Comment on His Speech on the House of Lords.

LONDON, Oct. 29.—In an article commenting on Prime Minister Rosebery's speech at Bradford on the house of lords, the Standard says he has "thrown down the gauntlet, but like Don Quixote's victor it is like pasteboard."

The Times this morning editorially asks whether Lord Rosebery is in earnest or whether he is making game of the radical politicians. It says that if he does not believe in this wild policy, it is very sorry to see him staking his future on it.

CONSTERNATION IN CHINA.

The Defeat North of the Yalu River Regarded as Serious.

TIENTSIN, Oct. 29.—The news of the Chinese defeat north of the Yalu river has caused considerable consternation here. The Chinese officials do not attempt to deny the serious nature of the disaster.

The next fighting is expected at Port Arthur. News of the result is awaited with anxiety.

Was Insanely Jealous.

WEBB CITY, Mo., Oct. 29.—J. D. Roe, of Dayton, Newton county, fired four shots at Ed McAllister, here, slightly wounding him in the neck and then shot himself through the head, causing instant death. He was to have been married to Miss Martha Ford today, but became insanely jealous of McAllister. The shooting took place in the presence of Miss Ford, who is prostrated.

A NEW PACIFIC ROAD

The Midland Pacific Railroad to be Built From Sioux Falls to Tacoma and Seattle.

Contract for Construction Let to Senator Pettigrew and Work to be Started Next Spring.

The New Road Will Have Its Principal Repair and Other Shops at Sioux Falls.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Maj. George B. Hibbard, of this city, who has recently returned from an extensive trip through the Northwest and the northern portion of the Pacific slope, was seen last night by a reporter. The most important news he brings was of the proposed new Midland Pacific railroad, over the route of which he traveled for the special purpose of getting a knowledge of that section of the country, in order to make a report thereon to Canadian and foreign capitalists who were ready to invest in the new enterprise if they should be satisfied of its feasibility.

Maj. Hibbard is now able to state that the capital, both Canadian and foreign, is satisfied, and that he has therefore been able to enter into a contract with United States Senator R. F. Pettigrew, of South Dakota, for the building of the Midland Pacific from Sioux Falls, S. D., to Seattle and Tacoma. A distance of some 1600 miles. The success is thus assured of what will undoubtedly be one of the great transcontinental routes. Asked if the construction of the road was to be undertaken at an early date, Maj. Hibbard replied:

"The first section, extending from Sioux Falls to the coal fields of Wyoming, about 400 miles, will be built in the spring of 1895. These fields, by the way, contain vast quantities of coal equal in quality to the best produced in Illinois. Since South Dakota is entirely without coal or other fuel in any amount, it will be seen what an advantage she will derive from these increased facilities for fuel that is plentiful and cheap."

"The second section from the eastern boundary line of Wyoming to the Yellowstone park will be completed during the season of 1896, and in connection with the Illinois Central Air line will furnish a route 200 miles shorter than any other between Chicago and the National park."

"The third section which is expected to follow the second section immediately is called the Idaho division and starts at the Western line of the Rockies, passes through a country rich in minerals, timber and agriculture, and terminates in the Washington division, which will pass through Central Washington and have terminals in the peculiarly promising ports of Tacoma and Seattle."

"Sioux Falls, the Eastern terminus, contained Major Hibbard, 'as you know is equal to the best of the West. Five Eastern railroads converge there. It is the most prosperous city of South Dakota by a good deal, being the distributing center for all the Eastern and Southern parts of the state and Southwestern Minnesota and Northwestern Iowa. The new road will have its principal repair and other shops at Sioux Falls and make it the basis for the distribution of all the materials to be used in the construction of the first two divisions. The first of this active work will be begun by June 1, 1895."

WHEAT WAS UNCHANGED.

After Selling Down, It Firmed Up to Saturday's Figures.

The wheat market here today was dull all morning but became quite active in the afternoon. The opening was steady and unchanged from Saturday's closing. Futures at 32c for December and 31c for May. The market declined 1/2c by 11 o'clock, and then ruled firmer. Advancing to the opening price with dull, slow trading up to noon. After that hour it became active and advanced 1/2c to 32c. The close was steady and unchanged from Saturday. The Judiciary Dishonored.

Whatever may be said of the American political system, one fact is sure, the American people will have their judiciary above reproach. Like Cæsar's wife, it must be above suspicion. It is to the judiciary that the American people look for the preservation of their rights as guaranteed by the constitution, and so jealous were they of these rights, that they established the judiciary as a separate co-ordinate branch of the government, so that it might be beyond the reach of all executive or political influence. It was intended to establish the judiciary beyond temptation, to place its members above sinister ways and social influence; to establish one branch of government where the members of that department should be placed upon their sacred honor as men and citizens.

There has been nominated for the highest judicial office of the state a man who by his acts as a citizen, lawyer and judge of the district court of Ramsey county has shown himself so unfit and unworthy for the position to which he aspires, that it is proper that the citizens of the state should be told what manner of man he is, that they may know him as the citizens of Ramsey county know him, and who believe him to be a demagogue, a bigot, a traducer of the judicial emine, a man who is willing to trim his religious opinions to fit his political ambition—in short, as pliant a knave and subservient a tool as ever Jeffreys dared to be, though of far less ability and force of character.

By a chain of circumstances not necessary now to explain, in 1892 John W. Willis was elected judge of the district court of Ramsey county. No sooner had he seated himself than he began to plan and scheme for a position on the supreme bench. No opportunity was lost, no means, however disreputable, was neglected to accomplish this end. So well did his schemes and intrigues materialize that, though always the most rabid Democrat, he was round last summer besieging the Populist convention and almost upon his knees begging for the nomination for chief justice of this bench, promising them anything in sight for such nomination, and when the chief justiceship was refused, unabashed begged for the nomination for associate justice, which finally he received. Then a month or so later he was seen before the Democratic convention, and on a plea of his loyalty to the principles of Democracy, besought that convention for a similar nomination.

Think of the spectacle of a candidate for the highest judicial office in the gift of the people, sending his trusted benchmen to a convention of political enemies begging and bartering for a nomination, and allowing his representative to that convention to give out cold assurance in his name that, in case of his nomination and election, his decisions will be satisfactory to the political party represented in that convention! When before, in the entire history of the state of Minnesota, was there a man to be found so lost to the sense of shame, decency and honesty, that he was willing to barter off in advance his decisions in that court, in case of election, for a nomination to that office?

Having succeeded to this dual-headed nomination, he has sent letters and emissaries to every part of the state, impugning the voters for their votes, on account of his erroneous decisions as district judge, which the supreme court promptly reversed when brought before that court on appeal. However before heard of a Minnesota judge becoming a public charlatan, and soliciting the support of any particular class of voters on account of his decisions? His duty is to decide according to the law, as upon his conscience he may be able to see the law, and for doing this he is entitled to the respect of his fellow citizens, but he has no right to point to such decisions as the guide board to the goal of his political ambition, especially if these decisions reflect other considerations than a conscientious interpretation of the law and the strict discharge of a public duty.

John W. Willis is the only judge in the state of Minnesota of whom it can be truthfully said that he has dishonored the bench upon which he sits, and has dragged the judicial emine through the slums of ward politics for the sole purpose of promoting his political schemes. Considered from every point of view, he is the most unfit, unworthy and unscrupulous demagogue ever nominated for any political office in the state of Minnesota. His nomination was an insult to the intelligence and decency of the masses of the political parties from which he received his nomination, and his election would be an everlasting blot upon the fair fame of the people of Minnesota.

The Republican candidate for associate justice is Hon. L. W. Collins, who has filled that position for a number of years with ability, honesty and fairness. He possesses high legal attainments, and his private and public record has been above criticism. It is of the highest importance that the high character of the supreme court should be sustained, and that can be done only by re-electing Judge Collins. The people of the Northern portion of Minnesota have an especial interest in his election, because he is the only member of the supreme court whose residence is north of Minneapolis. Should he be defeated, the whole northern portion of Minnesota would be misrepresented in the highest court of the state. Northern Minnesota should cast a solid vote for Judge Collins. The supreme court would be dishonored by the presence of such a demagogue as John W. Willis.

The Next Congress.

Estimates made by campaign managers just before election generally have to be taken with a little salt. In spite of this fact, however, the statement given out by Vice Chairman Apsley, of the Republican congressional committee, seems to be a conservative and reasonable prognostication as to the personnel of the Fifty-third congress. He vigorously controverts the idea put forth by the Democratic campaign managers that the tide has turned and that the claims of the Republicans made ten days ago are to be considerably scaled down. His claim, however, that the Republicans could control the next house without the election of a single member from south of the Potomac river seems rather open to criticism. His idea is that 181 Republicans can be elected north of the Potomac, which would leave but twenty-five Democrats to be elected from that section, and he concedes the election of ten Democrats from New York and five from Maryland. His reasoning in this instance would seem to be at fault. Mr. Apsley feels confident that now all danger from the possibility of the Populists attracting sufficient votes to hold the balance of power in the next house has been averted. He is so confident that the Republicans will have a good working majority over all other parties that he does not think the probable number of Populists in the next house a subject worthy of discussion.

There is a point in connection with this subject, however, upon which Mr. Apsley does not touch. Even should the Populists hold the balance of power in the next house, they would not be able to control it. There are too many sensible men in both the Democratic and Republican parties to ever permit the direction of the legislation of the country to be turned over to a set of wild visionaries. In case the Populists should hold the balance of power in the house in the Fifty-fourth congress there is not the slightest doubt that the Republicans and Democrats would unite upon some good man of one or the other parties, probably some one who had never been conspicuous enough in the proceedings of the house to make many enemies and elect him speaker. Certainly a Populist will never occupy the speaker's chair of the house of representatives.

Mr. Apsley's explanation of the reason for the dearth of Populists in the next house is a good one. He says that the people have had enough of the Democrats and do not want any more rank theorists to force absurd and experimental legislation upon the country, but prefer to place the reins of government back into the hands of that party which for so many years kept the country prosperous and contented.

Register Tomorrow.

Many people found that they could not vote at the special election last Friday because their names did not appear on the registration lists, although they said they voted at the municipal election last spring. Their names should have been copied from the old lists, but through some error of the judges this was not done, and these men lost the right to vote. It was partly their own fault, however, because they should have inquired in time if they were registered.

This fact shows the necessity of every man registering for every election. It is not safe to take it for granted that your name has been copied, because you voted at the previous election. The judges are liable to make errors; they may accidentally omit your name from the list, and then you cannot vote. The boards of registry will meet in each precinct from 12 to 10 p. m. tomorrow. Make it a point to see that you are registered.

None of the Sunday papers published at the head of Lake Superior equalled in size or in quantity and quality of reading matter the Saturday edition of The Herald. Every day in the week The Herald leads the procession, and on Saturday it invariably leaves all would-be competitors out of sight. This is why The Herald has a circulation equal to that of all other papers in Duluth combined and which is steadily increasing.

Last year our exports of gold exceeded our imports by $80,893.77, and from Jan. 1 up to Oct. 1 last a similar excess of gold was exported.

At that rate the excess for the year will amount to over $100,000.00. During the four years of Mr. Harrison's presidency the total exports of gold over imports were $145,539,245, or less than that of this single current year.

In the course of his business on Tuesday night a New Jersey burglar found in a coat pocket a memorandum of the owner's racing losses of the day. Disappointed at lifting only $1000 worth of silverware, the moralizing and practically-minded thief left a message: "Don't play the races. Buy more spoons. It is cheaper. The races have brought me to burglary."

The French system of inoculation to prevent diphtheria and croup should be imported to America at once. Figures show that in the great hospitals of Paris the death rate from the disease is reduced from 57 to 24.33 per cent by the Pasteur process.

A largely increased registration will sustain Duluth's claim of a large increase in population during the past two years.

This fact alone should induce every man to register tomorrow. It will benefit Duluth in many ways.

Do not forget that tomorrow will be the last day for registration for the November election. Be sure that you are registered. Registration for the special election does not entitle you to a vote on Nov. 6.

Mr. Towne will be the next congressman from the Sixth district. There is no doubt on this point. Every resident of St. Louis county should vote for him so that his plurality will be as large as possible.

HENDERSON'S TRIUMPH

"Aladdin, Jr.," the Greatest of All the Chicago Manager's Extravaganzas at the Lyceum Tonight.

A Gorgeous and Bewildering Spectacle Which Has Never Been Surpassed on the American Stage.

Special Train of Nine Cars Necessary to Bring the Great Company to the City.

Tonight David Henderson's great American Extravaganza company opens an engagement of two nights with a matinee on Wednesday at the Lyceum. Yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock a special train of nine cars pulled in from St. Paul, bearing the immense company of 150 people and the enormous wealth of scenery and properties. The work of removing all the Lyceum scenery was begun on Saturday night. Immediately upon the arrival of the train the work of putting on the scenery for "Aladdin, Jr." was begun. It took from nine to twelve hours to place it in position.

"Aladdin, Jr." is the perfected result of years of experience in producing spectacles. The music of "Aladdin, Jr." is the work of W. H. Batchelor, musical director of the company, and George Jacob, of the London Alhambra, who composed the London music. The work of J. Cheever Goodwin, author of "Evangeline," "The Merry Monarch," "Wang," "The Golem," and other works of like character. The libretto is furnished by our previous Chicago opera house production. The dialogue, of course, is subservient to the spectacular character of the work, but it more nearly approaches comic opera in its pretentiousness than any of its predecessors. The scenery and all the scenic effects, the designs of Frederick Dangelier, who has mounted most of Manager Henderson's productions, and painted by him and his corps of assistants.

Opening with the grand square in Pekin, showing the exterior of the royal baths during the festivals of the lanterns, where in scenery and in costumes the spectators are treated to a lavish production of remarkably blended and contrasted colors, the action passes through a noble scene of mountains and river, under the clear radiance of a full moon, to the golden plen, the third scene of the piece, which is one of the most exquisitely beautiful expressions of scenic art upon which stage lights have ever been delighted to play. Graceful bridges of gilded bamboo, gnomes and distances in varied degrees of golden glow, a cascade of tumbling and sliding bubbles, overhanging branches of pliant trees, huge white storks, objects of relief and contrast in the gorgeous flood of mellow amber, make a scene that, people with hundreds of nimble figures costumed to harmonize with the prevailing surroundings, is unequalled in stage production.

Other scenes that attest with what successful earnestness and patience the years of creation has been at work upon this spectacle, present the gardens of the imperial palace, and the ebony and gold palaces on the banks of the Nile, which is a counterfeit presentation of what things might have swelled the pride of the Pharaohs in the days of their architectural supremacy. As in the golden plen, there troop the gorgeously attired nymphs of the dance to prove what art may do in the combination of colors and in unique designs to intoxicate the eye with the scene of beauty; in the palace of ebony and gold there is a barbaric pageant to prove the possibilities of magnificence in the use of costume effects upon the stage. In the procession there are high priests, priests of the sun, amazons, magicians, dancing girls, astrologers, soldiers, etc., each group an artist's study in itself, the union of them comprising an ensemble that for richness, variety and beauty is incomparably fine and impressive, and might have been conceived from tales of the Byzantine days.

The cast of "Aladdin, Jr." will include Anna Boyd, Frankie M. Raymond, Alene Crater, Ada Deaves, Irene Verona, Albert Froom, John E. Cain, Henry Norman, John J. Burke, Charles Turner, John E. Murphy, David Abrahams, Robert Blake, Edith Wynne, Mary Thorne, Josie Shalders, Nellie Lynch and Bessie Pope. The grand amber ballet will be led by Fraulein Irmier and Catherine Bartho, the world's two greatest premiere danseuses.

Alexander Salvini. Those who look upon Alexander Salvini as their ideal in the world of romance, and who delight in seeing his exciting, exhilarating pictures portrayed upon the stage can hardly afford to miss Salvini's coming production of the "Three Guardsmen" at the Temple tomorrow night. Salvini is about the only actor in this generation who is accepted at all seriously in the character of D'Artagnan, that gay, cunning, intrepid adventurer the great Cardinal Richelieu, and his performance on this occasion will be his farewell appearance in the role as far as Duluth is concerned. Subsequent engagements will find him in the realm of Shakespeare and other classic tragedy to which his power, virility and sympathy, and his voice makes him properly belong. He is an actor of tremendous ambition and his acquired talent and inherited genius are bound to carry him on to the next wave of dramatic fame. He has in the past few years given some entrancing pictures of that grand old life of romance and chivalry, and there will be a vast number of theater goers in the near future who will have good reason to regret that they will have left no worthy successor in these fascinating characterizations. On the second night of his engagement next week he will present Victor Hugo's tragic romance "Ruy Blas" in which play his many admirers here will be able to catch a glimpse of how eminently he is equipped to take up the great roles with which his father was so famously associated. It will be Salvini's first appearance here in that character, and the seemingly extravagant praise showered upon him by his masterly portrayal of Hugo's sublime conception, by the Eastern critics will attract many to the Temple Opera house who have never seen this much talked of actor before.

Cleveland's minstrels will be at the Lyceum Monday and Tuesday Nov. 5 and 6. The minstrel entertainments provided by W. S. Cleveland are invariably celebrated for several things. First of all and above all the program is clean one, and besides that it is always full of novelty and action, and the leading minstrel features are supplemented by the best market affords in the most startling and startling specialties. The manager's aim is to surprise as well as amuse. In the two main matters of costume and scene, the Cleveland management is always in advance of all others, showing the most admirable and artistic taste both in the draping and scenic surroundings. The attention to detail and the successful efforts to elevate the entertainment, has made the name of Cleveland a trade mark in all that is bright, worthy and amusing in progressive modern minstrelsy.

TO PREVENT FOREST FIRES.
 Duluth Asked to Be Represented on a Committee to Study the Question.

At the meeting of the chamber of commerce Saturday a communication was received from the St. Paul Commercial club stating that a committee of five was to be formed from the state to urge legislation for the prevention of forest fires, and asking that Duluth be represented on the committee. Duluth will probably join in the movement.

A communication from O. C. Gregg, of the Minnesota Farmer's institute, stated that a session of the institute would be held in Duluth this fall. Messrs. Hugo and Johnson were appointed a committee to give some information to a Muskegon manufacturer as to the advisability of putting in a manufacturing plant here.

Capt. Thomas Sharp, of Fort Russell, Wyo., Col. A. A. Harris and E. C. Criley were appointed delegates to the trans-Mississippi commercial congress at St. Louis Nov. 26. T. W. Hugo was added to and made chairman of the committee that is looking up the matter of diverting the cattle trade to Duluth.

MAYOR EUSTIS TALKS.
 He Discusses Maj. Baldwin's Vote on the Iron Ore Duty.

Mayor W. H. Eustis, of Minneapolis, Saturday night eloquently addressed a large audience at the Bethel on Republican doctrine. He said that as a citizen of Minnesota he was proud of Duluth, and he pictured the state of high prosperity which under Democratic rule was succeeded by a state of great calamity. "So far we have been able to do nothing to change this. Soon we shall have the opportunity of saying whether we wish it to go on or not. Are you ready to act?" He spoke of Baldwin's vote for free ore, as contrasted with the action of Murphy, of Troy, who voted to protect collars and cuffs because his own section made them, and that of Congressman Wilson, who voted to raise the tariff on the principal articles manufactured in his district. "C. A. Towne," said the speaker, "is the right man for this district, a man with the right makeup for a law maker and a man who will do you credit when you elect him."

Closing of the Bazar.
 The closing day of the cathedral bazar was one of glory so far as the success of the affair was concerned, and Saturday evening the place was crowded. Alex. Michaud won the far coat in the gentlemen's contest and immediately presented it to Father Corbett. Miss Maggie Cole won the organ, Miss Mamie Thayer got the doll and Master Roy O'Keefe the violin. The receipts of the fair were about $100.

Oliver Wendell Holmes.
 The congregation at the Unitarian church was edited by an extremely interesting discourse delivered by Rev. F. C. Southworth. The reverend gentleman talked of the life and work of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes. He classed Dr. Holmes in the list of famous men who were foremost in the fight for human liberty and progress, and cited as a coincidence the names of Holmes, Darwin, Gladstone, Mendelssohn, Lincoln and Tennyson were all born in the same year, 1809. He said Dr. Holmes believed in a humane gospel, one which dealt gently with the human affections and did not seek to put down every loving emotion of the heart. He looked and longed for and believed in a gospel of love and faith, not one of fear and trembling.

Mostly Axiomatic.
 To the Editor of The Herald:

The word value, as used in political economy, is a relative term, elevated to the phrase exchangeable value and in this communication I shall use it in that sense. The law of supply and demand affecting value is of universal application. It applies to money metals as well as other metals. Wherever metallic money is used as ultimate money of redemption, the value of a unit of money as measured by the price of purchasable things, will depend upon the supply of money metals and the demand for them.

It is an important attribute of sovereignty to determine and declare what shall be clothed with the money function, and if it be metals, what metals and at what ratio they shall be coined. If the supply of money metals increases faster than the demand, there will be a decrease in the value and purchasing power of money and an increase in the value of commodities as measured in money. Precisely the opposite will result from the supply of money metals not keeping up with the demand for them.

Two metals are available as money metals and the money quality of one of them is destroyed by legislation—the demand remaining the same—to the extent that the supply of money metals is diminished, the value of the remaining money metal will be increased, or what is saying the same thing in a different form, the value of labor and commodities as measured by money will be diminished.

In 1873 there was a little more in value of silver in the world's stock, than gold. The United States then adopted substantially the English gold monometallic monetary system, by depriving silver of monetary functions which it had possessed during practically the whole history of the world. Since then the leading nations of Europe have followed the lead of the United States, by depriving silver of its most important function, that of a medium of exchange. As a result of this there has been a steady increase in the value of gold, amounting according to the most conservative estimate, to 50 per cent.

Inevitable results of such an increase in the value of money have been, first, a transfer of a vast amount of wealth from debtors to creditors; from debtor communities to creditor communities, from debtor nations to creditor nations.

Under a system like ours, as administered by the executive department of the government, the value of the dollar of currency, whether silver or paper, is convertible into gold coin, all values are measured in gold coin, though not a dollar in the world is made of gold.

One who loans money is entitled to be paid in money of the same value, the same purchasing power, as the money he loans. If the value of the money he is to be repaid in is less than the value of the money he is to be repaid in, he is to that extent wronged; if of greater value, the debtor is to that extent wronged, and if the debtor is compelled to pay in money of greater value than what is saying the same thing in another form, in money that it takes more labor to produce, the debtor is to that extent wronged.

England is a great debtor nation, the United States a great creditor nation. And when she consented to adopt the English gold monometallic monetary system, she voluntarily consented to the legalized robbery of her citizens, to the extent that it takes more of her labor or commodities to pay their debts, than it would have taken had she maintained silver as a full money metal within her jurisdiction. The fruits of this robbery goes not to the mass of the English people, but to the non-producing, non-labor employing, dross of society.

Duluth, like all young, ambitious, enterprising cities, is most emphatically a debtor community and each of us must pay our due proportion of the aggregate indebtedness, whether we owe individual debts or not. As to public debts this is patent, but it is equally true of many other debts. Who but the parsons of railway companies, street car companies, water companies and so on, are to pay interest on their debts and finally their debts? To a certain extent we are thriving as other cities are not, but it is because of our marvelous natural advantages; but for them we should be where some of our young sister Western cities are, in a comatose condition.

The greatest danger now threatening the perpetuity of the Republic we all love so much and for which some of us risk our lives on bloody battle fields, comes from the rapidly increasing congestion of wealth in the hands of a few and nothing has facilitated this more than our monetary legislation for the last twenty years. I can be witness of the hardships of the present, and I can be witness of the hardships of the past, brought upon us by unwise and wicked monetary legislation, with more complacency than I contemplate the final outcome to this thing, if we do not have, dictated our monetary legislation for the last twenty years and more, shall continue to dictate it in future.

No attempt will be made to maintain a winter line of steamers between Chicago and St. Joseph, but the business of the winter line between Milwaukee and St. Joseph will be pushed.

The Lake Superior line has contracted to carry 25,000 barrels of flour before the end of the season from Duluth to Benton Harbor. The flour from there will be sent South over the Big Four railroad and, after Lake Superior navigation closes the stream of traffic will be directed through Milwaukee. A large warehouse has been constructed by the Big Four which has purchased all the land on the north side of the St. Joseph river between Benton Harbor and the Hotel St. Joseph. It is stated that a number of slips will be constructed upon this tract before the opening of navigation next spring.

SEVEN ARE DEAD

Tenement House Fire in New York This Morning Resulted in Seven People Being Suffocated.

One Woman Jumped from the Third Story Window and Will Die from Her Injuries.

The Whole Building Was in Flames Before
Any of the Inmates Noticed the Fire.

Twenty People Descended by the Fire Escapes in the Midst of Flame
and Smoke.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Seven people were smothered to death by smoke in a tenement house fire at 215 West Thirty-second street this morning. Another woman jumped from a third story window and will die. The fire came suddenly and cut off all escape by the stairways. In the excitement everybody looked only to his or her own safety, and rushed down the fire escape. The following perished in the building: George Friedman, 1 year; Levy Friedman, 3 years; Annie Appleblatt, 22 years; Lena Mitchell, 21 years; Mrs. Margaret Killian, 70 years; Jacob Killian, her son, 40 years; George Levy, Mrs. Killian's grandson, 20 years.

Lena Friedman, mother of the dead children, jumped from the third story window. She was badly crushed and mangled and will die. The house is a five-story brick tenement, the ground floor being occupied by a grocery and the upper stories being arranged with front and rear apartments. There were seven families in the house. The only means of exit for the people was by means of a narrow, dark, and which runs directly up through the center of the building. On either side of the tenement are houses which tower a story above the house which was burned. In the rear of the burned house is a little yard 20 feet square, completely hemmed in by the tall tenements.

The fire was discovered at 3 o'clock by passers-by. When a policeman came up the door of the tenement was opened, and on the inside the fire glowed like a torch. He could see that the stairway was being rapidly burned away. Still there was not a sign of life from the people in the house. To enter the house meant death. The only hope for those within was in arousing them by shouts, in which the policeman was aided by those who had been attracted by the fire. Suddenly to the noise of the flames as they burned away the stairway, there was added an awful cry. One of the tenants in the upper part of the house, who lived alone on that floor. In another minute there was a wind in the front of the house that did not contain the wild and frightened face of a man, woman or child, each of them appealing for aid. The faces in the windows were framed in smoke, which poured forth in volumes.

In the absence of the firemen who had not yet arrived, the spectators were powerless to assist those in the building, further than to remind them of the fire escapes. By these first one or two others of the tenants to the number of twenty reached the ground, descending in the midst of flame and smoke, before the ladder trucks arrived. The flames which started in the cellar, did scarcely any damage to the ground or second floors, but on the third story they spread over the entire rear portion. There lived the family of Nathan Friedman, his wife Lena and his three young children. There were also two boarders, Annie Appleblatt, 22, and Lena Mitchell, 21.

Nathan Friedman was first aroused by the smoke and noise. He was in his bed, his wife and baby slept, and already filled with smoke. Clutching the baby in his arms, and forgetting all else, he sprang to the window and descended by the fire escape. Mrs. Friedman too had rushed to a window, but not where the fire was located. The escape was but 2 feet from her. Behind her were the flames, 25 feet below her was the yard. She leaped from the window and fell into the rear basement area and was badly injured. She was conscious, however, and cried wildly for her children who were in the burning rooms.

The fire was extinguished soon after the house had been turned on, and although the work of rescue was prosecuted with zeal from the minute the firemen arrived on the scene, they were too late. The Friedman children and the two boarders slept in an inner apartment, but the smoke had filled the room and at the least three of the occupants had suffocated without having awakened to their peril.

George and Levy Friedman and Lena Mitchell were still in bed when found, and the peaceful expression of their faces showed that they had received no knowledge of the death that came to them so suddenly. Annie Appleblatt was lying dead on the floor. Her face was black. She had her dress and shoes on. Evidently she had been aroused and had stopped to don her clothing, and had died before finishing her task.

On the fourth floor also in the rear were found the remaining victims of the fire. There Mrs. Killian, a widow aged 70 years, lived with her son, Jacob, and George Levy, her grandson. Mrs. Killian and her son were dead in bed. The grandson was on the floor, half way to the rear window. Mrs. Friedman was taken to the hospital. It was thought she could live but a short time. The damage to the house will not exceed $2000.

EX-PREMIER MERCIER DEAD.

A Prominent French-Canadian Leader Died at Montreal Today.

MONTREAL, Oct. 30.—Ex-Premier Mercier died at 9:10 this morning. The family of the ex-premier came to Canada from France. His father, J. B. E. Mercier, was a farmer at St. Athanasie. Here Honore was born Oct. 15, 1840. He was educated at the Jesuit college of St. Mary's at Montreal and was called to the bar of Quebec in 1867. From 1862 to '64 he was editor of Le Courrier de St. Hyacinthe, a strong Conservative sheet. In 1864 when confederation was first discussed he condemned the project and left the editorial chair of the Courrier. From that moment he was ranked with the Liberal party, and as such was elected to the Dominion house of commons for Rouville in 1872. In 1874 he resigned his seat in the commons. Four years later he contested St. Hyacinthe as a Liberal candidate for the Quebec legislature. He was elected and subsequently called to the ministry as solicitor general in the Joly administration. The Joly government fell soon after, whereupon Mr. Mercier succeeded Mr. Joly as the leader of the local Liberal party. In 1886 there was a revulsion of feeling among the French Canadians due to the Northwest troubles which had resulted in the execution of Louis Riel, and on this cry Mercier succeeded in carrying the province in the elections of 1887, upon which he was commissioned to form a ministry.

He remained in office holding the portfolio of attorney general until December, 1891, when he was dismissed by the lieutenant governor of the province as a result of an investigation by a royal commission on what became known as the Bate des Chateaux scandal. In the ensuing elections his party was annihilated, and although he himself was returned for the county of Bonaventure, since that moment he ceased to be a factor in Canadian politics.

Mrs. Byers' attorney said today that suit will be brought in Pittsburgh for about $250,000 against Ebenezer's brother, A. M. Byers, for the recovery of the former's property. Action for damages, Mr. Aldrich said, will also be brought against Dr. Tallman, the Chicago physician, who, Mrs. Byers claimed, aided in keeping her husband from her.

LAVIGNE WAS THE WINNER.

The Lavigne-Griffin Fight at Coney Island Stopped by Police.

Then came the 60 of the evening, between Kid Lavigne, of Saginaw, Mich., and Johnnie Griffin, of Braintree, Mass., at 125 pounds, fifteen rounds. ## A HOSTLER'S FORTUNE.

John West, Who Was Working in a Stable at Ridgewood, N. J., Has Received a Fortune.

He Is Going to Stay in Ridgewood and Invest His Money in Real Estate.

The "Four Hundred" Shocked at the Idea of Receiving a Former Hostler in Society.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The people of the pretty town of Ridgewood, N. J., for the past two months have been having a better time gossiping than they have had for the better part of a decade and all on account of a young Englishman named John West, who after being hostler at the Herbert house for two years, announced that he had fallen heir to $125,000 and that he was going to stay in Ridgewood and invest it in real estate.

The "400" of the place felt themselves in a pretty state when this announcement was made. "What were they to do? Could they receive with open arms a youth who for two years had cleaned horses at the inn? Yet the fact remained that he had $125,000 in cash and apparently to prove that he had, he proceeded to buy a $150,000 house, and let a contract for a $15,000 house to be built on one of the most fashionable streets. But to counteract that again, it was rumored that he was engaged to one of the waitresses of the hotel and was going to marry her.

Mr. West was found at the Herbert house where he was writing for his coachman to bring around a new horse he had bought and which he was going to try. "I don't know what all this fuss is about," he said to the reporter. "There is not anything wonderful about my getting $125,000 for I have always known that I was to get it, you know, and I am going to have more when my father dies. I did not have to work as a hostler, you know."

"What made you leave England and become one?"

"Well, my father David West is a rich man who lives in Newmarket, England. He is a retired captain of the British navy. I had a chum named Arthur Donnelly, son of Sir Peter Donnelly, an Irish baronet. Well, one day we had a little quarrel and he fell giving me, and said that I could not earn my own living. That made me hot and I wagered him $100 that I could earn my own living, and he took me up. You know people look at things differently in the old country from what they do here, so, without letting my people know, I sailed on the Campania on her second trip and landed in New York, June 1st, with $350 in my pocket. I had a friend there and through him came to Ridgewood and went to work for Mr. Estis, the well-digger. After working a month and through him I was not strong enough and so I came to work for Mr. Herbert as hostler. You know, I added, I was considered the best amateur rider in Newmarket."

"My father wrote to me to go home, though he did not know what kind of work I was doing, but I knew what a guying I would get, and I liked the country and stayed, for I knew it would be only a short time before I'd get this money."

OPERATED IN GREEN GOODS.

A Woman Arrested, But Claims She Is Entirely Innocent.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—A stylishly dressed, intelligent looking young woman, about 27 years old, was arraigned in the Yorkville police court, charged with operating in green goods and using the mails for that purpose.

No evidence was taken before the police court, Justice Meade committing the woman directly into the custody of United States Commissioner Shields. There was an evident purpose to keep the particulars of the case quiet, and the defendant was hurried off with all possible haste.

The prisoner's name, as it appears on the records of the Yorkville court, is Annie Leslie, of No. 2267 Seventh avenue. It was learned that Capt. Gallagher, some time ago, received a letter from a man in Illinois enclosing a green goods circular of the regulation character. This circular requested that correspondence should be addressed to 290 Third avenue, New York.

Capt. Gallagher found that 290 Third avenue is a coal and wood office at which letter boxes are rented. A policeman watched the place, and when Miss Leslie called for her mail, he arrested her. She declared emphatically that she had never known what the letters were and that she was simply acting for a man who employed her.

She then went on to explain that about three months ago she answered an advertisement in a morning newspaper and engaged to work for a man named Snow, addressing envelopes. He would meet her at the coal office or other points and give her a lot of plain envelopes and a list of addresses; she would transfer the addresses to the envelopes and return them to him.

Mr. Snow asked her if she would get his evening mail and she agreed to do so. She stated that knowledge of her employer's home address or where he could be found, and the police, while convinced that the couple were acting in concert, were unable to apprehend the man.

GREAT GREETING TO HILL.

Leading Cleveland Men at Albany Unite in a Great Demonstration.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 30.—A mass meeting, the proportions of which have never been paralleled in Albany was the result last night of the fusion of the two branches of the Democracy to tender a greeting to Senator Hill, who is now a resident of this city. At least 4000 people thronged the great hall, and many more listened to speakers who were on the outside and unable to gain admission.

A notable feature of the affair was the presence on the stage as a co-speaker with Senator Hill, of Congressman Charles Tracy, who is looked upon as a personal representative of the Cleveland. At least 1500 men took part in the escort of Senator Hill to the hall, among whom was a body of Grand Army veterans and two labor organizations. In the boxes at the hall were such Cleveland adherents as Judge Herrick, Collector of the Port John Masterson and Gen. Franz Worth.

The Democratic platform that escorted Cleveland to Washington when he was inaugurated, were applauded to the echo when they entered the hall. Amos Parker took the gavel and presided over the meeting. When Senator Hill was introduced he was received with a storm of applause.

DIED IN AN ALMSHOUSE.

A Former Millionaire of California Who Spent His Money Rapidly.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—A. J. Holmes, twenty-three years ago one of San Francisco's millionaires, died recently at the San Francisco almshouse and narrowly escaped burial in the potter's field. Holmes was the original owner of the North Bell and Holmes mines, near Gardnerville, Emerald county, Nevada, and for several years was one of the leading social and financial lights of San Francisco. He spent his money with a lavish hand, and it soon went from him.

After his money was gone he haunted the vicinity of the stock exchange, and one day recently was found unconscious on the street near his former sumptuous office. He was taken to the almshouse, where he died.

JACK SKELLY STABBED.

The Lightweight Pugilist Liable to Die From Blood Poisoning.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Jack Skelly, the lightweight pugilist, is at his home in Williamsburg with several stab wounds in the back of his neck inflicted with a light weight pugilist, who used to be instructor at the Brooklyn Athletic club, and George Maloney who occasionally appeared in Williamsburg as a boxer.

Skelly was stabbed on Oct. 18. He did not intend to say anything about the matter, but his physician, Dr. Francis M. Burke, fearing that Skelly might die from blood poisoning, notified the police and warrants were issued for the arrest of Creed and Maloney. Maloney was arrested at his home in North First street, Williamsburg, but Creed could not be found.

Skelly went to Newton, L. I., to see a finish fight. Creed and Maloney attended the fight. They all returned together to James Brown's saloon, corner of Bedford avenue and Grand street, Brooklyn, and after drinking freely Creed declared that he could whip any 120-pound man in the world.

That led to a quarrel, which was subsequently renewed outside of Frederick Birk's restaurant, No. 102 Grand street, and there they engaged in a rough and tumble fight. Creed went down with Skelly on top of him, and he now says that while they were down Maloney kicked him, and both Creed and Maloney jabbed him in the back of the neck with forks which they had taken from the free lunch counter in Brown's place.

Maloney was arraigned before Justice Walsh in the Adams street police court and was held for examination on Friday next. He denied that he used a fork while fighting with Skelly.

RATES ARE BEING SLASHED.

Lively War in Passenger Rates by the Tennessee Roads.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 30.—The railroads composing the Memphis Passenger association are cutting rates in a style that brings joy to the public and grief to the stockholders. Tickets from Memphis to St. Louis and Chicago took another downward shoot today and the drop puts the tickets on the market at $6 to St. Louis and $13.50 to Chicago.

The cause of the war between the Chesapeake, Ohio & Southwestern and the Iron Mountain roads, into which the Tennessee Midland and the Louisville & Nashville have been drawn, was given in the Associated Press dispatches Saturday. Each of the principals in the fight claims the other to be wrong. Both are going to make a fight into the last ditch and die with tickets from Memphis to St. Louis at 50 cents as a winding sheet.

General Passenger Agent Lynch, of the Chesapeake, Ohio & Southwestern, is in the city today and those who know say the war is on to such an extent that it will have to be settled by even higher officials than the general passenger agents. The general managers of the roads will take a hand before the matter stops.

MUST KEEP THE CONTRACT.

A Democratic Paper Leased Editorial Space to the Republicans.

OMAHA, Oct. 30.—In the district court today the Daily World-Herald, Democratic organ, was enjoined from abrogating a contract made several days ago by which the Republican state central committee leased for the remainder of the campaign two columns on its editorial page over which it was to have complete control. A line appeared over the space indicating that it had been sold to the Republicans.

It created a panic in Democratic circles when it was known, and many party protests were filed with the effect. Today the paper declared that the contract was broken because the Republicans could not confine themselves to the paper though proper campaign matter, but insisted on abusing the opposition. The court granted a temporary injunction and set the case for hearing Wednesday.

CHARGE OF SEDITION.

Editor Talley of a Populist Newspaper at Ripley, Tenn., Has Been Arrested for Sedition.

He Published an Article Protesting Against Election Frauds and He Used Very Fiery Language.

Some Time Ago He Was Convicted of Libel and Compelled to Pay $1000 Damages.

RIPLY, Tenn., Oct. 30.—E. F. Talley, editor of the People's Advocate, a Populist newspaper issued at this place, was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of sedition growing out of the publication of an article in the last issue of that paper. The article in question is as follows:

"After considering the matter, it has been determined to hold a mass meeting which all honest people are invited to attend, in the court house next Saturday, Nov. 3, at 1 p. m. The object of this meeting is to give expression to the determination now formed in the minds and hearts of the people to die rather than submit to anything but a fair election on Tuesday, Nov. 6. That they have all come to this conclusion, it does not require much time or conversation to demonstrate.

"To submit to such glaring frauds as were practiced in the August election is to surrender all manhood and patriotism, and this the honest people of old Lauderdale are not yet ready to do, and before they will do it they will soak the sod with their blood. Every honest man who desires a fair and honest election is earnestly urged to take this avocation and come on that day and show that he is at least on the side of justice and right. Come everybody."

Editor Talley was arraigned before a magistrate, waived a preliminary examination and was admitted to bail under a $500 bond. The law under which he was arrested is a section in the revised statutes prohibiting the calling of meetings or mobs together for the purpose of inciting a riot. Talley has frequently been in trouble on account of his fiery utterances and was recently found guilty of libel and compelled to pay $1000 damages.

west on the lakes. For Minnesota: Fair, to-

For County Commissioner.
The interests of the people demand that first-class business men should be elected as county commissioners. As a rule, St. Louis county has been fortunate in past years in selecting good men for members of the county board, and it is highly desirable that this practice should be continued. The county commissioners exercise considerable authority and there are many questions coming before them that require careful consideration and good sound judgment, based upon business experience.

A commissioner is to be elected next week in the Second district, which comprises the eastern portion of the city of Duluth. There are three candidates in the field—T. B. Hawkes, who was nominated by the Democrats; T. H. Dinham, who secured the Republican nomination,
and Camille Poirier, the present commissioner, who is an independent candidate. The question of political beliefs
date, the question of political beliefs
should not enter into the election of county commissioners. At least this is the opinion of The Herald, and it believes it is a correct idea. The Republican candidate, Mr. Dinham, does not possess the proper qualifications for the office of commissioner, and he will not receive the full party vote. Mr. Poirier, being an independent candidate, is at a disadvantage in the present contest.
On the other hand, Mr. Hawkes will be supported by all the Democrats in the district, and if a fair number of Republicans give him their votes he will certainly be elected.

The Herald believes that the Republicans of the Second district should not look at this matter from a partisan standpoint. No political advantage would be gained by electing the Republican candidate, while the interests of the county would be largely advanced by sending to the board a man of Mr. Hawkes' excellent qualifications.
He is a young and active business man
of acknowledged ability and experience,
and the board of county commissioners
would be strengthened by his presence.
The Herald trusts and believes that Mr.
Hawkes will receive very general support, regardless of political affiliations,
and that he will be elected.

Absurd Populist Claims.
The Penny Press of Minneapolis yesterday figured out the election of S. M.
Owen, whom it is supporting for governor. It claims to have made a careful estimate of the prospective vote of the various counties. The aggregate vote is placed at 252,788, against 255,222 in 1892
and 240,493 in 1890. Gen. Becker's vote is left at the claim of his committee at 51,000. Owen's vote is figured to be
97,665, while Nelson's is placed at 92,613.
This would give Owen a plurality of 5312.

An analysis of the claims made for Owen by the Penny Press shows that they rest upon a very slim foundation.
In order to figure out a plurality for him,
the Minneapolis paper claims that he will carry the following counties:
Becker, Beltrami, Benton, Big Stone,
Brown, Carlton, Cass, Cook, Crow Wing,
Dakota, Hennepin, Hubbard, Itasca,
Jackson, Kittson, Le Sueur, Lincoln,
Lyon, Morrison, McLeod, Marshall, Meeker, Murray, Nicollet, Norman, Otter Tail, Pipestone, Polk, Ramsey, Renville, Scott, Sibley, Stearns, Swift, Todd, Traverse, Wadena, Wilkin. This is certainly a wild claim that cannot be any possibility be sustained. The idea of Owen carrying such staunch Republican counties as Carlton, Hennepin, Crow Wing, Todd and Wadena is absurd. It is equally absurd to suppose that he can carry Ramsey county or that he will have a plurality in certain Democratic counties like Stearns and Morrison.

The estimate of the vote of St. Louis county is equally amusing. Here is the Populist claim: Nelson, 3300; Owen,

2050; Becker, 2000; total vote for St.
Louis county $350. The vote of this county will exceed the above estimate
by at least 4000 and this additional vote
will be cast in favor of Governor Nelson.
This vote alone would practically wipe out the total plurality in the state claimed by the Penny Press for Owen. Admitting that the Populist claims in regard to all the other counties are correct, St.
Louis county will cast the deciding vote
and re-elect Nelson.

Commendable Promptitude.
The common council showed a commendable desire last night to promptly
register the verdict of the people expressed at the special election and to hasten the proceedings for the acquisition of the gas and water company's plant and for the extension of its water system without delay. One of the strongest reasons which impelled many people to vote for the purchase of the company's plant was that its acquisition by the city would hasten the time when the water service could be extended to the portions of the city that need it badly.

It was also the idea that these extensions, as well as the removal of the incinerator, would furnish employment during the coming winter to hundreds of laboring men who have been looking forward to the cold season with some degree of anxiety. If the policy of obstruction be not continued, plenty of work for the idle men will be provided throughout the winter, and the laboring men and their families, as well as the merchants who will supply them with food, fuel and clothing will be greatly benefited.

Money Not in Use.
It is one of the stock arguments in favor of the free and unlimited coinage
of silver that there is not enough money
in the country for the proper transaction of business and therefore that the amount of the circulating medium should be increased. It is a fallacious argument, however, being based upon a false premise. There is plenty of money in the country, and the fact that there is not so much in circulation as there is during seasons of greater prosperity is not due to any scarcity of money. The truth is that the banks and other places of deposit are overflowing with money. There is a plethora of cash in the treasuries of all these institutions.

Take the New York banks. They have loaded up with money. They have more than they want, and each week their reserves show a large increase, until now
the excess above the required limit is over $60,000,000. The Indicator, of New York, says that week before last the banks, instead of lending 75 per cent of their increased deposits, loaned less than 10 per cent, the other 50 per cent
going to add more to the idle surplus that has been piling up for more than a year. The Indicator calls this enormous surplus an "obstacle to prosperity," but the fact is that it is not an obstacle to prosperity, nor the cause of business inactivity, but the result. When confidence has been restored, this idle money will go into circulation again. But the presence of so much idle money dis-proves the Populist claim that what the country needs is more money.

Jacob R. Shipperd, once famous in the days of the Laueau claims, when Mr.
Blaine was secretary of state, way back
(as it seems now) in the Garfield administration, has been brought out of obscurity
by the action of the trustees of the Union Congregational church of Richmond Hill, L. I., who have passed a resolution forbidding him to attend worship
there, his conduct having exposed him to their censure.

Ex-Premier Honore Mercier, of Quebec, died at Montreal this morning after a lengthy illness. He was one of the most noted politicians in the province of Quebec and was the provincial premier for a number of years. His ministry was ousted from office as the result of disclosures of gross corruption. Several years ago he was created a count by Pope Leo.

There is a suspicion that Mr. Hill is not very anxious to establish harmony between the warring Democratic factions in New York city. The fact that his name is on both the city tickets makes the fight beneficial to him. The more they fight

It needs to be remembered that in spite of the so-called "neutralization" of Switzerland, this little country has, according to the latest returns, an "effective" militia of 488,546 men, of whom 121,933 may be considered to be regular troops. Belgium, also "neutralized," is similarly militarily with Switzerland.

Baldwin Will Be Third.
Wadena Journal: The indications now are that Mr. Baldwin will be third in the congressional race. Many Dem-

A POPULAR SINGER.

M. Pol Plancon, Who Is Said to Be the Handsome Actor Living.

If a vote were to be taken to determine who is the handsomest man on the stage
today, the ballots of the fair sex of New York city would be cast almost as a unit for M. Pol Plancon, the popular singer of Albany and Grand Metropolitan Opera company. M. Plancon is said to receive $600 a week in exchange for the temporary exercise of his voice and his histrionic abilities.

Plancon is very modest and when asked recently in New York to say something about his professional career he said that he had sung in the grand opera in Paris
for ten years, during which time he had created there the character of Truifant
in "Robert le Diable."

"I sang Mephisto 100 times, singing it with every prima donna who appeared at the grand opera during those ten years,
from Cressida to Mollie. It is my favorite role, and the Cardinal in 'La Juive.'"
I created there the character of Truifant in "Saint-Saens' 'Aseleto' and two other characters.

He has sung for three seasons in Covent Garden, London, and am re-engaged for this next season there. In America I

IT ACTED PROMPTLY.

Vote Canvassed and the Council Declares Propositions One, Three and Ten to Have Been Carried.

John Cline, a Contractor, Offers to Duplicate the Gas and Water Plants for $1,650,000.

Ald. Harwood Becomes Angered Over Some Recommendations Made by Chief Black of the Fire Department.

The council meeting last night had a sort of a certain rattle in the shape of a rather vigorous skirmish by W. J. Holmes, F. C. Bennett, M. O. Hall, H. H. Phelps and others, who were seen hustling about the chamber and handing a mysterious looking piece of paper from one to the other, and every once in a while somebody would sign a name and Bennett would, as secretary public, take an acknowledgment. It did not seem to bother them whether they were inside or outside of the chamber, but the fact that some financial aid became apparent when, after the council meeting was called and the proceedings were all over, the city clerk read a proposition from John Cline, who offered to duplicate the present water plant for $1,650,000 and the present gas plant for $250,000 additional, and to have both in complete and running order in every part of the city by Nov. 1, 1896. The document was acknowledged before F. C. Bennett, and W. J. Holmes appeared as surety on it for $50,000. T. C. Hinchbaugh for $50,000 and H. H. Phelps for $50,000. The proposition was referred to the finance committee.

The various city banks sent in their requests to be appointed depositories of city funds, offering to pay 3 per cent. on daily balances until May 1, when they trusted the charter would be revised so as to make the rate asked 2 per cent. On motion the following banks were designated as depositories and required to furnish bonds of $50,000 each: Marine National, First National, National Bank of Commerce, American Exchange and Security. An effort was made to include the State bank in the list, but Alderman Lerch, who made the motion, withdrew at the request of M. O. Hall, who was present inside the council hall in conversation with City Attorney Morris.

The city band sent in a petition to the council asking that the charter be extended to the band, which needed an appropriation of $545 for the purchase of new instruments and music and the payment of room rent. Referred.

The Lakeside Street Railway company and a number of residents of Lakeside petitioned the council to allow the removal of the line of road to Jefferson street on account of the easier grades and the oncoming of street car traffic. The present route which would interfere with the service. The petition was referred.

Alderman Harwood's Eloquence.
About this time Alderman Harwood was seen twisting about, uneasily in his chair, and as soon as a resolution was introduced endorsing the recommendations of Chief Engineer Lathrop, he rose to his feet and after Alderman Trevill spoke against the proposed resolution he sprang up, and with a flourish of his arms said:

"Mr. Chairman: Who's this 'ere Black anyway? We don't know anything about him. The first thing 'e does is to cut salaries, an' I'm against it for all time. We're 'ere to know what 'e's doin' of. We're a nonentity. We're an automaton. We touch the button an' it shall come. After this burst of stilted eloquence the council was temporarily paralyzed and the resolution of approval was lost by a vote of 8 to 7. It was later reconsidered and carried by a vote of 11 to 2, after an address by Alderman Evans, who said: "The state of our fire department for the last three years has been the subject of much unfavorable comment, and now that an opportunity presents itself to improve the efficiency of that most important branch of public service, I'm heartily in favor of doing so. This council is pledged to economy; the police force has already been cut in salaries and the firemen should stand a little of the same medicine. The new chief comes with a good record and the confidence of every good headed thinker and I don't believe in attempting to put any stumbling block in his way, particularly at the very outset of his career. Let us give him a fair chance, six months or more and see what he can accomplish. Don't tie his hands at the start. Give him a chance and our united support and then, if he fails, why we can apply the remedy." Alderman Hale and Patterson spoke in about the same strain.

Canvassing the Vote.
The canvass of the election returns was proceeded with, Clerk Richardson reading them off in twenty-two minutes and the tellers verifying them by careful revision in about fifteen minutes more. The official count showed the following totals:

First proposition—3215 votes for, and 951 against. Majority for, 2264.
Second proposition—1478 votes for, and 2054 against. Majority against 576.
Third proposition—2071 votes for, and 1876 against. Majority for, 197.
Fourth proposition—568 votes for, and 2612 against. Majority against, 2044.
Fifth proposition—151 votes for, and 2553 against. Majority against, 1041.
Sixth proposition—317 votes for, and 2873 against. Majority against, 2556.
Seventh proposition—338 votes for, and 2704 against. Majority against, 2404.
Eighth proposition—381 votes for, and 2733 against. Majority against, 2352.
Ninth proposition—328 votes for, and 2866 against. Majority against, 2538.
Tenth proposition—2235 votes for, and 1806 against. Majority for, 429.
Total number of votes cast, 1414.
The council then declared propositions 1, 3, and 10 carried and the others lost.

Alderman Hale introduced an ordinance authorizing the council to issue $500,000 in 4 per cent bonds, to run twenty years, of $1000 each, the principal and interest to be paid in gold at the American Exchange bank in New York, and that proposals for the purchase of the said extension bonds be advertised in The Evening Herald, The St. Paul Globe, The Financial News and a couple of other Eastern papers. The bonds are to be paid over to the purchasers in two installments—$250,000 in thirty days after purchase and $250,000 on Jan. 15, 1895. The ordinance took its first reading and was referred.

Street Peddlers' Ordinance.
Alderman Patterson next introduced two ordinances, which were referred. One was to prohibit street peddlers from remaining at any one place on Superior street while disposing of their wares. The second was to prohibit street peddlers from remaining at any one place on Superior street while disposing of their wares. The ordinance took its first reading and was referred.

Alderman Mitchell introduced an amendment to the ordinance governing the erection of telegraph, telephone and electric light poles, which was read and referred.

Alderman Cox was credited with being the father of the next ordinance, but he did not know anything about it and his name must have got on it by mistake. However, as the ordinance was urgently needed and was one of justice toward resident merchants he was willing and anxious to be considered its parent and he was thankful to the council for placing his name at the head. The ordinance related to dealers in bank stocks, fire sales, water sales, etc., and was intended to prevent the sale of such goods for a short time and do considerable harm to established houses by underselling them and furnishing cheap and undesirable goods to their unsophisticated patrons. The ordinance provided for a license fee of $500 per day, $500 for six months or $500 per year. It was read and referred.

Alderman French introduced a resolution supplanting the recent tax levy by the levy for the different funds as follows: General fund, $150,477; fire department, $110,585; bonded interest, $75,737; sinking fund, $10,931; library fund, $1,959.

There was the usual gist of estimates, communications from the board of public works, sidewalk, gutter and gradations, etc., and the council adjourned.

Aladdin, Jr.
"Aladdin, Jr.," each the Lyceum last evening in spite of the disgusting weather. Once inside the theater, however, everything disagreeable was forgotten, for it was a perfect fairyland that was unfolded. The word gorgeous does not convey to the mind the magnificent splendor of the production; it is bewildering, fascinating, a picture almost beyond the reach of the most fertile imagination. It unquestionably surpasses any other spectacle on the American stage.

Like all extravaganzas "Aladdin, Jr." contains but a semblance of plot, just enough to introduce the wonderful scenery and effects. The opening scene is at the exterior of the royal baths at Pekin, where the feast of lanterns is in progress and it is full of various beauties, and it is all of the same kind. Aladdin is approached by his uncle and told the story of the lamp. The two of them together for the cave where it is hidden.

Act second opens at Echo dell, a beautiful mountain scene. It is night and the moon shines brightly upon the cascade which flows merrily down among the rocks. This gives a delightfully pleasing effect. Aladdin and his uncle enter and enter the cave. He finds the lamp, learns its power and determines to see something of the world. The under world he returns home. The slave of the lamp opens before him the golden gate. The golden gate is the grandest scene of all. Words cannot picture it. A cascade of bubbling water ripples down over the rocks under beautiful bridges; trees of the most beautiful colors overhang, and through them there prevails an amber color that is most pleasing. Then comes the grand amber ballet and the beautiful costumes give the scene an exquisite effect. But the greatest beauty of all this dazzling world of color lies in its complete harmony.

The third act opens the interior of the Widow Beld's laundry. Aladdin returns and astonishes all with his newly acquired wealth. The scene is next transferred to the gardens of the royal palace, another beautiful picture. The lamp is stolen and Aladdin's sweet heart is taken. They are taken to the palace of ebony and gold, the fifth act scene. Aladdin recovers the lamp and all ends happily.

Great Northern Engine and Three Cars Ran Through the Draw About One O'Clock This Morning.

Engineer and Train Men Jumped from the Train and Came Out of It Uninjured.

Railroad Company Claims the Engineer Was at Fault in Not Stopping Beyond the Draw.

A little before 1 o'clock this morning a Great Northern switch engine and three freight cars plunged through an open draw on the Northern Pacific bridge into the bay. The train was going from Duluth to Superior and the draw had been opened to allow the passage of a ship.

The train broke and one car was left hanging over the draw. It was pulled back in time to escape the fate of the rest of the train. The officials of the roads say that the accident was the fault of the engineer. He is charged with violating a state law as well as a rule governing the manner in which the bridge is conducted, which says that the engineer shall bring his train to a full stop before proceeding over the bridge.

The semaphores lights seem to have been in working order, as they were burning when the Northern Pacific men got to the scene and they could not have been lighted after the accident, as the bridge-tender was on the other side of the open draw. One of the men on the train which went through the draw says that the lights were not burning.

The train was going at a rate of only two miles an hour, so the engineer, after reversing his engine, had time to jump with the fireman and switching crew and make his escape. It was too late when the open draw was discovered, however, to stop the engine, and it went into the waters of the river with the tender and two cars of coal.

The wreck is still in the channel and fills it up so that no boats may pass on that side until it is cleared out. The channel on the other side is open, so navigation will not be entirely obstructed. General Manager Farrington, of the Eastern Minnesota, went over shortly before noon to investigate the accident and determine what may be done. Engineer Doyle was in charge.

It will probably be necessary to raise the train from a scow, and it will be a heavy task. It will be done as soon as possible. Just where the blame lies cannot be determined until the matter has been thoroughly investigated, but at present it looks as though the engineer was responsible. The draw was not harmed at all, and is working as usual.

Never Thought of That.
A business man who is keen in financial affairs made an engagement while spending his vacation to meet a man at another country place 15 or 20 miles away. There was only one train a day, and he missed that one by only a few seconds. It was an important engagement, but that would have made no difference to the business man, for he prides himself on keeping his engagements.

When he found that he had missed his train, he set to work to get a team and rig. This involved a good deal of telegraphing, and the cost he learned would be $60. He determined to keep that engagement, however, whatever the expense, and finally, after the delay of all the telegraphing and waiting for the engine to run up to his station, he got aboard and was taken on his way. He reached the other man three hours later after he had missed the train, but he was feeling rather triumphant over his victory, and he proceeded to explain what he had done.

"You see, I was bound to get here," he added, "and here I am."

"That's so," answered the other, "but look here, why didn't you get a team and rig drive over here? It's a lovely drive. It would have cost you about $4 instead of $60, and, as for time, you could have arrived here earlier."

LAND SELECTED

Governor Nelson Transmitted to Auditor Bierman Deeds to Lands Selected for the Great Northern.

The Attorney General Found the Company Is Entitled to More Lands Than Are Selected.

A Large Elevator at Hager City, with Two Thousand Bushels of Grain, Burned Today.

Joe Sheehy and Joe King to Have a Six-Round Contest at Virginia Tomorrow Night.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 30.—Governor Nelson has transmitted to State Auditor Bierman the deeds to 271,565 acres of swamp land, the amount due the Minneapolis & St. Cloud company, the original road out of which the present Great Northern system has grown. The grant was made under chapter 3, special laws of 1885 and consisted of odd numbered sections in the counties through or into which the road should be constructed, not exceeding four sections per mile, and providing that in case of deficiencies in any of the counties through which the road should run, the company was authorized to select odd numbered sections through or into which the road should pass, lying within odd numbered sections.

In 1885 the law was so amended as to allow the company a grant of swamp lands belonging to or that may hereafter belong to the state of Minnesota not otherwise granted, equal to ten full sections for each mile of said road, provided that this grant shall not affect or prejudice the rights of any railroad company, any asylum, charitable institution or school to lands heretofore granted. It was further provided that whenever ten full sections of the road should be completed the governor should execute to the company a deed for the quota due for that portion of the road.

A decision of the supreme court later affirmed the right of the state to make selections of swamp lands for the railroad companies. At the last session of the legislature a law was passed requiring railroad companies to whom land had been granted to make their selection of lands in a lot of 100 acres, this law that the matter came up for a long time selecting the lands and making the deed to the governor.

The state auditor has been busy for his signature Sept. 26. The governor referred the matter to the attorney general with a request that he be permitted to examine the law and the return him an opinion at an early day. The attorney general finds that the company is entitled to 271,565 acres, which leaves 2000 acres to the company's credit after the deeds have been transmitted.

A THEATRICAL REVIEW

Miss Netherole, the "English Bernhardt," is a Disappointment and Her Play is Quite Poor.

She Could Not Well Have Made Her Debut in America in a Worse Drama.

"Little Christopher Columbus" is a Dull and Commonplace Skit—Some Interesting Observations.

Miss Olga Netherole, the "English Bernhardt," has come. She has been seen, but has not conquered. She has not even intrenched herself firmly under the protection of the American public. She made her debut, as is generally known, at Palmer's theater in A. W. Gatt's drama, "The Transgression." Of the play little need be said. It may be dismissed almost in a word—it is worthless, and with the exception of the much heralded "great scene" at the end of the third act it does not contain an episode which would prompt the average auditor to wait to see what would come next. There is no characterization, no atmosphere—that dear old friend of the dramatic critic—no

"THE TRANSGRESSION"—CLIMAX OF ACT III. Comedy and no moral except, perhaps the outrageous one that a man is justified in committing lightheartedly because his wife has been accidentally rendered insane. The feeble attempt at Oscar Wilde's dialogue would be amusing if they were not so tiresome. The material of "The Transgression" is stretched to unendurable lengths. There is just about enough in it to make a certain ruler, and yet Mr. Gatt's inflated it into a long four act play.

Miss Netherole could not well have made her American debut in a worse drama, but as it is the one which first brought her into comparative prominence in England it is but fair to presume that she is seen at her best in it, and it is therefore from that viewpoint that she must be criticized.

Beauty has nothing to do with acting, or Rachel, Bernhardt, Januschek, Clara Morris and a host of others would never have attained the heights of glory on the stage. But Miss Netherole's pictures give the impression that she is tall, stately and very beautiful. Instead she is rather short, quite awkward and striking but handsomely, either in face or figure. These facts, manifest as they are, naturally put her at a disadvantage with her American audiences, as also did the ill advised heralding of her as a dramatic marvel.

In ordinary conversational tones Miss Netherole's voice is rather pleasing, but in her great emotional scene, when she concludes to stick to her husband even though another living woman married him 20 years before and was never divorced from him, it becomes husky and unpleasant. She gasps horribly to simulate passion and has all the faults of Mrs. Bernhardt with very few of that actress' good points. A thing that appears natural with Duse seems ridiculous when Miss Netherole attempts it. It is the depicting of overwhelming sorrow by a very slow utterance, followed by a long pause and then the gasping out of the last word or two of the speech. In the lighter scenes the young English actress' shortcomings are still more marked. She mistakes skillfulness for vivacity and gurgles and "goes" at an awful rate. All in all, Miss Netherole is excessively crude and amateurish in her methods. She is not in the same class, even in her chosen field, with Minnie Seligman, Julia Arthur, Carrie Turner and several other American leading women. It is true that every now and then there is a gleam of a vague germ of a suggestion of greatness, but it will at least take many years to develop it into an exhibit which a majority of American theater goers will care to pay to see.

According to the weather bureau, New York city has not had a real heavy frost this season, but it is doubtful whether any one could convince Edward E. Rice of that fact. Mr. Rice, who made a very large fortune with "Venus," and lost a fair sized one with "Carmen," had secured the American rights of the great London "success"—all things that come from London appear to be successes until they get here—"Little Christopher Columbus," and when he sent "1492" out on the road his importation was put on at the Garden theater. Its reception there is doubtless responsible for his distorted meteorological opinions.

"Little Christopher Columbus" has some bright moments. They occur when the specialists, which have nothing whatever to do with the skit, are introduced. The plot it would be difficult to discover with the Lick telescope. In fact, such an accessory is not deemed necessary in a "play" of that sort, but the indispensable requisite—that it shall be amusing—is woefully lacking, as its effect upon the auditor is depressing rather than otherwise. Messrs. George R. Sims and Cecil Raleigh openly avow their complicity in the libretto, while Ivan Caryll and Gustave Kerker are equally frank in assuming responsibility for the music. The music, by the way, is really good, especially that of Mr. Caryll, who has contributed many numbers which are certain to become popular because they possess a certain rollicking swinginess. Mr. Kerker has written nothing particularly bright, but it is like all of his music—rather pleasing and characteristic.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the setting which Mr. Rice has given "Little Christopher Columbus." The scenery is very good, the girls are particularly pretty and very numerous, and the costumes are elaborate to a degree, except as to quantity. The music is unobjectionable.

and the business of the choruses during the singing of most of the numbers is original and effective. The cast is an excellent one, although Walton, the Australian comedian, was a distinct disappointment. His humor is of the yuck-stick variety—measured off to suit the purchaser—and besides as a singer he is in the infant class. Miss Helen Bertram, the prima donna, who played the title role, acted and sang charmingly, the simple music enabling her to render what was assigned to her with delightful effect. An amusingly original orchestra under the skillful baton of Gustave Kerker lends to the elaborate tout ensemble, but what "Little Christopher Columbus" seems to need most just now is an augmented audience.

A fact about the present season in New York which has escaped most observers, or at least has not been generally discussed by them, is that, while most of the very early productions were successful, a majority of the later ones have failed miserably. Perhaps the boom with which the season started off turned some managers' heads and influenced them to put on material which ordinarily they would have ridiculed. However, there is likely soon to be another turn in the tide, for some probably excellent things are promised for the next few weeks.

I heard of a manager the other day who was complaining that his attractions are not doing very well on the road this season. He wondered why it was so when business had been so excellent with most of the good companies. Some friend should have told him why he is suffering from a lack of patronage. It is due to the fact that he and many other small managers of his ilk, as well as, it must be admitted, as some of the magnates of the profession, have a way of sending third grade companies on the road, and then dispatching ahead a plausibly prevaricating advance agent, who calmly furnishes the newspapers with paragraphs in every one of which appears the unqualified statement that the play will be "presented with the original cast." Of course it isn't, and the people who have paid their money to see a first class performance are not tortured with one that is less than passable and naturally disgusted, not to say indignant. The next show which is announced as having an "original cast" of course suffers, even though the truth has been told about it. That is one reason why theatrical attractions have not done as well this year on the road as in the large cities. This will be different when advance agents cease to stretch the truth to the bursting limit, but that time, according to the best statisticians, will come on the same day that the world shall come to spin around "on its own axis," as the geographers put it.

Wilson Barrett's old repertory must be pretty well worn out, for he is to present three new plays during his coming American tour. One of them recently presented in England is a dramatization of Hall Caine's particularly interesting story, "The Manxman." The title indicates, it deals with life on the island of Man, just as did "Ben-My-Chree," which was taken from Mr. Caine's "The Deemster." The English papers pronounce "The Manxman" a very great play, but their enthusiasm is usually safe to take with some big pinches of salt, for in many such cases American audiences have failed to endorse the verdict of the transatlantic critics. However, Mr. Barrett considers "The Manxman" the best play in which he has ever appeared, and it is therefore probable that it is possessed of considerable strength.

Another play which he is to produce in New York is said to deal with the life of Edison, the inventor, while a third discusses the social problem in a manner which Mr. Barrett himself declares to be decidedly bold. These three new plays will constitute his repertory during his coming tour in this country.

A lady who has just returned from London, where she met Mrs. Langtry frequently, tells me that the Jersey Lily is handsomer than ever. The famous beauty has not taken on an undue quantity of that arch enemy of the actress, adipose tissue, and the symmetry of the lines and curves which made her world famous a few years ago is said to be more transcending than ever. The Lily will have a repertory of four plays during her tour of this country, including, of course, her old, time-tried emotional safety drama, "As in a Looking Glass." She will open in New York city in a piece which has never been done in this country.

From the most reliable sources comes the news that Ada Rehan's career as a star has opened most auspiciously. Numerous receipts are reported, and her acting has received unbounded praise from the critics, who are now willing to acknowledge that in her line Miss Rehan is without a peer in this country. In fact, no one even dangerously approaches her. Miss Rehan is undoubtedly an incomparable artist who can do high comedy roles in an unsurpassably artistic manner. For that very reason she ought to and doubtless will stick to them. She is, however, no longer suited to the impersonation of giddy schoolgirls and the like. I cannot help recalling the pity which I felt for Miss Rehan when I saw her a couple of years ago in this city at Daly's theater in

WILSON BARRETT IN "THE MANXMAN." "The Manxman" and "A Test Case." Her attempts to be kittenish were painful, and her gurgling and sniping only made more noticeable the prohibition of such conduct which relentless old Dame Nature had put upon her in the form of facial lines and generous physical contour.

Miss Rehan's great success as a star leaves unclouded the much mooted question as to whether it was she or John Drew who was the great attraction of Daly's company. When Mr. Drew branched out for himself, it looked as though the point had been settled in his favor, for he has played to large audiences invariably, but now that Miss Rehan has "gone and done" the same thing it would seem that they were both the great attraction of Daly's company, if the solecism may be permitted.

BLUE AND DISHEARTENED.

And Not Without Very Good Cause.

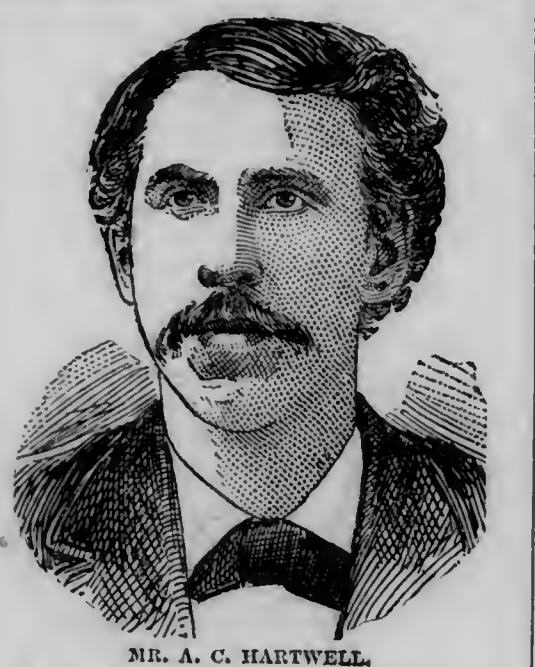

It All Resulted From Weak Kidneys And a Torpid Liver.

The Vast Importance of Those Organs If You Want to Feel Well.

If your stomach, kidneys and liver don't do their work well, you will surely suffer. Inaction, or disease of those organs, clogs the whole system and makes bad blood and weak nerves. The complexion soon becomes pale or sallow, and dark lines appear under the eyes.

Other symptoms are sure to follow, such as bad taste in the mouth, gas in the stomach, loss of appetite, biliousness, constipation, sleeplessness, headache, palpitation, nervousness and exhaustion. Every one of these conditions leads to serious disease if not checked. Mr. A. C. Hartwell, of Gouldsville, Vt., states: "About four years ago I was taken with a severe pain in my back and side, which arose from trouble with my liver and kidneys. I was also extremely nervous, being unable to sleep and get the needed rest."

"I could not work but part of the time, and when I did I was in pain all the time. This state of affairs lasted all winter. I consulted physicians, who said I had kidney and liver trouble, but I derived no particular benefit from them, and was a good deal discouraged about myself."

"I kept hearing about Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, what wonderful cures it had made, and my friends continually advised me to use it. I had tried many medicines with no good results, but finally concluded to try this one."

"I commenced using it, and felt the good results from it immediately. After using the second bottle I was entirely cured of all my troubles, and have had no return of them. I can truly recommend Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy as the best medicine I have ever used. It does all that is said of it."

This remedy is the surest cure ever known. Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

ALL CONFESSED

The Recent Wreck of a Train on the Soo Road Caused By Two Miscreants.

Levitt Hazleton, of Brainerd, One of the Wretches and He Has Confessed Everything.

Wholesale Murder and Express Car Robbery Was the Motive That Inspired the Diabolical Crime.

They Expected Every One Would Be Killed So That They Could Rob Without Resistance.

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 31.—A special to the Wisconsin from Merrill says: Wholesale murder and express robbery was the motive that inspired the recent train wrecking on the "Soo" road. Two men charged with the murder of the men who lost their lives by their work were given a preliminary hearing here today, and were held to trial. One of the prisoners has confessed, and his story details the methods pursued to derail the through Minneapolis-Boston limited near Heaford Junction on the night of Oct. 7. In the crash, Fireman Charles Cottrell was instantly killed and Engineer James Dutch seriously injured.

The plan was to cause a wreck that would kill every person on the train and then rob the safe in the express car, as it was supposed the safe contained a large sum of money. The man who confessed is Levitt Hazleton, about 20 years old, who claims to be a resident of Brainerd, Minn. His companion is Frank Williams, a short thick-set man, who claims to have relatives and friends at Appleton, Wis. Williams stoutly maintains that he knows nothing of the wrecking.

The officers traced these men from Minneapolis to this city. On Sept. 30 they broke into and stole from a safe in an overcoat at the tool house at Prentice. That night they saw a bridge near that place, but owing to the dark time in which they had to do the work it was not completed and the train passed over safely. The following week's time was spent between Prentice and Rhineland. On Oct. 6 they were seen in Rhineland and there purchased some groceries.

On Oct. 7 they saw the piles and stringers of the high bridge near Heaford Junction and the west bound passenger train was passing down a 25-foot embankment. The train was slowing slow, so the wreck was not complete as the wreckers expected. The baggage, smoking and day coaches and two sleepers were not broken and none of the passengers were hurt.

On Oct. 11 Sheriff Patzer received a telegram from the station agent at Prentice to look out for two suspicious-looking characters. That night the sheriff, accompanied by others, stationed himself about a mile from the wreck. He saw the two men, who were dressed in civilian clothes, and about 10 o'clock two men appeared. They were taken into custody and were found to be Levitt Hazleton and Frank Williams. They were taken to the city and were sentenced for thirty days for carrying concealed weapons. Last Wednesday they were taken before Court Commissioner Helms, charged with the murder of Fireman Charles Cottrell. They pleaded not guilty and their examination was set for today.

Last Friday Levitt Hazleton signed his willingness to confess. His statement was taken before Ed. Keuts, notary public, in the presence of Sheriff Patzer, District Attorney Anderson and F. X. Heitz. Hazleton says: "About dark we set to work with the purpose of wrecking a passenger train so that we could rob the express car. We expected that the cars would be all thrown from the track, smashed up, and the passengers and train crew all killed, so that we would have no one to prevent us from accomplishing our purpose. We thought mostly of the money we would get and not of the loss of life.

"We began work west of the center of the bridge, and we cut all the stringers at the bridge and two of the stringers at the ends, and then sawed the piles and posts upon which they rested. We also cut a bridge. After a train passed over we sawed the outside post and the other brace, pulled the bolts out of the fish plates, pulled the spikes next to the fish plates and removed the bolts from the fish plates at each end of the rail.

"We waited at the east end of the bridge until the west-bound passenger train came and broke through the bridge. We were on the south side of the track at the east end of the bridge when the crash came. Then we walked westward to the point where the wreck was. We heard some one crying, 'are you hurt?' The other answered, 'a little.' Then we heard some one crying out again. We did not want to hear more. A man was coming toward us and that scared me out. We walked away and went down pretty near to the next town on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul track and went into a hay barn. We remained there three days and then started for Merrill."

Milwaukee Elevator Burned. MILWAUKEE, Oct. 31.—The Milwaukee Malt and Grain company's elevator on Fifth street was destroyed by fire this morning. Loss about $10,000.

Two Bombs Exploded. MILAN, Oct. 31.—During the past night two bombs were exploded in front of two local police stations. The buildings were damaged, but no one was injured.

Fifteen Lunatics Cremated. STOCKHOLM, Oct. 31.—An asylum for the insane at Joen-Koepping has been destroyed by fire. Fifteen of the inmates were burned to death.

It Exalts Over the Czar's Fatal Illness and Warns His Successor.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—A circular showing a blood red bomb, revolver and dagger, emanating from the refugee nobility in Switzerland is circulating there and in London. It says: "To our brothers, the oppressed in Russia. The tyrant Alexander, autocrat, czar, hangman and assassin of Michael, Russakoff, Fialchik, Nelozoff, Sophia Perowskaia, Jessie Halfmann and many others; purveyor of the Siberian galleys, persecutor of the Jews, is on the point of expiating his crimes.

"He is dying of a mysterious illness, a well merited punishment. Vena science, his Zacharins, Hirschs, and the Wretches and He Has Confessed Everything.

"At length the monster is going to disappear. The day has passed when a man ought to be able by right of birth to dispose of the lives of 100,000,000 of other men.

"Let his son, the czarwitsch, as well as his ambitious rivals, the grand dukes Vladimir and Michael, who are ready to assassinate in accordance with the traditions of the Romanoff family, to get possession of the bloody heritage—let all at every step they will find themselves face to face with the inflexible will of the revolutionists.

"So long as the Russians do not possess the land, so long as an infernal autocracy, served by a rapacious and shameless feudalism, makes a Russian a disgrace to the civilized world, we shall applaud any blow of destiny or providence.

"Long live liberty and the revolution."

FAMOUS LAND GRANT CASES.

Will Settle a Long Contested Dispute Over Valuable Lands.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The supreme court will hear arguments within the next four days in the somewhat famous land grant case in which the Lake Superior Ship Canal and Iron company is the plaintiff and Walter Cunningham, Hugh Finlan and Michael Donohue the defendants, on appeal from the United States circuit court from the western district of Michigan.

These are only test cases. Their decision will settle a long contested dispute over the ownership of about 400,000 acres of valuable land in the state of Michigan. The railroad company claims under grants made by congress through the state of Michigan in 1865 for the purpose of aiding in the construction of the canal. The defendants and many people settled upon the land and made tender of declaratory stamps under the pre-emption law, on appeal from the United States circuit court from the western district of Michigan.

They have fought the cases through the inferior department and the courts claiming that the company's title had been secured by irregular and illegal action or excess of authority on the part of the officers of the United States in the selection and certification of the land, and by attempting to show that the title was not in the United States at the time of the selection, because they claim that the lands selected were embraced in the grant of lands made to the state for railroad purposes in 1856.

Hon. J. F. Dickinson appears as principal counsel for the company and Hon. Don M. Dickinson in the same capacity for the settlers.

TO SETTLE BY ARBITRATION.

Mexico's Differences With France and Italy To Be Arbitrated.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Minister Mendonca, of Brazil, has not been advised as to the reported purpose of Brazil to submit her differences with France and Italy to arbitration. The trouble with Italy resulted from riots in Brazil in which the local police were killed. Italy has demanded indemnity, and arbitration has been suggested by Italy but until now without the consent of Brazil.

If both countries come together on arbitration it is possible that President Cleveland will be chosen arbitrator, although he declined to act as long as the subject had a belligerent aspect. The reported arbitration between France and Italy was brought to relate to the northern boundary of Brazil, as that is the only pending difference between the countries.

A WARRANT FOR TANNER.

Mayor Hopkins, of Chicago, Charges the Republican Chairman With Libel.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Mayor Hopkins today went before the grand jury for the purpose of securing an indictment against Chairman John R. Tanner, of the Republican state central committee. The mayor charges that Tanner circulated campaign literature containing charges that the former had leveled blackmail on the vice of the city.

After the mayor had laid his evidence before the grand jury, a hot session followed resulting in the refusal of the jury to take any action in the matter. Mayor Hopkins then went before a justice of the peace and swore out a warrant for Tanner's arrest.

BILL CAMPBELL.

The Former United States Marshal Has Been Appointed By President Cleveland to Succeed Bede.

This is Regarded as a Blow at Doran Who Was Again Supporting Capt. Thornton.

A Story That Campbell Was One of the First to Discover Bede's Offensive Partisanship.

It is Also Said Campbell Has Been in the Seventh District Working For Owen.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 31.—A dispatch from Washington announcing that President Cleveland had appointed William M. Campbell as United States marshal to succeed J. Adam Bede, whose resignation was accepted, created considerable surprise, as an appointment was not expected so soon. Campbell served a term as marshal during Cleveland's first administration and is now chairman of the Chippewa Indian commission. He was a candidate when Bede was appointed and created considerable stir by charging Michael Doran with duplicity in the matter. Campbell said Doran urged him to become a candidate, and when he got his application and recommendations ready, refused to endorse him, because he said Jim Hill did not want Campbell appointed. Campbell and Doran had some hot words, and the affair created a little sensation at the time.

Regarding Campbell's appointment the Globe adds the following explanation: "The appointment of Mr. Campbell came as a pleasant surprise to his friends last evening. At the time the marshal-hunt was going on long previous to Mr. Campbell's appointment, the name of Mr. Campbell was sent in, but was not pressed. Finding Mr. Campbell's name in the list still on file, and knowing his record to be such an excellent one, Attorney General Olney was not slow to recommend him, and the president promptly made the appointment.

Editorially the Globe says: "But the president evidently regarded the resignation of Mr. Bede as final, and possibly to avoid the importunities which his ample experience teaches him are sure to follow rapidly in the wake of a vacancy, decided to make this appointment out of hand by naming a man with whom he was acquainted, for whom he has a high regard, and whose previous record in the office was his highest and best recommendation."

The Pioneer Press says: "Mr. Campbell's appointment is another very vigorous slap from the administration to the face for Michael Doran. 'Bill' and 'Mike' have not been on very harmonious terms, politically or personally, for some time; in fact, there has been an open rupture between them. It is needless to say that every bit of Mr. Doran's influence has been thrown against Campbell, but to no effect. In short, the appointment is but another evidence of the now well recognized fact that Mike's influence at Washington is not what it used to be.

"Another man who will be very sore when he awakens to the realities of the situation is Capt. J. J. Thornton, of St. James. When Bede was appointed last spring, Capt. Thornton was a disappointed candidate for the position. He and what was apparently the strongest political backing for the position that has ever bolstered up the pretensions of any candidate for a federal office from Minnesota, and yet he was turned down by the Washington and looked up as a candidate for the marshalship. His backers were F. J. Smalley, Judge Thomas Williston, and the Independent Buell.

—Charlie Foote and other members of the Minnesota Democratic association. Justice Brewer, of the supreme court, also wrote a strong letter in his favor. The Dispatch today says: "W. M. Campbell, who has been locating the Mille Lac Indians for the past year or so, under the provisions of the Chippewa reservation act, is the beneficiary of Bede's resignation as marshal. Campbell will step out of his $70 per diem job and return to the fees and emoluments of the marshal's office. The Chippewa commission was about to be abolished and Mr. Campbell went down to Washington not long ago to see what he could do to convince Secretary Smith that there were several young Indian bucks whom he had not yet succeeded in locating."

"In connection with the ex-marshall's visit and the issuance soon after of the president's letter calling off the federal officeholders from active party work, comes the story that Mr. Campbell was one of the first to discover the offensive partisanship of Bede. Now, when Campbell was marshal he never went out to make speeches and bustle around for the candidates for congress. In fact, he always does his hustling for Campbell, and he seems to have done it very successfully in this instance."

CURTAILING THE FLOUR OUTPUT.

It Was a Trade Paper That Sent Out the Circulars.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 31.—W. E. Edgar, editor of the Northwestern Miller, was both amused and annoyed this morning at the report sent out from St. Louis that Northwestern millers were trying to arrange a combine for the purpose of curtailing the flour output. The report originated in the fact that the Northwestern Miller, the newspaper—not the western millers—has sent out circulars to all the millers of the United States proposing that they curtail their output from Dec. 10 to Jan. 10, in order to relieve the glut in the market. The reduction will amount to 3,000,000 barrels.

Mr. Edgar says: "There is no idea of forcing such a measure, compliance with it being purely voluntary. That is the duldest month of the year in the flour trade. All mills have to shut down for repairs every year anyway, and why not at this dull time? The plan originated, not with the millers of the Northwest, but with Thomas Taylor of Toledo. The spring wheat millers are rather opposed to it, as they have always been against any such reduction of the output. The Minneapolis millers are likely to run right along as they think best without reference to the plan. The replies from the St. Louis millers on the other hand are all in favor of it."

JUDGE BUCK DISSENTS.

Protests Against the Decision in the Itasca County Case.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 31.—Judge Buck, of the supreme court, this morning handed down the long-looked-for dissenting opinion in the contest between the nominees of the Republican mass convention and the delegate convention held in Itasca county.

Some time ago the opinion of the majority of the court, declaring the mass convention legal, was handed down and Judge Buck then filed his dissenting opinion. His opinion, of course, favors the petitioners, who sought to compel the county auditor of Itasca county to place the names of the nominees of the delegate convention, held Oct. 8, upon the official ballots instead of those nominated at the mass convention Sept. 1.

In his opinion Judge Buck declares that the legislature certainly had no right to declare that mass conventions should be held in thinly populated counties and delegate conventions in thickly populated counties. At least, he says, such authority may be doubted, unless one accepts the views of some modern statesmen to the effect that a legislature is omnipotent and its knowledge boundless.

Referring to the statements that the mass conventions were sanctioned by usage in Itasca county, he says upon the passage of the law of 1887, providing for primary elections, under severe penalties for a violation, all usage ceased to have any force. This law was in force until April 26, 1891, when the law passed by the legislature of that year went into effect, and there has been but one election since that time, and that men the law is not in force, and that one mass convention is not enough to establish a usage.

Admitting that "usage is sometimes the stuff from which laws are made," the judge holds that there should be no need of it to light the judicial pathway, especially where a plain statutory provision enables them to see clearly.

A Fatal Fall.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 31.—Charles Lynn, a carpenter working on a new building on Twelfth street in this city, today fell from the third story and was instantly killed. He leaves a wife and three children.

PINKERTONS WANT WHITEMAN.

He and a Pal Got Only $400 Out of a Chicago Bank.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—There is no doubt that ex-Senator Alonzo J. Whiteman, of Minnesota, the forger and race track "welscher," fled to Europe a few days ago on the steamer Ems," said Superintendent Murray, of the Pinkerton agency today.

"When Harry Conway was arrested some time ago on the charge of being implicated in swindling the National Bank of the Republic out of $400 Whiteman at once disappeared. Several days ago Conway confessed and said that Whiteman was his pal in robbing the bank. We had not suspected Whiteman of the crime at all, and so had not been looking for him, and Conway's information came too late to do us any good."

"A man who is well acquainted with Whiteman sent his daughter to Europe on the Ems. As he waved her good bye when the steamer left the dock, he saw Whiteman standing on the deck of the vessel. The forger waved his hand in adieu to his acquaintance, who informed us of the occurrence."

THE CZAR DYING.

Report From Livadia This Afternoon That All Hope of the Czar's Recovery is Abandoned.

The News of His Death May Now Be Expected to Arrive at Any Moment.

An Account of the Course Which His Illness Has Taken Since He Reached Livadia.

All Reports Regarding the Immediate Marriage of the Czarwitsch to Princess Alix Are Unfounded.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon from Livadia says: "The czar is dying." The dispatch adds that his left lung is so seriously inflamed that all hope has been abandoned and that the news of his death may be expected at any moment.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 31.—Advices received from Livadia this morning announce that the czar slept some hours yesterday evening. These advices also say there has been a slight decrease in the blood stained expectation. Otherwise there is no change in his condition. An official bulletin issued at 10 o'clock this morning says that the czar slept for some hours last night and that the bleeding has somewhat subsided. Otherwise the condition of the patient is not changed. The bulletin is signed in the usual manner by the physicians in attendance upon his majesty.

The Official Messenger publishes the following account of the czar's illness: The disquieting symptoms which manifested themselves at Spala became less marked in the early days of his majesty's sojourn at Livadia. The czar was able to attend divine service after arriving there and he was also able to drive about. Then symptoms of weakness appeared with failing appetite, loss of sleep, weakening of the heart's action, increase of albumen and sweating of the extremities.

On Oct. 1 there was a return of the czar's appetite and Oct. 2 he was able to obtain the necessary rest in sleep, which produced a notable increase in his strength, and a reduction of the albumen and uric acid. There was continued improvement. The czar was able to attend divine service and to drive about. Then symptoms of weakness appeared with failing appetite, loss of sleep, weakening of the heart's action, increase of albumen and sweating of the extremities.

Then symptoms of weakness appeared with failing appetite, loss of sleep, weakening of the heart's action, increase of albumen and sweating of the extremities.

The meeting of the czar with Princess Alix, whom he had long been craving to see, strongly excited the patient in spite of the joy which the meeting caused him and his majesty's physicians feared the effects of this excitement, but the night passed favorably. There was continued improvement of the feet on Oct. 26 which hindered improvement.

During all this time the czar, in spite of his suffering, did not neglect state business, but at the urgent instance of his physicians he handed over documents relating to current affairs, and was requiring considerable examination to the czarwitsch. His majesty, however, decided the most important cases and signed the state paper.

It is semi-officially announced today that all reports regarding the immediate marriage of the czarwitsch to Princess Alix are unfounded. It is added that it was never proposed since the illness of the czar that the marriage should take place hurriedly.

The excitement in regard to the czar's condition continues. Those engaged in distributing the bulletins regarding the health of the czar are besieged by dense crowds of people who fall upon their knees and pray for the czar's recovery as each new bulletin is posted.

At 1 o'clock this afternoon Father Petrolin, of St. Petersburg, met the metropolitan of the Lake Shore railway last night near Lake View, 10 miles west of Buffalo, by placing a plank and stones on the track just west of a siding. Fortunately the obstructions were discovered and the train was stopped in time. Superintendent Niles does not credit the theory of train robbery. An investigation is now in progress.

THE SIXTH DISTRICT.

Latest Reports From Eight or Nine Counties Show That Sentiment For Towne Continues Strong.

Baldwin, it is Predicted, Will Lose Several Hundred Votes to Halvorsen in Stearns County.

Towne Making Votes Wherever He Goes, and a Big Landslide in His Favor Seems Probable.

VERNALE, Minn., Oct. 30.—[Special to The Herald.]—From Duluth to Clearwater, Wright county, Monday and up through St. Cloud, Little Falls and Staples to Vernalde today, I have been in eight or nine of the twenty counties of the great Sixth district. For the most part it has been impossible to get very much information, but I have heard reports from nearly all of these counties. Of Pine I know nothing, but the general impression is that it will give Mr. Towne something of a plurality, against a small one for Maj. Baldwin two years ago. That it will be decidedly claimed by Republicans. Of course Democrats do not agree with them. Mr. Towne has not been there yet, but will go to Pine City next Monday afternoon.

The outlook in Mille Lacs county remains as favorable to Mr. Towne as I pictured it last week. A report today brought by a man who has lately gone through it is that Republicans have nothing to fear there. At Clear Lake, Sherburne, where I was for a half hour last evening I heard about the same kind of talk as I did a week ago. The Populists are doing something there, but probably increase their vote a little, but not much. Democracy is at a low ebb. Mr. Towne will get more than his party vote, and Governor Nelson will not run behind.

At Clearwater, Wright county, there are 150 votes, about five or six Populists, about thirty Democrats and the rest Republicans. Mr. Towne will get a full vote here and probably receive the ballot of three or four Democrats. Clearwater is a solid Republican community mostly made up of Americans, many old veterans, and Populism has been unable to make any headway save with that class of people. Always found in every community which is always taking up with strange gods, politically. There were 300 people out last evening to hear Mr. Towne, but unfortunately he dismissed his train at Minneapolis and had to disappoint the audience. The evening was filled in, but the people wanted above all things to see and hear Mr. Towne.

In Stearns county the Republicans promise to hold their own, and Mr. Towne will get the full Republican vote. He will probably not get quite so large a vote as Judge Searle's in 1892, but Mr. Baldwin will surely lose 300 to 500 votes. The railroad men at St. Cloud, so it was told today, will most likely cast their votes for Owen and Halvorsen. Maj. Baldwin expects 300 plurality in Stearns, but will be lucky to get it.

Further reports from Little Falls show that Morrison county is in most excellent shape for the Republicans. The party organization there is the best in any county in the Sixth district and the Democrats are all on the defensive. The Populist vote will not be large. I believe that Baldwin cannot possibly get over 300 plurality there as against 550 two years ago. From Benton county reports are indefinite and I would not venture a guess as to what it will do. It is strongly Democratic and will remain so. Taylor county has an uncertain element, and the Populist strength may show quite an increase. The Democrats will not gain any votes. Today I am told that the Staples the railroad men will vote the Republican ticket. Mr. Towne is certainly very strong there and Governor Nelson will probably pull more than his party vote. Crow Wing county is looking better for the Republicans. I gather this from both Democratic and Republican sources. Populism is not so strong there as it was. Atkin county is all one way—Republican—except for Capt. Allen for senator, where a local fight is being made upon him and where the opposing candidate, Ma r, will poll a heavy Republican vote on account of his residence in the county. The vote in that county will be 900 to 1000 and Towne will get two-thirds of it. Nelson will run up with his ticket.

Wadena county is strongly for Towne. His plurality can be put down at 300. Only a few Populists have developed in this village, but there will be quite a number in some other parts of the county. Talks with hack drivers, laboring men and others develop the fact that Towne will get an immense vote all through this region, and that the Democratic vote he will receive will be no small amount. I also had a report today from Itasca. That is a Democratic county, but my informant says Towne will carry it. I have no information from Hubbard nor Cass. This letter gives a rosette tinge to Towne's prospects, but facts justify it. Indeed, I feel more like predicting Towne's election by a big majority than on any previous occasion. One prominent gentleman with whom I talked this afternoon said: "So far as Towne is concerned, it looks more and more to me like a great landslide. He is making votes wherever he goes, and you may expect a plurality so big that it will simply be astonishing." I find too that there is not in this vicinity that slump from Nelson that has been talked about. He will get many Democratic votes in this section.

A great fight is being made upon Capt. Allen for the senate in Aitkin and Itasca counties, but I do not believe his opponent will be able to beat him. He is strong in his own county, in Wadena, Hubbard and Cass. Aitkin will give a good sized plurality for Marr. Itasca county is debatable ground, with a probability of a majority against Allen, but the captain will probably come out of the contest with 300 to 350 plurality in the district.

AFTER THE GUATEMALANS.
Mexican Troops Are Preparing to Drive Back the Filibusters.

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 31.—Miguel Torruco is the owner of a large timber tract called Egypto, near the Guatemalan frontier. Quite recently the authorities of Peten, Guatemala, arrested and took away six Mexican subjects who were employed by Torruco. The Guatemalans have occupied both sides of the stream of water, and have planted their flag on its bank. This is an invasion of Mexican territory.

Among the people whose business is damaged by the movement of the Guatemalan filibusters is the American, D. F. Schmiedler, who had a contract with Torruco for the delivery of lumber and who has appealed to the American minister, protesting against the arbitrary acts of Guatemala. The state of Tabasco is arming its military under the command of Col. A. Soca.

Alfonso Alvarez has arrived at San Juan Baptista. His mission is to construct a telegraph line to Tenosique on the Guatemalan frontier. Sixty leagues will be covered and the commander of the troops at the front will be in constant communication with the war department. Gen. Lorenzo Garcia, whose troops were transported from Vera Cruz to the frontier by two Mexican men of war, the Independencia and Libertad, arrived in port on Oct. 20 and is proceeding rapidly to Tenosique. Unless the Guatemalans get back to their own side of the line, hostilities will begin at once.

TAXING IRON MINES.

Populist Speakers Throughout the State Advocating an Increase in Taxation of the Iron Lands.

Whatever the Complexion of the Legislature There is Likely to Be Such a Bill Introduced.

Report That Bede Will Succeed Taylor as Register of the Land Office at Duluth.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 31.—[Special to The Herald.]—The iron mining interest of the Sixth congressional district is not likely to forget the fact that there has been a change in the tariff even after the gentlemen who are now serving their country on the stump, have evacuated their stamping ground and Maj. Baldwin has concluded that he had better serve his country by staying at home. There is already plenty of talk among people who are likely to be in the next legislature, and others who think themselves interested, about a change in the state tax on iron ore and it is better than even betting that the tax will be increased very early in the session to at least 5 cents a ton.

About the places where men do most congregate, at the hotels and elsewhere, this is a matter of ordinary conversation, and through some sort of reasoning peculiar to men who are sore, the additional tax is being advocated as a reproach to the people of the Sixth district—further still an impression going about the state that the people of the iron country do not properly and vigorously resist the tariff change. Men do not argue about the matter. They simply point to the fact that the people of the Duluth district have gone so far as to allow some of the best of the iron ore to be taken to the right of Maj. Baldwin to go back to congress and they say that a set of people who do not get together and resent it when their interests are attacked, as the interests of the Sixth are attacked in the new tariff law, do not deserve any sympathy and ought to be made to pay to the state what they allow to be taken to the community in suffering the tariff on ore to be reduced without a prompt and unanimous kick.

The argument with the agricultural contingent is that there must still be plenty of money in iron even under a reduced tariff and that the mine owners near the boundary should increase their taxation, pro bono publico, than any other interest in the state. The populists are going to base their argument may not be sound, but it will do for them and one of the first bills to be introduced will be one increasing, by the state, the tax on the state tax on the output of the mines.

In the southern part of the state this proposition has been repeatedly made by the populists and it is not likely to meet with much reproof from men in the other parts who have nothing at stake in the matter. What ever the complexion of the legislature a bill will be introduced early in the session and if it is a minority measure and comes from the populists it will provide for an increase of the tax on the cents a ton. A traveling correspondent who has just returned from a tour of the state tells your correspondent that the matter has been much discussed in the stump in the farming regions, and he was rather surprised that the attention of the people was not called to it, but accounted for this on the theory that the movement is stranger rather than partisan.

The question that has bothered some Democrats and inspired unwelcome hopes in the bosom of others—as to who will succeed Jadam Bede in the marshalship—has been both of the hour and the day, whether or not he will quit a financial loser depends on how long it will take for the powers that be to appoint his successor. It has cost an enormous amount of money to run the office since Bede took it and he has had to pay a high rate of interest for what money he needed. And he needed a large amount. While paying out all this good money he found that his predecessors had not made anything in the office; that Marshal Campbell had lost $1200 and that Marshal Danabower was obliged to bring suit for money paid out and when he got a verdict he was still out his time while he held the job.

"This startled Mr. Bede, for although Jadam may be picturesque in his politics he is not in his desire to get his share of the coin that is going about. He found out two months ago that there was no prospect of having 'all kinds of money' as a consequence of getting the marshalship. And about that time it became evident to Maj. Baldwin that it would not do a bit of harm to make a change in the registration of the Duluth land office. He had to have Bede on the stump. Bede had to have something in the shape of an office with some emoluments attached; C. P. Maginnis wanted a job; Baldwin wanted Maginnis on the stump; Register Taylor has no use for anyone in the campaign, and the other fellows offered to furnish the motive for a change if Baldwin would ask Lamoreaux for the marshalship. The knowledge of the program so far as Maginnis is concerned, W. B. THIRNBERG.

That Joyful Feeling
With the exhilarating sense of renewed health and strength and internal cleanliness, which follows the use of Syrup of Figs, is unknown to the few who have not progressed beyond the old time medicine and the cheap substitutes sometimes offered but never accepted by the well informed.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

Marinette Iron Works Has Completed Two Engines For the Ironton Structural Steel Company.

The Employees at the Marinette Iron Works Are Solid For Charles A. Towne For Congress.

Hire of the Maccabees Organized Last Evening By Miss Pearl Simmons—Other Local News.

The Marinette works has just completed the new engines for the Ironton works ready for shipment. There are two pairs of small twin vertical engines and one large one of similar style. The machines are beauties. This morning photographs were taken of them from which cuts will be made. A car load of other machinery is also being shipped to the Ironton plant. Several carriages and head blocks are in process of manufacture for sawmills, and although work is not booming, a little trade is being picked up right along to keep the shops working with a respectable force of men.

ALL ARE TOWNE MEN.

Marinette Iron Works Employees All For the Popular Republican Nominee.

On making his rounds this morning The Herald reporter took occasion to sound some of the Marinette iron workers on the political question. Sam Wells, as he is familiarly termed by his men, the foreman of the foundry, is a staunch Republican and president of the West Duluth Towne club. He said that he was always a little diffident about saying anything about politics to the men working under him but from what he had heard about him he had come to the conclusion that Towne and the Republicans would capture about all the votes in the shop.

J. W. Bodilly, foreman of the machine shop, is also a strong Republican. In fact all the workmen seem to be protectionists and enthusiastic Towne men. One of them remarked laughingly that Populism was an obsolete word about the place and as for the Democrats they were not allowed to preach their doctrines within the shops.

Hive of Maccabees Formed.

Miss Pearl Simmons organized a Hive of Maccabees last evening. The name of Pearl was given in honor of the organizer. The following officers were chosen: Mrs. Grace Patterson, past lady commander; Mrs. Addie Roberts, commander; Mrs. Murrin, lieutenant; Miss Minnie Lock, record keeper; Mrs. Inez Legg, lady physician; Mrs. Katherine Senot, mistress at arms; Mrs. Bertha Davenport, sentinel; Mrs. Scanlin, guard; Miss Clara Gibson, picket. Another meeting will be held this evening to complete the organization. The ladies of the Maccabees will hold their dance at Great Eastern hall on Nov. 5 instead of Nov. 2 as heretofore stated.

says: Express Train No. 7 on the Delaware Lackawanna & Western railroad north bound, running at the rate of 40 miles an hour dashed into a coal train standing on an open switch at Forster, 27 miles north of here at 1 o'clock this morning.

The express train engineer was Valentine Butler, of Binghamton, and his fireman was William C. Hovey, of the same city. Hovey was also instantly killed, but Butler crawled out from beneath the wreck of the two engines with scarcely a bruise, escaping the scalding steam parabolized the other victims. ## WHEAT DECLINED AGAIN.

Not Much News of a Bullish Character and an Undertone of Weakness.

The wheat market was dull and steady at the opening today. May starting at 59c, which was 1/2 below yesterday's best selling price. The early cables showed some strength, but domestic markets were easier. New York being the market of reference. Outside of the cables, there was little business. The market was quiet, with a few scattered orders. The market was quiet, with a few scattered orders. The market was quiet, with a few scattered orders.

leys, and Lake Superior and Michigan, and heavy rains over Lake Huron and Erie. In the states west of the Mississippi valley the weather has continued generally fair with a decided rise

Maj. Baldwin's Defeat.
Maj. Baldwin is telling his audiences in the western end of the district to look out for a sensation that he intends to spring a few days before election, which, he asserts, will land Mr. Towne in the political jail. This shows how despite the major is becoming in the face of the certain defeat that awaits him in the polls next Tuesday. It is the usual practice of politicians who see defeat ahead of them to make a last effort to gain victory by springing roborants at the last hour, thus giving their opponent no chance to reply and counteract the effect of the charges, but it has been reserved to Maj. Baldwin to be the first to announce that he intended to resort to this extreme measure.

Being thus forewarned the voters will treat with entire disregard any story affecting Mr. Towne which may emanate from the Baldwin camp between this and election day. Mr. Towne is not afraid of any charges that the major may make, because he knows that, if proper time be given, he can refute any and all of them. Of course if any vile attack should be made a few days before election it would be impossible for him to make a reply that would reach all portions of this district. The major and his political managers are figuring on this, and hence they have delayed making any of their sensational and false charges until the last hours of the campaign. There was a time several years ago when such roborants had effect, but that time has passed. The people have become accustomed to expect these roborants, and they do not pay the slightest attention to them.

Another sign of the major's fast fading hope of sitting in the next congress is found in the attitude of the St. Cloud Times. The Times is making a frantic appeal to the Populists to vote for Baldwin, claiming that by so doing they can defeat Towne. The Times is fearful of the Populist candidate's strength. It knows that in Stearns county he will poll many former Democratic votes,
and that he will cut deeply into the major's strength throughout the district.
The probability that the major will be third in the race in consequence of Hal-vorsen's running qualities has alarmed
the Times exceedingly, and it is really
pitiful to read its fearful appeal to the Populists to desert their candidate and vote for Baldwin.
The Times' appeal will not be answered
as it desires. The Populists will not be swayed as a catspaw for the major and help
to pull his political chestnuts out of the fire. Charles A. Towne will be the next Sixth district congressman, and all the
roborants that the major may spring
and all the appeals to the Populists to
aid him cannot prevent this result.

The Water Bonds.
The long and bickering controversy
between the city and the Duluth Gas and Water company is finally settled.
A majority of the voters of Duluth have spoken in favor of the purchase after being thoroughly informed upon all sides of the question. The city council has agreed with the majority and has
and has voted in favor of issuing at once
the bonds to permit extensions and improvements. Everything to better the water system is progressing with the spirit and activity that the enterprising citizens of Duluth have so long hoped and prayed for. So far so good.

It is only one danger ahead; only one block that can be placed in the path. It is the possibility of an injunction being asked for, to retard the sale of the bonds,
upon the ground of some technical illegality of the election.

This possible barrier does not spring
from the imagination of The Herald.
The reason it is mentioned is because such a step was hinted at just after the election by some of those who were most strongly opposed to the purchase. Let us see what such a thing would accomplish and who it would affect.

Of the result of the election there is no doubt. The majority of the votes were in favor of the purchase. The will of the majority is supreme. That is the common law of the land. The question can be dragged through the courts and in the end the result will be the same.
But while it is being buffeted about in the court rooms, see the condition that will exist at home. An injunction standing like a wall between the bonds and the money markets will work a variety of ills and disasters. In the first place it will place a blot on the credit of the city that it will take long legal cleansing
to wipe out, and in the second place it will stop all work that should be done
this winter by the army of laboring men who are waiting to earn bread by the sweat of their brows. These two calamities are sufficient to mention. They are enough to suggest some thought to the mind of anyone contemplating such a step as has been mentioned. The Herald has no idea that such a thing will be done, but the loss to the city and our citizens would be so great in the event of such a move that it did not deem it out of place to mention it now.

Since the smoke of battle has cleared away those who were opposed to the purchase have, with becoming grace, bowed to the will of the majority and become new soldiers in Duluth's army of enterprise. There is little danger that any one of them would place himself in the position of a disgruntled tiger to be snarling in the path of progress. The people of Duluth want the bonds sold and the laborers put to work. If anyone tried to obstruct that desire he could only be looked upon in the light of a public calamity. The American people like to see a good fighter. They will applaud him when he wins or when he acknowledges defeat, but they have nothing but contempt for him when he keeps barking after he is whipped.

Has Left the Democracy.
Two years ago the Volksfreund, the only German paper published in Duluth and having a large circulation throughout the state, supported Maj. Baldwin.
It was due to the influence wielded by the Volksfreund that Maj. Baldwin received the practically united support of the German-Americans in this section.
But like many others they have learned by experience that they made a great mistake and they propose to remedy the mistake at the earliest opportunity. This year the Volksfreund is supporting Mr.
Towne and the result will be that Mr.
German votes that were the major two years ago. The Volksfreund has also generally transferred its allegiance from the Democracy to the Republican party,
and in the last issue explains its reasons
for this change, in the following words:
"Although in the election of county officers we look to the man, we feel that this year in national politics we must advocate the Republican candidates. According to our idea the Democratic party has, since the inauguration of Cleveland, when it came into full control of the government, shown itself decidedly unworthy to rule over the social and political interests of our country.
Internal dissensions, lack of patriotism and business tact mark its progress, or rather its retrogression.

"The general demand for energetic action in the settlements of the money question was met by expiring carelessness, and thereby the industrial condition of the country was further depressed. When at last, the financial crisis, with all its evil consequences,
came to an end, and times seemed to become brighter the people, like a conscience-stricken beast, turned back to the Democratic party.

"Here was the opportunity to make good the mischief and harm done by the party to the mastery inactivity of our Democratic congress. But here, too, the vorse's running qualities has alarmed
the Times exceedingly, and it is really
pitiful to read its fearful appeal to the
Populists to desert their candidate and vote for Baldwin.
The Times' appeal will not be answered
as it desires. The Populists will not be
swayed as a catspaw for the major and help
to pull his political chestnuts out of the
fire. Charles A. Towne will be the next
Sixth district congressman, and all the
and all the appeals to the Populists to
aid him cannot prevent this result.

A cotton plant destroying grub has migrated across the Mexican border into Texas and seriously threatens all of our future cotton crops. Remedies are as yet not decided upon, but the English sparrow is perhaps about the best that can be suggested.

Everett P. Wheeler, the bolting Democratic candidate for governor of New York, virtually indorses the opinion that the adoption of the new constitution
would leave New York without a legis-

Grand Rapids, Minn., threw Editor Ole Anderson Macdonald into a fit of hysterical italics, and all because he said Baldwin could not be elected. Poor Ole! he is taken on like that now how he will feel after election, when Towne is elected to at least Good plurality!

At the Snub End.
Minneapolis Times: One J. Adam Bede
will be interested to know that one John Griffin Carlisle has declined to make any speeches at the snub end of the campaign.

How Will You Vote?
Anoka Union: Thirty-seven thousand dollars is the sum paid into the state treasury by timber thieves, and to Bob Dunn, Republican candidate for auditor, belongs a large share of the honor of securing it. If you don't approve of the school lands being protected, why then vote against Bob. If you do, vote for him and get your friends to.

The General Opinion.
St. Peter Tribune: We firmly believe that our present efficient, honest and capable governor, Knute Nelson, will be his own successor by from 10,000 to 20, 000 plurality. The members of neither party have dared to condemn any of his official acts, knowing full well that he has given to the people of Minnesota a clean administration.

Behind the Wrong Course.
Waseca Radical: Owen was elected by the Democrats, that Owen will be that of the Democrats. They seem to have given up the ghost and are lying right down in the furrow, the same as a tired old played-out ox we had years ago. Poor old party.
No hope--no faith--no hereafter. They are repeating the buried wrong course
two years ago.

An Editor Nearly 50 Years Says Hood's Sarsaparilla is a Sterling and Valuable Remedy.

Mr. E. A. Norris
Fitchburg, Mass.

A man who has had nearly half a century of experience in newspaper life is certainly capable of judging between the valuable and the worthless. Hence we highly value the following statement from Mr. Erasmus A. Norris of Fitchburg, for nearly 30 years editor of Massachusetts and New Hampshire newspapers:
"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.: Gentlemen: In 1887, after a sickness of two years, I was given up by our best physicians, who considered my case hopeless, my age, 68, being against me. But by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was able to get about and do a little light work. It seems almost a miracle, in my case, that after using Hood's Sarsaparilla
in the fall, on the first day of January I engaged for the city of Fitchburg to take the record of the births. I accomplished this with comparatively ease, being out in the Unusually Severe Weather

of winter, working each day, and have been able to do a fair day's work every day since.
Several members of my family have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla, and always with marked benefit. Hood's Sarsaparilla is as staple as flour in our house, and its presence almost indispensable. I find that nearly every medicine deteriorates, but Hood's keeps up the quality
all these years that I have known it. It is certainly a sterling and invaluable remedy. I can hardly imagine what I should have done without it." ERASMUS A. NORRIS, No. 7 Lincoln St., Fitchburg, Mass. Get HOOD'S.

THE CZAR DEAD.

The Emperor of Russia Passed Away at Livadia Shortly After Three O'Clock
This Afternoon.

The Morning Bulletin Reported His Condition as Dangerous and the End Was Considered Near.

The Czar Refused to Remove to Corfu
as He Desired to Die in Russia.

Conspiracy of the Nihilists at St. Petersburg to Kill the Czar with Nipped
in the Bud.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Livadia says that the czar died at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The news was not unexpected as the Russian embassy announced this morning that it was in receipt of a dispatch saying that the czar
was very much worse and that his end was approaching. The bulletin issued by the czar's physicians at 10 o'clock this morning: "The czar passed the night without sleep. The activity of his heart is diminishing rapidly. His majesty's condition is very dangerous. His respiration is very difficult." This bulletin was by far the gravest yet issued and the general belief was that the death agony had begun and that the czar could not last through the day. Therefore the dispatch announcing his death was received without surprise.

According to a dispatch from Berlin
which has been received here, Emperor William has received a dispatch from
Gen. von Werdeck, the German ambassador to Russia, who is now at Livadia, saying that the czar refused to go to Corfu as he desired to die in Russia.

Gen. Kostanda, commander of the troops of the Moscow district, in reply to a telegram of congratulations sent to the czar upon the anniversary of the latter's escape from death through the railroad disaster near Borko, received the following message from his majesty:

"I heartily thank you and the troops for the sentiment and good wishes expressed on the anniversary of an event so memorable for us as our miraculous escape
from a threatening danger."

"ALEXANDER."

According to a special dispatch received here from St. Petersburg, a conspiracy against the life of the czar which has been discovered here. It is added that for several days past the police have been actively engaged in arresting nihilists. Among those arrested are several students. The police have also obtained possession of incriminating documents.

According to a private dispatch received by the queen of Denmark, mother of the czarina, the czar died at 3 o'clock
this afternoon.

From the time today's bulletin from Livadia was issued it was known that the czar's death was only a question of hours. But the bulletin announcing his death as having occurred this morning,
which were posted in London and cabled
to the United States, are shown to have been premature. The Berlin foreign office and the Russian embassy here did not receive the news of the czar's death
until 6 o'clock this evening.

Immediately after the body of the czar has been prepared it will be laid upon an inclined plane, preliminary being placed in a temporary coffin. The priests will then enter the bedroom and will chant a requiem. This will be repeated three times daily until the burial takes place. All the members of the imperial family will be present at the ceremonies.

It is expected that the body of the czar will be removed tomorrow to the private chapel where special prayers for the repose of the emperor's soul will be offered and where, once a day, the litany will be sung, in addition to chanting a requiem. When the priests enter the death room they will cense the body
and then commence the service.

It is understood that the czar will immediately issue a proclamation
declaring himself czar, and all the Russian officials throughout the world will take the oath of allegiance as soon as possible.

THE DECEASED EMPEROR.

He Never Expected to Reign and Was Trained for a Soldier.

The Emperor Alexander III, who was born in 1845, was never expected to reign, but was intended to lead the life of a soldier. It was upon his brother Nicholas, the czar, that all the best training was lavished. It was he who,
as the eldest son, was supposed to be destined to ascend the throne and rule autocratically 100,000,000 unhappy Russians.

But the eldest son, tended like a bottom plant, was over-educated, over-fed and died of physical and nervous exhaustion in the flower of his early manhood.

Alexander, who had always been regarded as the fool of the family, now became the heir of the throne.

What sort of a young man was he?

What preparation had he received for the exalted position to which he would now in the fullness of time be called?

Well, he was a surly young giant.
Opinions were believed to have none.

If he possessed any he at least kept them pretty much to himself. Like his brothers, Vladimir and Alexis, he was the performer of fabulous feats at the supper table. He was a splendid wrestler, extremely powerful, who could drink
more champagne than any of his brothers, and who took pleasure in intimating the tricks with which history has credited Peter the Great.

Thus he used to crush horseshoes in the hollow of his hand, roll silver rubles
into tubes between his thumb and finger,
and used to sally forth with his brothers
to disreputable drinking places at night,
in strict incognito, and thrash the assembled company. Whether he ever stopped the sails of a windmill in full motion as Peter is reputed to have done
is not on record.

He had been brought up in strict belief in the orthodox Greek church, and, while his father was a free thinker and believed in little else than pleasure, the younger Alexander swallowed whole the superstitions of his national Byzantine faith, and made of his religious precept, Pobedonosteff, his friend and confidant,
almost the keeper of his conscience.

For the rest, he cared little for books
and less for art, but he delighted in the details of militarism, and, being big and strong, was on the whole harmless and gentle, though surly and self-contained.

His Marriage.

It was the giant, living in intellectual darkness, who fresh from the wine cellars of St. Petersburg, was thrown into the arms of the beautiful Dagmar of Denmark. The princess had been betrothed to the heir-apparent to the Russian throne. What did it matter that Nicholas was dead? There was still an heir-apparent. Her parents were poor and anxious for good matches for their daughters; besides there were high political reasons.

Her sister had married the prince of Wales, Russia and England would thus become related. The ever-meddling Queen Victoria was suspected to have a finger in the pie. And then Denmark, the best part of which had just been swallowed up by Prussia, wanted powerful friends.

In his dress he was untidy, and his valets
had the greatest difficulty in turning him out cleanly. He was very shy and a poor speaker.

In fact, he had no talents, but he was an honest and a moral man, who tried to do his duty, who was brave and did not fear death, and who, if he could, would have done a great deal of good, but he had not the originality of character to be superior to his advisers, and he was intensely jealous of his imperial authority.

Six-foot three in height, weighing 250
pounds, the emperor looked like a giant.
He had small eyes, straight, hard eyebrows, a small forehead, a fair beard and a coarse mouth. In appearance he was not unlike the peasants he ruled.

A very different person is Nicholas Alexandrovich. Short in stature, insignificant in appearance, generally supposed to be an idiot, he has nevertheless

he would retire to his study and go to looking nervously at the passers-by in the street, as though he expected every next minute to have a bomb hurled at him. Imposing he was not, but simple and kindly certainly.

His masters, charged with the duty of educating him for his great position, in the freedom of private conversation used to testify to his intelligence and application.

It has been stated that he has no knowledge of politics. This is not correct. For the last five years he has been in the habit of presiding over the council of state, a duty which his father's laziness made irksome to him. At these meetings the young man conducted the business with surprising ability and tact.
Much more tact than his father ever showed.

He has a will of his own. His father wanted him very much to marry one of the daughters of Nikita, the reigning prince of Montenegro. These young ladies are of the Greek faith, they were educated at a fashionable school at St.
Petersburg, and they are fine, handsome and strong, of superb physique, with cool-black hair and eyes to match. But the young czar would have none of them.
He had fixed his affections elsewhere.

In Love with an Actress.

Alexander III, mindful of the sad fate of his brother, Nicholas, who had died of nervous debility, determined that his delicate son should escape that fate.
Manners are still somewhat primitive in Russia, and so the czar was induced to a very charming actress, with whom he fell violently in love and who became his mistress. He loved this woman, who had an excellent disposition, so passionately that he declared his intention of marrying her, backing his resolution by the theories of Tolstoi. His father lost his temper, but did not succeed in frightening the young man, who declared that if he was not allowed to marry her he would not marry any one else.

It was for this reason that the czar-
vitch was sent on his famous journey
round the world, in order to give him
other ideas. The wild and boisterous but extremely powerful Grand Duke George of Greece, went with him to amuse and take care of him.

The young princes behaved with anything but the repose which marks the caste of Vere de Vere. The journey was a perpetual ory, interrupted by boxing, swimming and fencing matches.
It was on this trip that the czarvitch's brother, the Grand Duke George of Russia, sowed the seeds of the disease which is now killing him.

George of Greece, was too rough a playmate and inclined to forget his position. The boxing and swimming was too much for the Russian George, who had to be secured by himself, a spar having been clumsily dropped on his head in the course of some mad pranks.

To atone for his misfortune, the Grand Duke George of Greece saved the life of the czarvitch on the memorable occasion when he was attacked by a Japanese policeman in Tokio, who hit the czarvitch over the head with a sword.

The Row in Tokio.

The truth in story of the affair has never been told in print. It was simply this:
The young prince, in ordinary civilian dress, had determined to see life, and were making a night of it. In the course of their fun they were taken to a house
of amusement reserved only for the relaxation of the priests. It was guarded by a policeman, and for a layman to enter was desecration.

Faithful to his duty and the teachings of his religion, the policeman tried to prevent the young prince from entering.
As words would not avail, he drew his sword and hit the "foreign devil" a blow across the head. Instantly the Grand Duke George laid him low with the formidable cudgel which he is in the habit of carrying, and hurried the czarvitch away.

The trip round the world had the desired effect. It very much fortified the constitution of the czarvitch, showed him "cities and manners" and cured him
of his love for the actresses, who had meanwhile been spirited away.

On his return, however, he fell in love with the Princess Alix of Hesse. He had always had a penchant for her, and now
he determined to make her his wife.
His determination gave his parents more trouble, but his good-natured aunt, the duchess of Coburg, then duchess of Edinburgh, stood his friend.

What kind of an emperor Nicholas Alexandrovich will make it is difficult to tell, still, there is reason to believe that while he will be quite as peace-loving as his father, he will be less inclined to play a great diplomatic part in Europe. He is more likely to resemble his greatuncle, Alexander I, and while anxious to introduce liberal institutions into his country, may probably succumb eventually to the civil councils of self-seeking courtiers.

Still, he may have surprises in store for us, and do something great. It is always the unexpected that happens, and he is still too young—only 26—to have definitely formed his character.

PALACE OF PITROOSKY.

travagant. She loved dress and vanities, and especially dancing. If her husband was sullen and taciturn, a sort of Saul, she was a kind of female David,
full of life and animation, and he grew
to love her.

Alexander III had few opinions and little learning, but he had an ambitious favorite in the person of his old tutor, Pobedonosteff. This man is very nearly a genius—an evil genius, perhaps, but still a genius.

He saw that Russia was drifting toward republicanism. It was then the fashion to be either liberal and "Western" or to talk of a revival of the old Republic of Novgorod under the form of a confederation of all Slavic countries.

He Takes the Throne.

A clever journalist saw how to turn this latter movement to account. He argued that the autocracy was a purely national institution, and that the confederation of Slavic nations should be consummated under a czar. This man was Karkoff. He won over Pobed-onosteff, and he succeeded in inducing
the czarvitch to put himself at the head of this national party.

The czarvitch hated his father. The

MAILS ROBBED.

A Mail Pouch With Registered Letters Containing Money, Stolen From a Grand Forks Carrier.

Joe Sheehy Knocked Out Joe King, Colored
Pugilist of Marinette, at Virginia
Last Night.

The Registration at St. Paul This Fall Shows a Large Falling Off From Last Spring.

The Democrats Lost Heavily in All Their Strongholds, and the Registration
Favors the Republicans.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 1.—A Grand Forks, N.
D., special to the Dispatch says: Last evening about 10 o'clock a mail pouch
was stolen from the wagon of Mail Carrier Maley while en route from the Great Northern depot to the postoffice. The loss was reported at once and efforts made to prevent the escape of the robber from the city. The pouch is supposed to have contained considerable money in registered letters. The amount has not yet been ascertained.

KING KNOCKED OUT.

Joe King Quickly did up the Colored Pugilist
at Virginia.

VIRGINIA, Minn., Nov. 1.—[Special to
The Herald.]—Joe Sheehy knocked out Joe King, the colored heavy weight of Marinette, Wis., in one and three-quarter minutes last night, breaking King's nose and fracturing his jaw. King is 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighs 235 pounds.
Sheehy weighed 227. The fight was fast and furious from the call of time, Sheehy went right at his man and kept him in the air all the time.
He finally cross-counterpunched King on the jaw and put him to sleep. About 300 enthusiastic sports witnessed the fight.
Leading sports are endeavoring to arrange a fight between Sheehy and Denver Ed Callahan. A good purse will be offered for the go.

DEMOCRATS LOST HEAVILY.

Decrease in Registration in Democratic Wards
in St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 1.—[Special to The Herald.]—A great many have been trying to figure out the meaning of the decrease in the registration, which has been quite marked in all the Democratic wards and in one or two Republican wards. The Seventh is the only one ward which shows an increase, and this indicates that the people residing on the hill take a greater interest in a state and congressional election than they do in a municipal one.

It is generally conceded, however, that the registration is in favor of the Republicans, the Democrats having lost heavily in all their strongholds. In spite of the great effort made yesterday to re-register the full vote, the registration this fall shows a falling off from last spring's registration of 209. Compared with the fall registration of 1892 it is a gain of 455. This fall's registration is 28,265.

A BIG PACKING HOUSE.

The One Begun at Sioux Falls Four Years Ago
to be Completed.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., Nov. 1.—The mammoth packing house begun here
four years ago is in a fair way to being completed and operated soon. Tuesday record was made in the register of deeds
office here of a transfer from the Sioux Falls Packing company to the North western Packing company of 2000 acres of land adjoining the packing grounds.

Senator Pettigrew has withdrawn from the enterprise for a valuable consideration. Some $150,000 worth of liens and options have been bought up by this new company. A total expenditure of $285-000 will be necessary to complete the building.

WILL GO TO MEXICO.

Gen. Cienfuegos Will Obey Ezeiza's Summons
to Join Him.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 1.—Gen. Cienfuegos, Gen. Antonio Ezeiza's young lieutenant, who was released from jail a few days ago, will not go back to Acapulco to join his wife. He received a telegram from Ezeiza summoning him to the City of Mexico and he started thither at once. It is deemed probable that Ezeiza desires his assistance in the troublesome experiences which it is believed are in store for the Central American republics.

Ezeiza expects to take an active part in the disturbances, with the backing of President Diaz, of Mexico.

Through Cienfuegos, Antonio Ezeiza
purchased from Capt. E. N. Jennings, the broadsword fighter and trainer, a handsome 6-year-old chestnut sorrel horse, known as Dictator Jr. This horse attracted much attention in the society circus here some time ago. The horse is to be presented by Gen. Ezeiza to his friend, President Diaz, of Mexico. The price paid for the horse was $2300. In the society circus the horse did many tricks, for he is trained far above the average of his kind.

Dictator Jr. has now been turned over to Secundino Apac, who will ship him by rail to Mexico, when he will be turned over to President Diaz.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

Strong Effort to Be Made at Coming Session of Congress to Increase Its Appropriation.

Value of a Well Disciplined Militia When the Civic Authorities Cannot Cope With Disorder.

No Country in the World so Niggardly With Its Volunteer Soldiers as the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—[Special to The Herald].—A strong effort will be made at the coming session of congress to secure an increase in the appropriations for the support of the National Guard of the country. Dissensions and popular uprisings increase in proportion to the growth of population and resources of our country. This is especially true with respect to the larger cities. It is much wiser to be prepared for such disorders. As a rule the ordinary civic authorities are able to cope with any disturbances but occasionally they are not and it is then that the value of a well disciplined militia is demonstrated.

During the labor disturbances of last summer the conduct of the National Guard in several states evoked considerable criticism and tended in a measure to bring it into disrepute. This seeming cowardice of the state troops was due in a large measure to the irresolution of their leaders and the understood fact that the state officials were largely in sympathy with the strikers. In nearly every case where the National Guard has failed to do its duty in recent years, it has been because the state was permeated with Populist vagaries or actually in control of that party. Pennsylvania and Ohio have fully demonstrated the value of a well-organized militia. The citizen soldiery of many of the Western states will make just as good a record for themselves if given a chance.

No country in the world is so niggardly with its volunteer soldiery as the United States. No other country, either, has such a large standing army at so little cost. An efficient militia organization in the states relieves the government of the necessity of maintaining a large standing army, and in this way saves many millions to the people every year. The government should encourage in every possible way the formation of an efficient National Guard in every state of the Union. These National Guard organizations should be drilled as the troops of the regular army. Then their assimilation with the regular forces would be easy and complete in times of emergency. There are but few instances in which this would be possible now.

In such states as New York and Pennsylvania the organization of a good militia force has been comparatively easy. The states are wealthy and have not had to depend on the general government at all for assistance. Some regiments in New York city own armories valued at more than $1,000,000. The individual members of the regiments are also men of means and do not hesitate to contribute out of their own pockets to the support of their regiments. In the newer and poorer states it is different. It is difficult to find educated and intelligent young men who will devote or who can afford to give, the time necessary to such work. The money received from the general government is a mere bagatelle and the states cannot afford to appropriate a sufficient sum for the support of the state guard.

Last session there was introduced in the house a bill known as the Meyer bill which sought to increase by $200,000 the annual appropriations made to the several states to aid them in maintaining their militia. The great fault with this bill was that it did not go far enough. The amount now appropriated annually for this purpose is $400,000 and it should be about four times that amount. It would be much more to the advantage of the government to pay out $2,000,000 or $5,000,000 annually to encourage the states in their militia organizations than to increase the size of the

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many who live better than others and enjoy life more, by less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, a refreshing and truly beneficial property of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50 cent bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

The Meyer bill sought to correct an evil in the distribution of the money appropriated to the states on account of their militia. At present this money is apportioned on the basis of the unorganized militia. Under such provision money may be apportioned to a state which has not a single company of organized militia. The government thus has nothing to show for the expenditures of its money. The Meyer bill provides that the apportionment shall be based upon the organized militia.

Although not satisfactory, the Meyer bill was a step in the right direction. But even so modest a measure as the Meyer bill was defeated by such old fossils as Dunn, of New Jersey and Fithian, of Illinois, so that there does not seem to be much chance for securing the passage of a liberal militia bill at the coming session. There is a remarkably good chance for some of these parsimonious old Bourbons being left at home after this session, however, and friends of the citizen soldiery of the country take much encouragement from this.

In these days of rapid transit in large cities the question of the character of men selected to operate swiftly moving cable and electric motor cars becomes an important one as the lives and property of citizens are in a measure dependent on these men. In the city of Washington cable cars run at an average speed of 7 miles an hour and electric cars average about 12, but owing to the wide streets pedestrians and drivers are able to keep out of their way and accidents are not frequent. No politics enter into the appointment of the motormen and gripmen as in some of the larger cities and the companies endeavor to secure as good men as possible.

The authorities of Providence, R. I., have under consideration a plan requiring street car companies of that city employ as conductors and motormen only men who have been examined as to their competency by experts appointed by the city. The companies, however, object to any such interference with their business, claiming that they are now as careful as possible in the selection of their employees. This may be the case, but it does not disguise the fact that accidents are much more frequent in that city than they should be. This is also true with respect to Brooklyn and several other large cities in the east. It has been charged that political places on the trolley lines and accidents are alarmingly frequent.

RELIGION STILL A POWER.

The Kaiser Wants the Lutheran Churches to be Kept Open.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A Berlin dispatch says: Count Zeppelin-Schwerin, president of the Lutheran church, has informed the Kaiser, in a recent address to the Kaiser and vice presidents of the church, said that the lauders of the general synod would be blessed if that body worked in a spirit of reconciliation. They rested upon a different basis from political bodies, and must not act from party motives.

He hoped that the churches would be open at other times than during the regressive and retrograde religious feeling of the people, the emperor said, for religion was still a power. Even the subversive elements of the present day had several times had to halt before it. The emperor, the president said, concurred in wishing the churches to be kept open.

The Italo-Chilian Commission.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Valparaiso says: The Anglo-Chilian tribunal has ratified the proceedings of the recent Italo-Chilian commission. Congress, in passing the budget for 1895, did not vote a subsidy to the South Steamship company, and it is reported that a German company has offered to buy the archipelago of Santiago. It will be made a cardinal. If so he will be the first in South America.

Earthquakes in Brazil.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—A dispatch from Buenos Ayres says: Reports of the widespread effects of the recent earthquake are confirmed. The misery caused in the provinces of San Juan and Rio Janeiro is very great, and especially in the latter, where the people are poor. Slight shocks are still felt from time to time, which serve to keep up the feeling of alarm.

Rock Drilling Contest.

TO ENCIRCLE MOUNT LOWE.

An Electric Road to Wind Around the Great Peak.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 1.—Professor T. S. C. Lowe, builder of Pasadena's mountain railway, has returned from Chicago, where he closed the deal whereby it is made certain that the mountain railway will be extended from Echo Mountain, its present terminus, to the highest summit of Mount Lowe.

The extension will be an electric road using the trolley system. It will be 7 miles in length. The track will wind around the sides of the great peak which bears Professor Lowe's name, giving a clear and unobstructed view of some of the grandest scenes in the American continent. The construction of the extension will be pushed forward as fast as possible.

OVER A HUNDRED PERISHED.

Wreck of an Australian Steamer With Nearly An On Board.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 1.—The Union line steamer, Wairapa, bound for this port from Auckland, N. Z., was wrecked Sunday night on Great Barrier island, off the northeast coast of New Zealand. The steamer had a large list of passengers and 112 of them drowned. Twenty-three of the crew were perished.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Later reports from Auckland and Sydney regarding the steamer Wairapa state that 81 passengers and 40 of the crew were saved. The captain, 20 of the crew and 58 passengers were drowned.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 1.—Lloyd's agent here confirms the statement, previously cabled to the Associated Press, that 111 passengers and 23 of the crew of the Wairapa have been rescued.

AUCKLAND, N. Z., Nov. 1.—Additional details regarding the loss of the Wairapa have been received from passengers who were rescued. The steamer struck at midnight during heavy weather and when a rough sea was running. The passengers were rescued by the shock and rushed in terror upon deck where life belts were served out and preparations made to lower the boats. The women passengers and children were first placed in the boats, but several of the boats were capsized while being lowered. The crew then set to work constructing rafts and ran a line ashore with great difficulty. With the aid of a sort of breech and buoy they succeeded in rescuing a number of people who would otherwise have been drowned.

When the passengers saw the danger in which they were placed many pathetic and heartrending scenes were witnessed especially between husbands and wives and parents and their children. But there was no panic. It was with the greatest difficulty that the boats were launched as heavy seas were coming on breaking over the vessel which was soon partly submerged, thus rendering the work of rescue very difficult than ever.

The life rafts were cut adrift by the waves and many were saved. Others clung to improvised rafts until rescued from the shore.

When the passengers rushed on deck, many of them sought refuge on the bridge of the steamship until heavy seas swept a number of them overboard and caused those who were unable to escape in the boats or on the rafts to escape to the rigging, where they remained until they were rescued.

There is no doubt that many more passengers would have been drowned, had it not been for the gallantry of two seamen who swam with a line, by means of which a stout rope, which was used later on in the work of rescue, was hauled ashore. Nearly all the survivors reached the shore in the scantiest clothing. Some of them remained on the rocks for thirty hours, subsisting on oranges which washed ashore from the wreck.

When the disaster became known to the Maoris on land, these natives launched their small boats and succeeded in rescuing a number of people. Assistance was finally obtained from Fort Pitt and the survivors of the Wairapa were brought there.

PIERCED BY THREE BULLETS.

A Chicago Police Officer Shot in a Disorderly House.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Officer George Krum, of the Canfield avenue police station, was set on and killed last night at 16½ West Twentieth street, a place which has long borne a hard name, where he had gone to stop over between inmates of the house.

The officer hearing a disturbance in the house as he passed, entered and ordered the revelers to be quiet. He was answered by a pistol shot, and was hit in the back, badly wounding Thomas Burns. The latter continued to fire at the officer, who fell dead, his body pierced by three bullets. Burns was removed to the hospital and the balance of the inmates arrested and locked up.

JAPANESE WAR NEWS.

Advices From the Empire of the Mikado Report That the People Are Very Enthusiastic.

The Desire to Humble China to the Dust Extends to All Classes of People.

The Emperor Directs All That Goes on and Has Proved to Be a Great Worker.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The Japan war news received at the legation gives graphic descriptions of the emperor's headquarters at Hiroshima and of the enthusiasm with which the war preparations are made. The imperial headquarters are in an old wooden building two stories high, formerly used as an army barracks. The rooms are small and scantily furnished. The emperor occupies the upper floor, while the lower story is used for the council of war.

The emperor rises at 6 o'clock and does not retire until 11, all the while wearing military costume. He appears and directs all that goes on and has proved to be an indefatigable worker. All the barracks and quarters near by are full of soldiers. There is the constant rattle and clank of cannon, horses, guns and sabres. The streets are lined with flags and lanterns. The soldiers, as they move on, are cheered by enthusiastic crowds. The spirit of humbling China to the dust is everywhere manifest, and the Japanese without exception regard this result as beyond the slightest doubt.

The unanimity of war sentiment is shown by the printed declaration of the Kaishinto party, which has hitherto resisted the government. It announces the chastisement of China as the first and paramount duty of Japan. It here gives its support to all war measures, and says it will resist any propositions for peace until China is humbled and the objects of the war attained. The full text of the emperor's decree establishing pensions for distinguished service is printed. The pensions range from 900 yen to 65 yen per annum, according to the service and are divided into several classes. In case of death, the widow or orphan are to receive the pension.

The Major to Speak.

Free-iron-ore-free-lumber-and-dear-
sugar Baldwin will make a little speech at the Temple tomorrow night. It is to be hoped that he will deal with the leading issues of the campaign, with the questions of tariff policy in which Duluth is most interested, and not occupy the time in discussing the opening of the Red Lake reservation and his own
war record, to which most of his speeches
in other parts of the district have been devoted.

Two years ago, Maj. Baldwin stood upon the stage of the Temple Opera house and assured the people of Duluth
that, if they would elect him to congress,
he would not do anything to harm the adversely affected areas of the industries of the Sixth district. The people accepted his promise, believing that he would keep his promise, and being very anxious that a Duluth man should represent this district in congress, they elected him.
How basely they were betrayed by his speeches and votes in relation to iron ore—how he violated his pledges
and treated with contempt the petition
of nine-tenths of the voters of St. Louis county—matters of history. During the present campaign, the major has discreetly remained away from Duluth.
He has avoided meeting the people to whom he owed much, and to whom he proved a traitor. He has confined his speechmaking to other portions of the district, where the iron ore question would not prove so troublesome, and now in the dying hours of the campaign,
when the battle is nearly over, he presents him to the people by whose favor he was given a seat in congress.

Duluth was the place in which Maj.
Baldwin should have opened his campaign. If he had not been afraid to meet the people, whose interests he betrayed, he would have begun his campaign by appearing in public here and giving an account of his stewardship.
The Herald trusts that he will not fail
to deal fully with the iron ore question in his speech tomorrow night. The people of Duluth have a right to demand that he shall tell them why he broke his promise and violated his pledge made before election, and why he ridiculed
and treated with contempt the petition
of nearly every voter in St. Louis county.

This is the issue upon which Maj.
Baldwin must stand or fall in St. Louis county. The people of this county care little about his bill for opening Red Lake reservation. That is a very unimportant matter to them compared to the iron ore tariff.

But if the major wants to talk about something else, he might also explain
why he voted for free lumber so that Canadian lumbermen could enter the American markets and compete with our own lumbermen, while we get no advantages in return from Canada.

And then there is the question of sugar. The major voted for the tariff bill which was so highly beneficial to the sugar trust and as a result of which the housewives of Duluth today get less pounds of sugar for $1 than they did before the Democratic congress tampered with the tariff bill. Stick to these leading questions, major.

Mr. Bayard's Theories.

It is a matter past comprehension why sensible Democrats will still keep talking about opening up the markets of the world to American products. Even Ambassador Bayard must cross the ocean
to tell his countrymen about the illumi-nable world and other markets they can open up in England. As a matter of fact the United States alone imports
nearly as much woolen goods as the rest of the world combined. Exclusive of the United States, the nations of the world in 1897 imported woolen goods to the value of about $80,000,000. The United States in 1897 imported manufactured woolen goods valued at about $54,165,000, and when the duty was added it brought this total up to nearly

the value of the imports of all the other countries.

By the last census our woolen manufactures were valued at $338,231,109 for the year 1899. According to the reasoning of the Democrats we are to open to foreigners a market for $338,231,109
more of their woolen goods and then hunt all over the world in a ridiculous
effort to capture from them the markets for $80,000,000 worth. While this might be a very benevolent and neighborly act,
it would hardly meet the approbation of American citizens generally, as they might rather consider that charity begins at home. Mr. Bayard had better return to England, where his theories will be more appreciated.

The New German Chancellor.

Prince von Hohenlohe-Schillingfurst, who has succeeded Gen. von Caprivi as chancellor of the German empire, is a statesman of tried abilities. He was born in 1819 and is head of the second branch of the line of Hohenlohe-Waldenburg. For a time he was foreign minister for Bavaria, before the formation of the empire. He favored the incorporation of Bavaria in the empire,
and after that was vice president of the first reichstag. In 1874 he was the German ambassador at Paris, and in 1885 became governor of Alsace-Lorraine.

A statesman and diplomat of the first rank, the prince brings to his difficult position a perfect acquaintance with men
and measures in Germany and exceptional skill in dealing with them. His appointment indicates a disposition on the part of the emperor to avoid taking sides for or against the very repressive policy advocated by von Caprivi.

The new chancellor is a Catholic, but he is not in very close alliance with his church, because he has steadily refused to acknowledge the doctrine of the infallibility of the pope.

It is stated that Prince Hohenlohe has come to an agreement with Emperor William, which will change the imperial policy in several important respects.
The first visible sign of this is the issue-ance of an order to establish agricultural bureaus in connection with the German embassies at London, Washington, Paris, Vienna and St. Petersburg. This step is looked upon as evidence of a stricter protective agrarian policy, which is known to have been contemplated for some time past. But difficulties in this connection arose with the old ministry.
It is also said that the government intends to establish an imperial colonial ministry, and this is looked upon as a sign of an active colonial policy. The new chancellor evidently intends to make some history.

They Voted Against Building.

The Herald publishes today, by request of some of the people who opposed the purchase of the gas and water company's plant, a communication which was presented to the common council by John Clyne, a West Duluth contractor.
He offers to duplicate the present water
and gas plants for $1,650,000, or about $500,000 less than the amount to be paid for the company's plants. Of course it would be impossible for the council to accept Mr. Clyne's proposition, even if it were deemed by it advisable to parallel the present system. By the vote of the people on Friday last, the aldermen are debarred from even considering the question of building a new plant. If there was anything more than another that was positively settled by that election it was the question of building a new water plant. The people voted down the proposition to build by an overwhelming majority. They at the same time instructed the council to purchase the company's plant.

But Mr. Clyne's proposition to build is really no cheaper than the proposition to purchase the company's plant. When we consider the costly delay that would be caused by building and the heavy annual loss in operating expenses for several years it will be found that the proposition of Mr. Clyne is not as cheap as it appears at first sight. The council cannot pay any attention to it,

the whole matter may be dismissed from further consideration.

The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin says: "More than a century ago Punch
published a memorable cartoon satirizing Benjamin Disraeli. The Conservative leader, who had not then become Lord Beaconsfield, was accosted with the information that a deputation wanted to know what would be the policy of his administration, and his reply was, 'We shall appeal to the sublime instincts of an ancient people.' The usually accurate Wisconsin appears to have become slightly misled. Punch published many cartoons satirizing Disraeli, but certainly not 'more than a century ago,'
as Benjamin Disraeli lived in the present century.

A story is in circulation in connection with Adam Bede's resignation of the marshaling that Maj. Baldwin made no recommendation of a successor, because the major expected no appointment would be made until after election and that then he would be a candidate himself for this office. As he cannot go back to congress, he thought the mar-shaling would suit him very nicely.

The appointment of Bill Campbell as United States marshal does not please the Duluth Democracy. To say that they are disgusted does not express the full extent of the feelings of the local bosses. They are madder than wet hens. John G. Brown is said to be preparing the necessary papers to impeach
the president for failing to consult him
before making the appointment.

OWEN TALKS TONIGHT.

Populist Candidate for Governor Will Deliver an Address at the Temple This Evening.

Baldwin, Bede and Becker Tomorrow Evening and the Democrats Will Try to Make Some Noise.

Great Preparations for Charles A. Towne's Closing Meeting on Saturday Evening at the Temple.

Tonight S. M. Owen, the Populist nominee for governor of Minnesota, will arrive in Duluth and will speak at the Temple Opera house. He will be escorted from the hotel to the theater by a delegation of old soldiers among whom will be many comrades who met Mr. Owen on the street. Tomorrow night Mr. Owen speaks at Virginia.

Tomorrow the Democrats will have their innings and the three Bees—Becker, Baldwin and Bede will hold forth at the Temple. There will be a big parade beforehand, that is if the Democrats can scare up enough people to make one. The City band and the Harris Military band have been secured and also a large supply of torches.

Tonight the Democrats will have a meeting for the benefit of the colored men and Frank L. McGhee, the St. Paul colored lawyer, is to deliver an address at the Bethel. The Democrats are trying to capture the colored vote and will have the Harris military band out to give Mr. McGhee a welcome.

Towne's Closing Meeting. But the demonstration which will eclipse all others will be on Saturday evening when Charles A. Towne will close his brilliant campaign. The Temple will be packed as it never was before when the evening arrives. Mr. Towne has made an aggressive campaign and has been heard in every nook and corner in the district. Hon. J. A. Tawney, of the First congressional district, will speak with Mr. Towne.

Arrangements are being made to give him such a reception as has never before been given any man in Duluth. Maj. Braden has been appointed chief marshal, and has named three division assistants, L. H. Wood for the first, S. S. Williamson for the second, and H. A. Eva for the third. The parade will be formed as follows:

FRONT DIVISION.
Flashlight Squad.
Mounted Squad.
City Band.
Veteran Soldiers.
Drum Corps.
Delegation of Laboring Men.
SECOND DIVISION.
Harris Military Band.
Colored Men's Republican Club.
West Duluth Club.
THIRD DIVISION.
West Duluth Club.
Bagpipers Corps.
Republican Marching Club.
Ladies in Charge.

Those who are to march must be at the headquarters at 7 o'clock. All who take part in the parade will get seats at the house which will be closed until the parade are seated.

Will Appoint Commissioners. The water commissioners who will be appointed shortly to have charge of the water plant will be selected by either the common council or the judges of the district court. They will serve one, two, three, four or five years without pay, the idea being to follow the St. Paul plan as far as possible and take the position entirely out of any political environment, and not add to the burden of taxation.

HARTMANN VERSUS WARREN. Decision on the Motion for Review Not Ready.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Smith said that the Herald correspondent today that it would be impossible to reach any decision on the motion for review in the case of Hartmann versus Warren involving valuable lands near Duluth, held under the Chippewa scrip, and the position is yet, owing to the prevalence of smallpox among the employees of the interior department.

The assistant attorney general, who has charge of this case, has been ordered to remain away from the department for some time, as he came in direct contact with several of those infected with smallpox. The attorneys and others interested in this case are anxiously awaiting the return of the secretary. Smith is also disposed to hasten it.

Pressed For Funds.

A Serious View. The potato bug and his wife walked for a time in silence. "My dear," she remarked at last, taking cognizance of his gloomy expression, "you seem constrained since the bureau of entomology discovered that we belonged to that distinguished foreign family with the ancient name. Are you not glad?" The eyes of the Doryphora lineata swam with tears.

"Noblesse oblige!" was all he said and turned away. —Detroit Tribune.

Hard Heads and Soft. The adverbial phrase was commenting adversely upon several well known men in Washington who were slouch hats. "Why," he said to the man next to him, "do they wear that?" "For the sake of contrast," was the reply, "just as you wear a hard one." —Detroit Free Press.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

The Editor Liked Enthusiastic Audiences, but There Was a Limit.

ABOUT 1722 HITS.—Two weeks ago we received an invitation from representative citizens of Pine Hill to come over on Wednesday night of last week and deliver our great speech on Arizona. As the invitation was accepted and the event advertised, and we were on hand at the appointed hour. While it was plainly advertised that we were to speak in the interests of the territory and present facts and figures to prove that congress should grant the petition for admission, a large number of persons attended the meeting under a misapprehension. Some of them expected to hear a comic lecture, and others looked for a religious exhortation. They were disappointed, of course, and of course they raised a row about it. We had just got down to the figures showing the wonderful fertility of the soil of Arizona when we were interrupted by a long and noisy demonstration of the kind I ever saw. We waited patiently for the demonstration to something to laugh at. We blantly explained our mission at Pine Hill, but the majority wouldn't have it, and a riot broke out. We estimated the number of men who were shooting with a gun in either hand at 40. The number who were trying to shoot our necks and vest buttons off was 25. The other 15 were popping at the lamps and the contents of the committee of three, who had seats on the platform.

But the name was shouted from every part of the hall in chorus and with much feeling, but we didn't step forward and how our thanks and acknowledge the enthusiasm. On the contrary, we made for an open window in rear of the stage and dropped to the ground, and we no longer felt the hands under our feet than we made a glorious fortune. The men who were shouting and spied away into the darkness. Several citizens of Pine Hill came over here next day to deplore the event and request us to make another trial, but we flatly refused. We know when we have had enough. We like an enthusiastic audience, but when they come to shoot our necks and vest buttons off, we are going to cut off short and get out by the easiest route. We propose to keep right on in the glorious cause of making a glorious fortune, but if we are admitted and Pine Hill left out in the cold, we shall feel highly gratified.

TOWN NUISANCES.—THE KICKER feels in duty bound to again call the attention of the common council to the numerous nuisances making life miserable, especially at night. The other night we went over to call on the Widow Larkins, on the corner of the street, and the widow received us in that charming and enthusiastic manner which has put her at the head of the four hundred in this town, and there she thoroughly enjoyed the evening. It is only half a mile from the house of the widow to the office of the common council, and the street is yet in traversing this short distance we were kicked by a wandering mule, run over by an old blind horse, fell headlong over a drunken man, and were nearly run over by a car. The common council is half drunk and were fired upon by half drunk craters riding in the direction of Lone Jack. We should have invited the common council to the office of the common council, and the common council should have been made responsible for the nuisance. The next thing that happens up against us at night, whether it is a car or a wandering mule, we have its feeling hurt if we haven't forgotten our guns.

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE.—The verdict of the coroner's jury in the Taylor-Wright case, which closed yesterday afternoon, was just what was looked for under the circumstances—"justifiable homicide." The facts in the case may be reviewed in the Herald of this morning. The coroner's jury last week's issue. Colonel Taylor is the proprietor of a large general store on the corner of Second and Third streets, and one of our most enterprising and progressive citizens. He was killed by a bullet from the arm of a man named Wright, who was a drunkard and a vagabond. Wright called at Taylor's store to buy a half dozen crackers riding in the direction of Lone Jack. We should have invited the common council to the office of the common council, and the common council should have been made responsible for the nuisance. The next thing that happens up against us at night, whether it is a car or a wandering mule, we have its feeling hurt if we haven't forgotten our guns.

Celebrated Man on a Celebrated Railroad. Gen. Lew Wallace, the renowned author, statesman, traveler and author, pays this compliment to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway in the St. Paul Evening News Record, Oct. 6, 1894: "I have traveled all over the United States and Europe, but never before have I seen such magnificent train service as I enjoyed on the Milwaukee between Chicago and St. Paul. The private compartment cars are superior to anything of the kind I ever saw. The trains referred to by the author of 'Ben Hur' are vestibuled throughout, lighted by steam, lighted by electricity, and arranged with the famous electric berth reading lamp."

HEAVILY ENCUMBERED

Mrs. Minnie Greenwood's Marriage License Was Void Because of an Existing Husband.

An Action For Divorce Was Begun Against Him Charging Desertion and Failure to Support.

Another Man, From Cloquet, Has Appeared on the Scene and Claims to Be Her Husband.

Day before yesterday a marriage license was issued in the district clerk's office to Charles Drapeau and Mrs. Minnie Greenwood. That in itself is not a particularly startling story, and it has been told in The Herald before. But this morning a deputy clerk marked "void" across the entry in the marriage license book, and thereby hangs a tale.

If the stories told may be believed, and there is no reason why they should not, Mrs. Minnie Greenwood is a very much married woman, and she came near being married some more.

The marriage license was issued in the usual form, Mr. Drapeau affirming that there was no legal obstacle to the marriage. Yesterday afternoon, however, there was some question and Drapeau said he thought that Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood had been divorced. The records were overhauled, but no record of a separation was found.

So Mr. Drapeau went out to look up his intended, with the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the bonds of matrimony which connected her with Mr. Greenwood had ever been dissolved. He did not return, so the license was annulled.

Another Chapter Opened.
The second chapter, introduces a Frenchman named Wishart, who says that he lives on the Cloquet river. He came into the clerk's office this morning and said that he had seen in the papers that a marriage license had been issued to Mrs. Greenwood and he would like to know if it was a fact.

He was informed that such a license had been issued.
"Well," said he, "I am her husband."
"Then you are Mr. Greenwood," said the deputy clerk.
"No, my name is Wishart."

"Well," said the astonished clerk.
He explained that he had married Mrs. Greenwood several years ago in Nebraska as a widow. Up to several weeks ago they had lived together happily enough. Then came Mr. Wishart's awakening, according to his story. He found among his wife's effects a letter from which he learned that she was not his wife at all, but that she had been married before he met her. He said that upon reading the letter he forced a confession from her that she had been married before he met her. He has not seen her since.

If the story is true, and if Mrs. Greenwood is Mr. Wishart's wife, Greenwood, she must have lost but little time in obtaining another partner.

Yesterday afternoon she filed complaint in a suit for divorce from George Greenwood. She alleges that they were married in Worcester, Mass., in April, 1887, and that she is 26 years old while her husband about 35. She claims that he deserted her three years ago at Worcester, Mass., and that his present whereabouts are unknown. She asks for divorce and the custody of an adopted child, claiming that he is addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors and is unfit to have the custody of the child.

JOHN L. MORRISON.

The Leading and Popular Candidate for Clerk of the District Court.

John L. Morrison, People's party candidate for clerk of district court, was born at Tabor, Fremont county, Iowa, Sept. 10, 1867.

Until 16 years of age he varied the usual duties of a boy on a Western farm with attendance at a common district school. After that he commenced a course of study in Tabor college.

Five years later, in 1884, running out of funds, Mr. Morrison dropped out of college, left home and crossed the Missouri river and secured a school near Osceola, Polk county, Neb. He taught in that state and in Iowa until 1888, when, after concluding a year's work as principal of the high school at De Witt, Neb., he formally renounced teaching, and after a season's experience in the insurance and real estate agency business, took up newspaper work, which he has continued with variations up to the present time.

In 1889 Mr. Morrison accepted a position as traveling agent for the school book department of Harper & Bros., of New York, and did satisfactory work until the close of his engagement.

After doing some successful campaign work on the Globe at Crete, Neb., in the fall of 1890, in November Mr. Morrison went to Kansas City and secured a reporter position on the Kansas City Daily Globe. He held there until Kansas City's prestige had commenced to wane, when he went to Omaha and secured a position there as traveling correspondent and descriptive writer. For eight months he traveled over Nebraska, South Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa and made a hit with his articles.

In the fall of 1890, after doing news paper work in St. Joseph, Nebraska, where his services in that line were always in great demand, the subject of the paper and the People's Republic saw, at Crete, Nebraska, that it was the official organ of the Farmers' alliance in that county and a paper true to its name. Much prestige was secured, by Mr. Morrison and his paper in a leading fight that defeated a Republican district judge who had been on the bench nine years and whose methods had grown distasteful to the masses.

When the People's party, or "Independent party," as it was called in Nebraska was organized in 1891, Mr. Morrison left the Republican party and cast his political lot with the common people from whom he came and to whom he is proud to declare, he belongs.

In 1891 Mr. Morrison sold the Rip-Saw and, as a result of a state reputation he had made, secured a good position on the Omaha Daily World-Herald. His work there was highly successful and he was finally made chief correspondent at Lincoln, the state capital, a most responsible position.

In 1892, attracted by Duluth's life, vigor and activity, Mr. Morrison took a position on The Duluth Evening Herald, which he still holds. His work has been a feature of the paper and those who wish information concerning Mr. Morrison as a man or writer are referred to his employers and associates on Duluth's leading daily. For two winters he also has taught a class in the night school of Central high school and the many young people whom he instructed have only good words to say. Mr. Morrison has never before been a candidate for office. He is well educated, widely experienced, as the result of his newspaper work and various business pursuits in large cities, and a hard worker. He believes that a public office is a public trust, not a private snap; also that public servant is a hired man, employee by the people. He comes of the blood in the country, but from a family whose heritage is honor, uprightness and good morals, rather than riches. His great grandfather, when 18 years old, enlisted in the war of the revolution and nearly every member of his family enlisted in the war of the rebellion. He is in touch and sympathy with American institutions and born of loyal parents, amidst the strife of civil war, has an intense love of the American flag and the country over which it floats.

No man can make a mistake by voting for this candidate for clerk of the district clerk.—Duluth Search-Light.

A NEW EMPEROR.

Grand Duke Nicholas Issued a Proclamation Formally Announcing the News of His Father's Death.

Ended By Commanding That the Oath of Allegiance Be Taken to Him, Emperor Nicholas II.

The Grand Duke George, His Brother, Will Be Entitled Czarowitch Until He Has a Son.

The French Republic Believes It Has Lost a Strong Friend and Mourning is General.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 2.—The Official Messenger this morning publishes the first proclamation of Emperor Nicholas II of Russia, in which, after formally communicating to the nation the news of the death of his father, Alexander III, he says: "May the knowledge console you that our grief is the grief of our entire beloved nation, and may the nation not forget that the strength and firmness of holy Russia lies in its unity and unbounded devotion to us."

"In this sad and solemn hour in which we ascend our ancestral throne of the Russian empire and of Poland, and the grand duchy of Finland indissolubly linked with it, we however remember the legacy left us by our lamented father, and imbued with it, we, in the presence of the Most High, take a vow to make our sole aim the development of the power and glory of our beloved Russia and the happiness of all our faithful subjects."

The manifesto concludes with commanding that the oath of allegiance be taken to him, Emperor Nicholas II, and to his heir apparent Grand Duke George Alexandrovitch, his brother, who is to be entitled czarowitch until God may bless with a son the union which his majesty about to enter into with Princess Alix of Hesse-Darmstadt.

At 9 o'clock this morning the imperial heralds in brilliant uniforms, attended by a troop of trumpeters, announced the death of Alexander III and the accession to the throne of his son, Emperor Nicholas II. The two heralds, with their escorts, traversed all the principal streets of the city and after the trumpeters had delivered three times the proclamation of Emperor Nicholas II, which has already been cabled to the Associated Press. Throughout St. Petersburg today the accession of the new czar, being celebrated as a festival, for this event takes precedence of the mourning ceremonies. The Russian newspapers therefore appeared without black borders and all of public mourning will be withheld until tomorrow.

At 10 o'clock yesterday evening the first requiem mass for the repose of the soul of Alexander III was celebrated in St. Petersburg, and the ministers and members of the council of the empire were present. When the service was over all those in attendance took the oath of allegiance to Emperor Nicholas II and to his heir presumptive the czarowitch, Grand Duke George, brother of the czar.

This morning the senate met in plenary session and all its members took the oath of allegiance. At the same time all the troops forming the garrison of St. Petersburg were paraded in unit with their colors, with the customary formality. Later the same ceremony was observed in the case of the civil servants of the empire.

A dispatch from Livadia says: The remains of Czar Alexander III, having been embalmed and attired in the uniform of the Preobrazhensky regiment, of the guard, were conveyed this morning to the small private chapel of the place. The bier was surrounded with lighted candles and was watched by priests and officers of the army. At the religious services which were afterwards held in the chapel, all the members of the imperial family and the imperial household were present. An officiating priest, after censuring the remains, began chanting an impressive liturgy. The whole ceremony was most imposing and produced the deepest effect upon those present.

SYMPATHY IN ENGLAND.

Many Messages of Condolence Sent to the Russian Embassy.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The expressions of sympathy and respect which have been called forth by the death of the czar, are universal. The officials of the Russian embassy have been overwhelmed with messages of condolence. Flags are half masted everywhere in London and in the large cities of the United Kingdom, and special religious services are being arranged at Buckingham palace, at Marlborough and at all the other residences of the royal family. In addition the shades are drawn at all the palaces and other habitations of royalty, and orders have been issued that the military bands are not to play at any function until after the funeral.

Queen Victoria is profoundly affected at the death of the czar and has issued the necessary instructions for the court to go into mourning for the usual period. The press reflects the feeling of sympathy expressed on all sides among the queen's subjects for the Russian nation in its grief. The Daily News this morning appeared with black borders and among the afternoon papers the Globe has made itself somewhat conspicuous by striking a discordant note, saying, among other things that "it does seem a little absurd to watch the attitude of France. For days past there has been a kind of historical insistence that when the event occurred France must be the power to occupy the position of chief mourner. Apart from the implied alliance between France and Russia, it does seem passing strange that France alone should be interested in the sad event at Livadia. Our own royal family and through them the nation at large is more deeply interested; and the same may be said of Germany and Denmark and every country where the monarchical system existed."

LOSS IS HEAVY.

The Big Beef House of the Hammond Packing Plant at South Omaha Burned Today.

Two Firemen Crushed to Death By One of the Walls of the Building Falling.

Chairman Babcock Expected to See a Solid Republican Delegation to Congress Elected in Minnesota.

Congressman Hall is Still Confined to His Bed By the Injuries Received at Hastings.

OMAHA, Nov. 2.—Just as the men were going to work in the big beef house of the Hammond Packing plant at South Omaha at 7 o'clock this morning, flames were discovered in the second story and quickly spread to the third and fourth floors. As soon as the fire was discovered the private fire department of the Hammonds started to fight the flames, but it was discovered that the pressure was so light that it was impossible to accomplish anything.

Word was at once sent to Omaha and all the available apparatus was hurried to the scene, for as a high wind prevailed the fire threatened to spread to the house of Swift & Co. and to the stock yards. All the efforts of the firemen were confined to keeping the fire from spreading, as there was no possible show of saving the big beef house, a 4-story structure, 200 by 200 feet, which originally cost $200,000 and was filled with valuable machinery and a large amount of beef.

The efforts of the firemen to confine the flames to this house proved successful, but only at the cost of two lives. At 11 o'clock one of the walls of the burning building fell, and two firemen belonging to the private department of the packing company were buried under ruins of burning timber and red hot brick. The killed were: John Steele, Henry Peters.

Immediately after the wall fell, efforts at recovering the bodies of the two men were begun, but it was two hours before their remains were found. When taken from the debris it was discovered that both men were still grasping the hose nozzle they were holding when their lives were crushed out. Steele was married only last Wednesday.

The insurance on the property destroyed amounts to $220,000. The loss will almost double that amount.

HALL IS STILL IN BED.

The Third District Congressman Not Yet Recovered.

HASTINGS, Minn., Nov. 2.—Congressman O. M. Hall is still confined to his bed at the Gardner house, doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances and receiving all the care and attention possible. He hopes to be able to return to his home in Red Wing tomorrow afternoon.

His appointments for the campaign are unavoidably cancelled, it being Mrs. Hall has constantly been with him since Monday, and his daughter, Miss Pauline M. Hall, arrived from Red Wing today.

In an interview with a reporter today, Congressman Hall said he felt very grateful towards the people for the regard shown him by the energetic calls made at the hotel. R. C. Libbey is able to go buggy riding, and is rapidly recovering.

HEATWOLE WILL BE ELECTED.

Chairman Babcock Expected a Solid Republican Delegation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—Chairman Babcock yesterday wrote the following for the St. Paul Pioneer Press: "The St. Paul morning paper says that the national Republican committee or Babcock has conceded Hall's election in the Third Minnesota district. I desire that you should send out a strong denial this evening of such a statement having emanated from his headquarters. We have never conceded Hall's election, nor the election of any will be elected by at least 1200 plurality. We expect a solid Republican delegation from Minnesota."

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 2.—The total Minneapolis male registration this fall is 42,967 and the total male and female 45,033, a decrease of 647 from the registration of two years ago. There were 2956 women registered.

Fire at St. Cloud.

IS MAKING CONVERTS.

Everywhere Mr. Towne Goes His Splendid Speeches Win Votes For Him From the Enemy.

Estimates of the Vote in Several Counties Obtained By Many Talks With the People.

Perceiving That Baldwin is Defeated Now, the Democrats Are Getting Ready to Trade Anything.

MOTLEY, Minn., Nov. 1.—[Special to The Herald.]—The Towne meeting at Verndale was like what his meetings have been in almost every other place, large and attentive. The seating capacity of the hall was exhausted long before the speaking began. Mr. Towne was in good voice and in the two hours he spoke made a most splendid impression upon his hearers. Some of the hearers were farmers from ten miles away and there were quite a number of Democrats among them. There, as elsewhere, he made converts and I have learned of several old Democrats who have decided to vote the Republican ticket this year. The common estimate of the Wadena county vote this year is 1000, of which Mr. Towne will get from 600 to 700. This is not an extravagant estimate.

Baldwin Will Be Buried.
I have begun to figure a little upon the probable outcome in the whole district, and the more I figure the more sure does Mr. Towne's election seem to me by a very large plurality. If surface indications are anything, it will be a victory for him of enormous proportions and Maj. Baldwin will simply be buried. There may be something under the surface which I cannot get at, a silent vote which may upset calculations, but I do not believe it. The unknown quantity is the vote for Kittel Halvorsen. What he will do in some of the counties is hard to say. In this county he may get 250 votes or about as many as Maj. Baldwin. In Todd he will get a heavy vote and a heavier one in Stearns. St. Louis will of course give him quite a vote, if the Populists get even one-fourth of what they claim. I do not believe he will do much in many of the other counties, except Hubbard and possibly Cass, where the total vote will be small. I would not be surprised if he should lead Towne in Hubbard.

Maj. Baldwin's only hope of doing anything is to keep the plurality in St. Louis down to 1200 or 30 and to get a plurality of 3500 or more in Stearns and he can do neither of these things. He claims 3500 in Stearns or did two weeks ago, but his party managers there are not so sanguine. They put his plurality at 2500 to 2800, while some think the smaller figure is big.

Morrison County.
Motley is a lumber town in the extreme north end of Morrison county, just across the Crow Wing river from Cass. I have about 170 voters and people here think 150 votes will be polled. If the vote is 125 the Republican ticket will get about 100, with most of the balance Democratic. There are few Populists here. I met one today who has been a Republican. He is about the only voter lost to the Republicans since 1892, and there are two Democratic converts to Republicanism I know of. The Republicans here, as in other parts of Morrison county, are wide awake and earnest and expect to make their share of the gains which are to be made. The Democratic candidates for county office in Morrison were two days ago, and estimated that the Democratic county ticket would get about fifty majority. He would make no estimate on the state or congressional ticket.

Cass County.
From talks with people here I have been able to get at the situation in Cass county more clearly than before, yet can give no figures that will give light as to probabilities there. In 1892 Nelson had 27, Lawler 201 and Donnelly 67. I have not the vote on congressmen at hand, but my memory is that Searle led Baldwin by about 50 votes. Estimates

here on the vote of the district are from one-third increase over 1892 to double the vote of that year. The Populist strength in the county will be very largely increased, mainly because the farmers here had two or three bad years. This increase will be mostly in the Second election district and will be mostly from the Democrats who have always carried that district.

I met this afternoon a farmer of that district, who has been a Democrat, Republican and Alliance man, and who is now a Populist. He says that the people are all Populists up there, so far as he knows, and that all of them nearly were Democrats. This last is undoubtedly true, for the Populist strength in the community which has always furnished the Democratic vote of Cass. This farmer thought that there would be close in the county between the Republicans and Populists. His views are borne out by other men familiar with Cass county and the situation there. I conclude, therefore, that Towne will lead Baldwin very largely in the county, though Halvorsen may possibly poll as heavy a vote.

Democrats Ready to Trade.
Indications from all over the district are that the Democrats are getting ready to trade anything for votes for Baldwin. I heard that Democratic votes for Owen had been offered for Populist votes for Baldwin, and there is also the story that throughout the state Democrats and Populists are getting ready to trade on congressmen, the list including Hall and Baldwin (Democrats) and Boen and Long (Populists). Such an effort would create a stampede in this district to Towne by Populists.

The meeting here last night was a large one. Ex-Senator Roscoe, an old Democrat, spoke a few words, announcing his conversion to Republicanism and giving his reasons therefor.

MIXED IN CROW WING.

No Doubt That the Populists Will Poll a Good Sized Vote.

BRainerd, Nov. 2.—[Special to The Herald.]—Crow Wing county has all along been regarded by both Democrats and Republicans as exceedingly mixed up politically and they have not changed their opinion to any great extent. At the same time it is easier to get at the feeling than some time ago. Just after the big railroad strike here it was known that there had been a great movement towards Populism by the working men in the Northern Pacific shops here. These workmen number 400 or 500. Some two months ago I was told that the vote of the county would be about equally divided between the three parties. Since that time the Populists have lost to some extent to both the old parties, but not so much as many think. The feeling among the working men is still intense and they want to be at the existing order of things, and they may be expected that Populism here will show a great increase of strength next Tuesday. This increased Populist strength will be shown more in the vote for governor than that for congressmen. Very many Populists here regard Halvorsen's election as impossible, as it is strictly is, and will vote for either Towne or Baldwin, and I believe that the majority of such will choose Towne. It is not too much to say that Towne will get a large vote among railroad men here and in other parts of the district. The vote of the county in 1892 was on governor: Nelson, 728; Lawler, 535; Donnelly, 268; Dunn, 60; a plurality for Nelson of 103. Nelson was weaker than his ticket and Searle stronger. The congressional vote was: Searle, 778; Baldwin, 492; Parsons, 210; Curial, 68; making Searle's plurality 288. The total vote on governor two years ago was 1591 and on congressmen 1552. The vote this year is estimated at from 1900 to 2100. The registration is 2200, and extra efforts will be made to poll it. Politicians here estimate that the falling off from the registration will be 10 per cent.

Stivers' Estimate.
Editor Stivers, of the Journal, the best informed Democrat in the county, estimates the vote at 1900, and divides it as follows for governor: Republican, 800; Democratic, 600; Populist, 500. He would give no estimate on congressmen, but believed Baldwin stronger than two years ago. Republicans here make an estimate on congressmen, I saw three different estimates today, as follows: Towne, 1100; Baldwin, 550; Halvorsen, 300; Towne, 1050; Baldwin, 600; Halvorsen, 350. These estimates give Towne from 400 to 550 over Baldwin. Knowing the tendency always to overestimate a vote and especially the strength of the party to which the estimate belongs, I have made an estimate of my own, which is certainly conservative, and one which I am willing to use in giving a final estimate of the result in the district. Putting the total vote at 1750, an increase of 200 from 1892, and which is certainly out that ought to be polled under the registration of 2200, I divide it this way: Towne 750, Baldwin 600, Halvorsen 400, a plurality for Towne of 150. If Halvorsen's vote runs over 400 it will hurt Baldwin as much, if not more than Towne. Now this estimate of 150 plurality is certainly within bounds and one to which even Democrats will agree. Just as I was penning it I learned that a Republican here who has been making a school house canvass in the country districts of Crow Wing says in all parts of the county the Republican outlook is wonderfully bright and my estimate is likely to be only half of the plurality for Towne. I am also informed that the Cass county outlook is more favorable for Towne than I have pictured it.

In Wadena County.
Further reports from Wadena come in today from residents there and it is that Towne will have 300 there. I do not care to put it so high as that in making out a table of probabilities to which I am willing to put my name.

In a St. Paul paper I see that John G. Brown says that while Baldwin will lose some in St. Louis county he will more than make up the loss in Stearns, Benton, Mille Lacs, Wright, Sherburne and Morrison. Now he probably talked with more different people in those counties than I did and with all that I cannot imagine how any man can figure out any great gain for the major in any of those counties unless it is Stearns and Benton. I am without information as to Benton and there may be reason to believe that Benton will largely increase its plurality for Baldwin. There may be reason to believe that he will get a vastly increased majority in Stearns, though the reports of disaffection among the Germans there do not show that he will make much if any gain. So far as the other counties are concerned the outlook is all for losses to Baldwin instead of gains for him. Wright, Mille Lacs and Sherburne certainly will not show any gains and every report from Morrison is that if he carries it by over 100 or 200 plurality where he got 321 in 1892 he will be doing remarkably well. I am willing to concede, for the sake of liberality, that Baldwin will get 3000 in Stearns, where he will not get over 2500, 500 in Morrison and 500 in Benton and still I cannot figure out how he can be elected, save by a great slump in St. Louis from all estimates.

No Show for Halvorsen.
Much has been said about the possibility of Kittel Halvorsen coming in and carrying the people by beating both Towne and Baldwin. From a survey of the district I cannot imagine anything in the way of politics more improbable. There will be not less than 40,000 votes polled in the district, and the best that Halvorsen can do will be to get 7500 of them, and I do not believe that on that vote he will get over 6000. He will reach about 1000 votes in Stearns, and no other county save St. Louis will go over the 1000 mark, and in only one or two will he get as many as 500.

THE DIPHTHERIA REMEDY.

The New Anti-Toxine Remedy Tested in Two Cases.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—The new anti-toxine remedy for diphtheria, known as "diphtherin," has been tested in two cases in this city. Ten tiny vials of the serum were received last Friday by German Vice Consul Charles H. Meyer, from Professor Behring, of Berlin, and at once turned over to the German hospital.

The first case tested was that of Jessie Hankie, a girl 2½ years old, living at Mount Airy. On Tuesday afternoon the contents of two of the vials, a full dose, was injected into the girl's arm with an aspirating needle. The injected serum was well absorbed, but the disease had obtained a strong hold on the child's system for relief, and the patient died Tuesday night. The physicians interested in the case claim, however, that it was a fair test, as the patient was already in a hopeless condition when the remedy was applied.

The other case was that of a little girl who had been subjected to diphtheritic infection from the child who died. A smaller dose was injected in the same manner into the child's arm, and up to last night she had developed no symptoms of the disease.

DENIED BY ANDREWS.

The Tammany Commissioner Says That He Received No Bribe.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—"There is not a single word of truth," said Street Commissioner William S. Andrews, in the testimony given by the witness Tomlinson before the Lexow committee. I never received a dollar from Tomlinson nor any one else while I was an excise commissioner, to grant a license. I was not permitted to put myself on record before the committee under oath to deny his charge of bribery.

"Tomlinson has an idea that he lost his position as chief inspector of the excise board because I used my influence against him. The new board selected him because he did not belong to Tammany. In fact, Tomlinson made his anti-Tammany sentiments so conspicuous that he could not expect to retain his position. He would, I believe, still be an excise inspector if he could keep his political ideas to himself."

Fire in Toledo.

TOLEDO, Nov. 2.—The 5-story building at 321 Summit street, occupied by the United States Express company and by People's Outfitting company, was gutted by fire that broke out at 12:25 this morning. The wholesale clothing store of Childs, Lee & Dunbar, next door, was in great danger for some time, but by hard work the firemen confined the flames to the express company's building.

Georgia's Senators.

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 2.—The Democratic caucus has nominated Hon. Patrick Walsh for senator to serve the remainder of the term to which the late Senator Colquitt was elected, and A. O. Bacon, of Macon, for the long term, beginning March 4, 1895.

The Debt Increased.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2.—The monthly treasury statement shows that on Oct. 31, 1894, the public debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $91,132,771, an increase for the month of $13,680,851.

GREAT INJURY DONE

Incalculable Damage to the Commercial Interests of Peru By the Warfare That Is Proceeding.

The Rebels Victorious in a Battle in Rhaco and the Town in Their Possession.

Government Forces Worst the Guerrillas in Pimental and the Rebel Leader Was Nearly Captured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A correspondent in Lima, Peru, sends this dispatch: "Business is in a paralytic state throughout the republic. The injury done already to the commercial interests of the country is incalculable and it will be many years before Peru recovers itself from this warfare which seems to be as far from the end as ever."

"In a battle between the government forces and guerrillas in Rhaco, the latter were victorious and remain in possession of the town. The loss on both sides was severe and the fighting hard. "In Pimental, the government troops surprised Teodoro Seminario and his followers. A sharp fight ensued in which the guerrillas were considerably worsted, leaving behind them several dead, and wounded, besides some prisoners. Teodoro Seminario himself narrowly escaped being taken and only succeeded in getting away owing to the swiftness of his horse. He succeeded in carrying off the body of his brother, Alipio, who was killed."

"In the south where the guerrillas are weak, various bands have been overtaken and dispersed by the government forces. In Cana, the guerrillas are mountain passes, while Prefect Muniz is manuevering so as to hem them in and force a decisive battle."

NICARAGUA IS RECOVERING.

The Tranquility Following the Revolution Is Having a Good Effect.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Nov. 2.—In an interview with Under Secretary General Matsui, he said, speaking of the affairs of his country:

"A new interior loan has been taken up by resident merchants and foreign. The promptness with which it was subscribed shows the widespread confidence in President Zelaya, and the administration of Dr. Baca, the new premier."

"Importations are gradually increasing. The Corinto customs house alone will be saved from the ruin which has befallen being landed from the last Panama and San Francisco steamers. The head of the national customs department estimates that during the coming November, December and January receipts from imports will exceed $300,000 per month."

"The release of the Americans—Browning, Taylor and Ingram—imprisoned in connection with the Mosquito trouble, has had a good effect in local foreign circles. The people are gradually becoming convinced the new Nicaraguan regime in Bluefields and on the Mosquito coast makes for order, morality and public economy. Personal protection and property guarantees have been extended to all, and wise laws have been decreed for the government of the municipalities."

Shortening the Time.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 2.—A complete new time table for the Mexican Central railroad has been prepared. Ten hours will be saved between this city and El Paso, Texas, and the time between the City of Mexico and San Antonio, Texas, via Terreon and Eagle Pass will be shortened. The new timetables will be issued by the Mexican International connection.

Could Not Be Recalled.

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 2.—Deputy Collector Dorsey received a telegram ordering him to allow the lead which arrived here in route to Yokohama, via the steamship Tacoma, to be landed not more than half an hour after the ship had departed. The ship could not be readily recalled, besides her hold was filled with other cargo.

Manifesto by Moraes.

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 2.—President-elect Moraes has issued a manifesto in which he avoids any discussion of national politics, while strongly deprecating the sectional feuds which divide the country. He says he desires to re-establish peace throughout the republic.

Bicycle Racing Track.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 2.—Patrons of sport and especially riders of the wheel will be interested to know that a bicycle racing track with club house and training quarters will soon become a permanent establishment of the city.

Capt. Reeves Offered to Resign But the Boys Want to Keep Him—Banquet on Monday.

Company G held an important business meeting at the armory last evening. The proposition to move the company headquarters to Duluth was presented and after some discussion rejected. Capt. Reeves now lives at Duluth and he offered to resign his position if the boys wanted a West Duluth man. The boys, however, seem to be pretty well pleased with their present officer and the offer was declined.

Last year Company G gave a banquet. When the question of repeating the event came up last evening there was a smacking of lips and a vision of highly favored cigars which brought a unanimous vote in the affirmative. So a banquet will be given next Monday evening, when the musical talent and the oratorical power of the members will be displayed to their best advantage. If the banquet of last year can be taken as a criterion, the company will have a jolly good time on Monday evening.

Thanksgiving. Kitchi Gammi lodge, K. of P., will give a ball at Great Eastern hall Thursday evening, Nov. 20. It is proposed to make this the latest ball given by the lodge and nothing is being left undone to make the affair a great success. ## WHEAT DULL BUT HIGHER.

Little News to Affect Values, But the Sentiment Bullish.

Wheat was quite firm but dull today, and the fluctuations were within a narrow range. News was stronger and unimportant; cables came from Europe and domestic markets were steady to firm. The death of the year had apparently had no material effect in Europe and was not much of a factor here. But the sentiment of the trade seemed bullish, the low price, the small winter wheat deliveries and the extensive feeling were all regarded with some apprehension by shorts and there was a general disposition to cover with little for sale. So the demand and the supply was about equalized and prices kept steady.

The Duluth market opened firm, steady and unchanged for May at 60¢, and a little later December started at 54¢ decline at 56¢. Futures ruled dull and steady at 56¢ for May and 54¢ for December until the closing half hour, when the market became firmer. It closed strong but dull at 56¢ higher than yesterday for cash and 54¢ higher for futures. Cash milling was in good demand for shipping and export and a considerable quantity of changed hands. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 55¢; November, 55¢; No. 1 northern, cash, 55¢; December, 54¢; No. 2 northern, cash, 54¢; No. 2 northern, December, 53¢; No. 3 northern, cash, 53¢; No. 3 northern, December, 52¢; No. 4 northern, cash, 52¢; Populism Causes Ruin.

The supporters of the Populist state ticket are claiming that the election of Sidney M. Owen as governor is assured.

The Herald does not believe that their claims are well founded, because it can find nothing in the situation to warrant them. A careful canvass of the Sixth district shows that the Populist strength has been overestimated and that Governor Nelson will carry the district by a good-sized plurality. Similar reports come from the other congressional districts, and there is good reason to believe that Governor Nelson will have a plurality of at least 20,000 in the state.

The people of Minnesota have witnessed the sad effects of Populist administrations in other states, and they will not vote to saddle the same incubus of misrule and financial disaster upon this state. Against Mr. Owen personally The Herald has nothing to say, nor does it believe that he and those who support him are thieves and anarchists. It is the theories which he and they represent and advocate that The Herald opposes. It is not necessary to again repeat the solid arguments against the various planks in the Populist platform.

A experience of other states which have been cursed by Populist administrations is sufficient to convince every thinking man who has the interest of this state at heart that the election of Mr. Owen or any other Populist to the governorship would be a serious calamity to Minnesota.

The effect of Populism in Colorado is shown in a striking manner by a statement recently published by the Business Men's League of Denver, an organization composed of men from all political parties. The Denver business men state that Populist misrule there has destroyed credit and reduced values to the extent of $300,000,000. The power of the people to better their condition has been paralyzed and as a result business of all kinds has suffered severely. They said in addition:

"The power of Denver was assessed for $100,000,000, and was worth three times that sum when the Populists came into power. Notwithstanding the city's inevitably brilliant future, the average selling price of this property, pending the overthrow of Wateism, has shrunk two-thirds. Silver has declined only 25 percent, or less than the average products of the other states, while the increased value and output of gold, together with our bountiful crops, have more than made up the shortage. Therefore, not one-half of our shrinkage of values can be charged to the panic and the universal depression resulting from the gold standard. The other one-half of loss is due directly and wholly to the destruction of confidence by Populist misrule. So withering has this been that at the present moment even a gold mine cannot borrow $1 on $5 worth of gold ore actually in sight with which to extract that ore and send it to the smelter. Lenders are anxious to reap the rich harvest offered, but hold aloof until the election in November decides whether we are to have anarchy or civilized government. Two hundred thousand farmers from the drouth-stricken states to the east of us are anxious to come here and farm by irrigation, but under Populist rule we can borrow no more money with which to build irrigating canals. Manufacturing is being profitable here, but capital shuns Populism as a pestilence."

This should be an instructive and cautioning lesson to the people of Minnesota. This state is largely dependent upon Eastern capital for its continued advancement. The progress of Duluth requires the employment of capital that can be obtained only from Eastern investors. If the Populists should gain control of the state administration, capital would be withdrawn from Duluth and the progress of the city would be retarded to an extent that would mean ruin to industries which have been established in confidence that the city will continue to advance in the future as rapidly as it has done in the past. Every resident of Duluth should not fail to vote for Governor Nelson, Hon. C. A. Towne and the entire Republican state ticket.

An Inflated Currency.

The free silver coinage idea, if put into effect, would create an inflated currency—50 cent dollars and more of them. The people who advocate this theory say that "more money" will cause higher prices, but they fail to explain how the people would be better off for having the currency depreciated. They are in the state of mind, the Baltimore Sun thinks, that the people of Argentina were in before President Celman's administration in 1890, when currency was issued without stint. Though this unrestricted issue brought financial ruin from Argentina still suffers, yet there are people who want more paper money issued. In his last message President Pena had this to say of their demand: "It is asserted that the paper in circulation is becoming scarce, and from this the inference is drawn that more of it should be issued without taking into account the fact that the void in the circulation proceeds from a want of confidence and not from a want of money. A new issue would be a new cause for distrust and would only increase the evil. It is really astonishing that such notions should still have enthusiastic advocates. It seems that the errors of the past and the experience acquired are a dead letter for those who suffer from them, and who still suffer from the effects of the crisis."

"These words apply exactly," says the Economist of France of Oct. 6, "to many people in the United States, only they wish to take refuge in it not the issue of paper, but of silver, which, on certain points of view, is even worse. One can easily understand why the silver men do not fail to encourage and support this currency, so favorable to their dividends. This free coinage is exactly the free issue of paper to which the president of the Argentine Republic refers in his message. The purchase of silver metal by the treasury might suit the interests of silver men, but today these interests are no longer of prime importance; what is of prime importance is the American conception of the money question."

The French paper's observations are generally correct, but it should take note of the fact that the conditions have changed greatly in the United States during the past year. The silver cause has lost ground. Its force has been spent, and it is now disappearing. It has always been claimed by the free silver inflationists that the Southern people were with them. There may have been at one time good grounds for this claim, but the campaign of education upon the money question has produced a marked change.

The repeal of the Sherman law was the knell of the free coinage scheme. The agitation connected with its repeal set the people to thinking about silver and their conclusion was adverse to its continued coinage into 50-cent dollars. The recent elections in the South prove this, and further confirmation is given to the assertion by the action of the Georgia legislature, which has defeated by a large majority a resolution favoring the free coinage of silver. The people of the South do not favor free coinage of silver, except by international agreement, and this is the platform upon which the Republican party also stands.

Hear Chauncey Depew: "The Republican party stands for the production within the borders of the United States of all the necessities and all the possible luxuries which our people require. It does not legislate for factories in England, nor mills in France, nor industrial operations in Germany. It stands for the American farm, the American factory, the American mine, the American artisan, the American laborer and for American wages." These words should be remembered by every voter in St. Louis county next Tuesday.

Mr. Owen's sneer at the newspapers which have been impressing upon the farmers of Minnesota the advantages of diversified farming in preference to raising wheat alone, was ill timed and unwarranted. The newspapers are not, as Mr. Owen asserted, in the habit of "employing young men at $6 a week to write on diversified farming." This may be the practice of the agricultural paper in Minneapolis which is edited by Mr. Owen, but he should not conclude that the daily newspapers do likewise.

New York is now spending millions to condemn horse property and establish small city parks on the breathing space so obtained. This should be a warning to all the other cities to reserve space for parks before the ground has been covered with buildings. Duluth has made a good start in this direction, and the benefit will be felt and appreciated before many years have passed.

When voting next Tuesday do not forget to place a cross opposite the name of Judge L. W. Collins. His name will be found near the foot of the white ballot. Judge Collins is the only member of the supreme court from the northern part of the state, and for that reason as well as for his ability, fairness and impartiality as a judge, he should be elected.

The Moorhead News issued a splendid illustrated edition on Oct. 25, giving a first-class review of the progress and prosperity of that thriving city. The edition would have done credit to a newspaper in a much larger city and it speaks volumes for the energy and ability of Editor Lamphere as well as the enterprise of the Moorhead citizens.

"During the last two years the people have been doing some thinking, and they have had plenty of leisure therefor. But they have been doing this thinking at a loss of wealth and an increase of sense." A true tale of the times by T. B. Reed.

Gen. George L. Becker, the Democratic candidate for governor, will no doubt receive a hearty welcome at the Temple tonight. Gen. Becker is a man of great ability and sterling integrity and to know him is to admire and respect him.

Farmers of the United States need not seriously worry themselves about the German embargo on cattle since only 4000 head are shipped annually to Germany, while 397,941 were carried to Great Britain last year.

Mr. Towne's election is so certain that politicians of all shades of political belief now concede it. The only question is the size of the plurality that he will receive. It will probably reach 3000, perhaps more.

Vote for Governor Nelson and for Rob Dunn for state auditor. The pine land ring is fighting them and all honest men should unite in their support.

Li Hung Chang has been stripped of nearly all his decorations and soon can pose as a living picture.

Republicanism is in the air now. Next Tuesday it will be in the ballot boxes.

Cannot Put Him Back.

Boston Transcript: Adam Bede had a short tenure of office as United States marshal for Minnesota, and all the readers of George Eliot cannot put him back again now that his resignation has been accepted "for the good of the service."

Of Course They Should Not.

Anoka Union: If the people of Minnesota elect Hermann auditor, they should not have any school fund.

Owen's Dangerous Theories.

Mankato Free Press: Quite a number of papers which are friendly to the candidacy of S. M. Owen, are making the statement that his best advertisement is his face. After hearing him endorse the Populist belief and defend its alleged principles, embracing some of the most wild and impracticable schemes which ever sprung from the brain of a man, one can truly say that his face presents a far better appearance than his Populist assertions. Personally Mr. Owen is a very fine gentleman, but it is his political belief with which the people have to deal and not his personality. His case is an illustration of the fact that a very clever man can be carried away with most absurd and dangerous theories.

The People Want to Know.

Minneapolis Times: As a sequel of Adam Bede's resignation, the Journal very cleverly shows in a cartoon that Campbell gets the core of Adam's apple. But that is hardly the question which is agitating the community. What the people want to know is, who got the birch-bark pants.

The Finest Orator.

Princeton Union: It is generally considered that the next congressman from this district, Charles A. Towne, is the finest orator in the state. He will make his mark in the national house of representatives. His plurality in Mills Lake county will exceed that of Judge Searle's two years ago.

A Brilliant Campaign.

Minneapolis Tribune: Adam Bede and Mr. Baldwin have received another snub from the administration in the prompt appointment of a successor to the great resigner. It was evidently the expectation that the place would be held open until after election, and then, perhaps, that Adam would be restored. But it was to be, Ex-Marshall W. M. Campbell gets the place, much to the surprise and chagrin of the heretofore acknowledged Democratic bosses. Not very much capital has been made for Congressman Baldwin by Bede's bluff.

Towne Will Be Elected.

Anoka Union: All the signs point to the election of Charles A. Towne in the Sixth district to congress.

Baldwin's Defeat Admitted.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: John G. Brown, who is managing Baldwin's campaign, is reported by the Minneapolis Times as admitting St. Louis county will go for Towne, "thus reversing the condition of two years ago," but claims that "Stacy, Morrison, Sherburne, Wright, Mills Lake and Benton will more than make up for the losses" to Baldwin. As every well informed Democrat in this section knows, Baldwin will get less votes in all these counties than he did two years ago with the possible exception of Mills Lake county—it will be seen that Mr. Brown this early admits the defeat of Baldwin.

HE HAS CONFIDENCE.

Gen. Becker Says if the Democrats Vote Solidly He Will Be the Next Governor.

Eighty Thousand Votes He Claims Will Elect the Governor and Think He Can Get Them.

He Will Speak at the Temple This Evening With Maj. Baldwin and Adam Bede.

Gen. George L. Becker, Democratic candidate for governor, arrived in the city this morning, accompanied by John Ludwig, of Winona, candidate for lieutenant governor. Gen. Becker has been at the Spaulding nearly all day and has been called upon by a large number of the prominent local Democrats. He feels quite confident that he is in the race and thinks he stands a good show of election.

"I believe the Democratic ticket is going to win," said Gen. Becker. "This is capable of mathematical demonstration. Eighty thousand votes will elect the governor of Minnesota this fall and we will have that many. Two years ago there were 10,000 and there ought to be that many this time. During the past week or ten days there has been a gratifying movement among the Democrats. They are solidifying all over the state."

A TRAVELING SHOE.

A Curiously Which Has Been Going the Rounds of the County.

The local office of the American Express company had a curiosity on exhibition this morning. It was an old shoe plastered all over with stickers and with 100 shipping tags of all sizes and kinds attached. It was thrown into the express car at Minneapolis yesterday and the messenger brought it to Duluth.

The shoe was started from a small town in Massachusetts with instructions to "pass it along." And it has been passed along ever since. It has been all through the East, thence to the Pacific coast, where it circulated for a while, and then it went through Canada and the West. Each man through whose hands it passed has attached a new tag with an original saying or a verse of poetry, and sent it on to the next. Some of the tags contain very amusing and witty sayings.

The tags represent half a dozen different express companies and nearly 100 cities and villages of the United States and Canada. And it will continue on its rounds for an indefinite period, adding new tags and witticisms. The tag placed on it by the employees of the Duluth office reads as follows:

"All that is left of a poor old express man. We are all traveling the same road."

On the other side was the following:

"Take me back, take me back, to my old Kentucky home, I am footsore and weary, And with no more to roam."

The shoe was sent out on the Omaha train this morning, with the other express matter to resume its wanderings.

Could Not Stand Fusion.

HON. GEORGE L. BECKER.

and I am confident that they will cast a solid vote. I became a candidate not because I wished to—I once had an ambition to be governor but that was years ago—but because I was pressed and urged to do so. Under these circumstances I consider that any Democrat who does not give me his support does not humiliate me but disgraces himself. All talk of intrigue or design to assist any other candidate in my nomination is false.

"When I began my campaign I made a firm vow that I should never make any personal attack on any other candidate. I determined to do what I could to lift politics out of the mire into which so many drag it, and to carry on a noble and a clean campaign. I determined to pay no attention to any personal criticisms which should be directed at me but to pursue my canvass in as dignified and manly a way as I knew how. I believe I have kept that vow."

Tonight Gen. Becker will speak at the Temple, Maj. Baldwin and J. Adam Bede will arrive this afternoon or evening and will also speak. The Democratic committee is arranging for a big demonstration with two or three bands, a lot of torches and barrels of enthusiasm.

"Chimes of Normandy."

Tonight will be given the first presentation of the "Chimes of Normandy" at the Lyceum. It has been in rehearsal for weeks and has been brought to a degree of perfection which has never before been attained by any amateur company in Duluth. The choruses have been thoroughly drilled and trained and the music completely. The performance is given for the benefit of N. S. Murphy, the talented baritone, and nearly all in the cast are pupils of Mrs. Olund, under whose direction it is to be given.

The final dress rehearsal was given last evening and moved with unusual smoothness for a dress rehearsal. The staging is superb and the costumes have been arranged with great care and attention to detail.

The cast is as follows: N. S. Murphy will sing the role of Henri and it exhibits his fine voice to excellent advantage. Miss Maren Miller as Germaine and Miss Farrell as Serpolette will be received with great favor. Mr. Frear is an amateur but has taken the part of Caspar several times and is said to do it admirably. Mr. Lovell as the balise is inimitable and seems to be a born comedian. The cast is as follows:

Henry.....N. S. Murphy
Germaine.....Miss Maren Miller
Serpolette.....Miss Farrell
Caspar.....Mr. Frear
Balise.....Mr. Lovell

Was Only the Yeast.

Yesterday the passengers on a city bound West Duluth car were startled by a loud report. Everyone jumped and several started to leave the car under the impression that a serious accident had occurred. After the excitement was over one woman was heard to say in an excited undertone: "My God, I thought that fat man near the door had burst."

An investigation revealed an old lady fainting from fright. She was thoroughly drenched from the contents of a bottle of yeast which had exploded in her pocket and caused the commotion.

HE WAS GUILTY.

But Uncle Akim Was Particular to Whom He Admitted It.

Old Eliakim Hunt was an ex-slave of Halifax county, Va., who was extremely proud of the family name.

"Yaas, sah, I was or bolly sarvant ob ole Marsa 'Noui Hunt, wot married Miss Pinkie Ellis, 'om de quality Elises, ober in ole Fluvanner county," he would explain. "Deyse daid an done gone now, but I ain't gwyne furgit we was quality folks."

'Akim was averse to work, and when the results of the war made it necessary to shift for himself he concluded that preaching was an easy and at the same time dignified way of getting along. He could rant very effectively and might have succeeded quite well but for a single weakness. 'Akim was a great "wrasler in pra," as one of his brethren expressed it, "but he did git drunk pow'ful."

Yet the simple people to whom he ministered were not inclined to be very harsh in their judgment of this offense. For in their own minds called for such constant exercises of the pardoning power, and 'Akim was very full of the quality of mercy, particularly when the transgressors spared him personally. When his weakness came up for consideration in the "discipline" meetings from time to time, he was left out, with the simple admonition that he try to keep out of sight of "white folks" when in his cups, the colored folks being peculiarly sensitive to criticism from their former owners.

Repeated condoning of his sin hardened the heart of old 'Akim, and he finally mounted his pulpit one Sunday so drunk that he could scarcely maintain his equilibrium. Deacon Si Jones arose and rebuked him, whereupon the preacher swore at him roughly and accused him of being a church thief. The latter offense was not so heinous in the sight of 'Akim's congregation as might be supposed, but it was a mortal affront to be accused of such extravagance, and the deacon having great influence in the body 'Akim was then and there placed upon trial and deposed from the pulpit, not for getting drunk, but for calling one of the brethren a pilferer of fowl.

Thenceforward old 'Akim lived upon his wits and his politeness. There were evil minded persons who alleged that most of his revenue was derived from the hen roosts of his neighbors, and what gave color to the charge was the fact that while he sold a great many chickens to the people of a neighboring town he never raised any fowls himself. If any of these slanders reached the ear of 'Akim he gave them no heed. He had the most ineffable contempt for "poor white trash" and "cornfield niggers" and affected intimacy with real quality people.

One day Parson Redbetter, the Methodist circuit rider, met him as he was staggering along the highway from the effects of large potations of moonshine whisky that had been given him by a party of fox hunters. In a sternly administered rebuke from the preacher old 'Akim made reply:

"Yaas, sah, but de Bible say, 'Drink ob de whiskey fur de stomach acho an di' of en information.'"

Being corrected in his Scriptural quotation, old 'Akim fell back into his impregnable fortress.

"Do quality folks, dey gimme de whiskey, an dey is allers right. Dey gets all de favorn 'om de Lawd. Po' white folks an' fo' niggers hain't no show wiv de Lawd. Hecum he recognize de quality folks? Bekaise dey kin do no wrong, an dey done gimme de whiskey."

Such was 'Akim's faith. What the quality did could not be wrong. Finally, however, he came to grief. A small farmer caught Eliakim in the very act of stealing a pig and forthwith dragged him before Justice Danforth, a member of the simon pure aristocracy of Halifax, who knew 'Akim well. The accusation told a straightforward and convincing story of the theft, but during the recital the prisoner's ebullient countenance expressed contempt, indignation, scorn and incredulity. When he had done, the magistrate asked 'Akim if he had anything to say.

"Marsa Danfu'th, axin yer pahdum, but things is deaprtly changed, dat a po' white trash kin com testify agin a quality colored pesson. Dis am wot or come or do wah, sah. Po' white trash is furdur 'om de trufo dan dey is 'om glory. Dis yere man hain't done had no pig, an of he had I hain't so low down 'om de trufo dan dey is 'om glory. If it was a quality folks' pig, I wouldn't ninn de 'cusin, but jis' common trash, Marsa Danfu'th, you'd oughter know ole 'Akim better nuf dat. I'ze es innocent as de little Balaam dat stray 'om de tol. Gimme de Bible, Marsa Danfu'th, an I done swear on hit dat I'ze nebbor seed dat dere pig."

"This will not do, 'Akim," interrupted the magistrate. "You certainly stole the pig."

"Wot dat you say, Marsa Danfu'th? You say I done tuk dat pig? Den dat settles it, an I'ze guilty fur a fac'. But I'ze wazn't gwyne ter b'lieve it on what der po' white trash man say. In course you knows, you does."

'Akim received his sentence without a murmur, but it was a very mild one, and he went to jail with his faith in the quality unshaken.—Chicago Tribune.

Unanswerable.

"My dear child," said the fond father, with a shake of his head, "you must not let this craze for athletics run to excess. Don't you know that the majority of athletes live very short lives?"

A Warning to Wearers of Bicycle Suits.

"I have just called, Miss Hainge," said the angry lover, "to say farewell, but before I say it I want you to know that I have discovered your falseness and I despise you for it."

"Why, William, whatever is the matter?" "Oh, you know well enough. Perhaps I didn't pass the gate last evening and see you with your head on another man's shoulder!"

"But, William, I haven't seen any man but you, dearest. Honestly, I haven't."

"No, I suppose not. Then maybe I am blind, deaf and dumb and an idiot. Maybe you didn't have company last evening?"

"No, one, William, but my friend Winifred. No, I didn't, and I think you are a wretch."

"And you didn't stand at the gate?" "Oh, yes, we did. We were counting the stars—making wishes of them."

"Oh, yes, I suppose I was blind. Now perhaps you'll describe Winifred to me?"

"Why, she had on her felt hat, her black bicycle suit, white shirt front, with a black satin tie and a white duck vest. You know Winifred, William?"

"Um-m, I see," he murmured, and what might have been a modern tragedy was averted, and William made it up on the spot.—Tit-Bits.

OH! FOR MORE STRENGTH!

A Cry Which is Going Up Everywhere—Just Read This, Weak People.

Oh, those nerves of ours, how they do bother us! Weak, tired and nervous is the complaint everywhere. We overwork, dissipate, weaken our bodies, ruin our health, and finally break down. Sleeplessness and indigestion are early symptoms, for the nerves are too exhausted and irritable to permit rest, and the stomach too weak to digest food.

Beware of such symptoms! A well-known druggist, Charles W. Eggleston, Esq., 330 Park avenue, Worcester, Mass., suffered from nervous prostration and all its terrible symptoms. He writes the following letter telling what he knows is the best way to get well:

"I slept terribly. After taking nervous prostration, I suffered terribly with my nerves and could get no sleep at all. I became fearfully exhausted, my stomach was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia, and I could eat hardly anything."

I used several medicines, but without benefit. Being in the drug business myself, and having had many customers speak in the highest terms of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, I determined to try it. After taking only one-half bottle I began to feel much better.

I slept soundly all night, and my appetite was splendid. After taking three bottles, I ate three square meals a day, and had not the slightest distress. My nerves were perfectly strong and I felt like a new man, being completely cured of all my troubles."

"Out of the respect I bear the manufacturers of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and my desire to have the sick and suffering made well and strong, I unhesitatingly say that this medicine is the best and most wonderful remedy known today."

It does just what is said of it, it cures disease. Don't hesitate to use it, sufferers, for you will never regret it. You will be made well and strong."

As this letter is from a dealer in medicine, his word is authority on such matters. Everybody knows that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the great leading medicine of the age. Take it and you will be made strong, healthy and vigorous."

With the aid of this wonderful remedy, you can endure any amount of work or pleasure, and life will look bright to you. It is purely vegetable and harmless. Doctors recommend it because it is the prescription of a physician, and because they know it cures."

Dr. Greene, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, discovered it. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter, at his office, 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city.

Don't make Two Prices

at a cherry. What's the use of taking one thing for course, and another for fine, washing. Pearlina will do it all. For washing wood-work, tinware, silver, marble, glass, dishes, carpets, or anything you can think of, Pearlina is the best. It saves not only work, but wear. Let it help you in all these ways. You mustn't think that the easy washing of clothes is all that Pearlina is made for.

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearlina." IT'S FALSE—Pearlina is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearlina, be honest—send it back.

DEMOCRATS ENTHUSE

Their Largest Meeting of the Campaign in Duluth Held at the Temple Last Evening.

Maj. Baldwin Talked of the Red Lake Reservation, Deep Waterways and Towne's Theatrical Capabilities.

Addresses by Gen. Becker and John Ludwig of the State Ticket—Bede Given an Ovation.

The fire of Democratic enthusiasm burned more brightly last night than at any time during the campaign in Duluth, whether for the last time this fall or not will be determined next Tuesday. At any rate, the town was full of Democrats last night, and a big blue-coated, brass-buttoned, plug-hatted and torch-lighted parade, with accompaniments of brass bands, fireworks and hurrah, marched proudly to the Temple, followed and preceded by a crowd which packed the opera house from pit to dome.

Once in the hall the enthusiasm was not suffered to die out, and each ally of the speakers scoring a point for Democracy was greeted by wild cheers, and each of the speakers received the same kindly reception. Bede and Baldwin received ovations, and Becker and Ludwig were not far behind.

John Ludwig's Speech. Hon. John Ludwig, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, was the first speaker. "The Republicans," he said, "tell us that the Democrats are to blame for the hard times and that they are not fit to run the government. The Populists tell us there is something wrong, but they do not say what it is. The temperance party tells us nothing. Then the Democratic party—they have told you for fifteen years that something was wrong and that if you would put them in power they would fix it. They said they would repeal the McKinley bill, the force bill and the silver bill, and they did. They have been in only a little over a year, but the Republicans want them to undo in that time the work of thirty years of Republican rule. "All these years the Republicans have been piling the duty higher and higher, claiming that they were protecting the manufacturers. They protected things so much that it became prohibition, and goods went so high that with lower wages the laboring men could not buy them. They built up magnificent fortunes for the manufacturers and impoverished the laboring men. "You are going to have here tomorrow night a young man from Winona (Tawney) who will tell you that the Democrats don't know anything about running the barley business. I say that no one in the country knows more about barley than a Democrat. (Laughter.) You see very plainly that they do not know what they are talking about."

The Major Has His Say. Major Baldwin was the next speaker, and he was enthusiastically received. After thanking the audience for his reception he continued: "My opponent, Gen. Towne, as he is being wheeled over the railroads in the private car of the superintendent of the road, says to the people he meets on the road that Baldwin is ignoring the political questions and chasing after such will-o-the-wisps as the opening of the Red Lake reservation and deep waterways in the Will-o-the-wisps! A man who calls those grand business enterprises will-o-the-wisps does not know what he is talking about. Minnesota never asked for greater legislation than that in favor of the deep waterway. "I would rather remain at home and take up the work of rebuilding Duluth than to go to Washington on the cow catcher of one of Jim Hill's engines or in the private car of the superintendent of the Northern Pacific. As my time is limited tonight I must plead guilty to the charge of neglecting political questions. It would seem proper that I should give you an account of my stewardship. Every day has given me a higher appreciation of the honor you have conferred upon me and increased my gratitude. "I have tried to work in your interests and have always acknowledged, you as my master. I have never forgotten your tools and struggles, and one of the proudest recollections of my life is of the contest which resulted in sending a Democrat to represent you in congress. That was the turning point in the history of the Sixth district. It is now Democratic, and we will keep it so in spite of this young Demosheenes whom the Republicans have placed in the field. This boy orator who has lived in the state less than four years and who has made no attempt to identify himself with the business interests of the community. "The Democratic party is perpetuated in power," he said, "we shall see a reign of unprecedented prosperity."

The Major Grows Sarcastic. "O' Towne as a man I have nothing to say. I don't know anything. Do you?"

"I will be elected."

He denied the charge that he had any sensations to spring. "Gen. Towne," he said, "claims that he will have 5000 plurality. I don't believe his friends would bet on that. I don't claim that much; I would be satisfied with less. But he says now, as I said two years ago, make no mistake; in spite of the opposition of the land rings and the land and corporate interests, I shall be elected. The fight is one of the pine land rings against the honest voters. (Applause.) "I have been, to the surprise of my critics, for my vote on iron ore. I did speak and vote to put iron ore on the list, and when I did so I acted in the interests of the masses, in the interests of the users of the products of iron ore to everyone of whom prices will be cheapened by placing ore on the free list. "The shipments of ore are increasing and will increase under a free system. The Mesaba range, controls the output of the country and with deep waterways would control the output of the world. "He then went into the pension question and admitted being a pension reformer, but said that there are injustices in the present law, and his reforms would consist in remedying these and striking from the pension list those who do not need or deserve aid from government. He believed in pensioning the honest, deserving soldier. "Shame on Towne and on all the politicians who tried to bring the pension question into the campaign." He dwelt on his excellent record as a pension reformer, and said that he was the only one who could say "Can such a man be the enemy of the deserving soldier?"

Gen. Becker Lauds Duluth. Gen. Becker, the Democratic candidate for governor, was greeted with applause and began: "As I stand here tonight in the presence of this vast assembly my mind reverts to the time when I first looked at Duluth. It was more than forty years ago, and one or two pine houses and one steamboat on Lake Superior constituted the sole wealth of a place which was surrounded by an almost unbroken wilderness. Nightly as the changes have been in the last forty years, they will be mightier in the next forty, and the man standing in Duluth then will see one of the most populous cities and one of the most important manufacturing markets and commercial centers on the continent. "I am here tonight to talk of the issues of the campaign from a Democratic standpoint. The issues have a two-fold character, federal and state questions. The origin of the Democratic party dates from the American revolution, and the history of the party is the history of the country. It has great influence in shaping the affairs of the government. Every state from ocean to ocean and from lakes to gulf. The party therefore is entitled to a respectful hearing. Thomas Jefferson, the author of the declaration of independence is one of the founders of the party, and the idea of the object of government is given by him in that document is the idea of the Democratic party. That is, the object of government is to secure to the governed life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. "The Democratic party believes in equal rights for all. We believe that there is too much special legislation. The government that undertakes more than it ought will not accomplish much. The party that promises most is likely to disappoint the most. "The Democratic party in theory and in practice, is in favor of the most economical administration of the government. We believe in the strictest accountability on the part of public officers and that the funds derived from taxation should be only such as are necessary to carry on the government. It is an outrage to tax one class for the benefit of another. "Wants Bimetallism. "We have always maintained that silver and gold side by side should constitute the currency of the country. Any legislation which has given preference over the other has been passed by the Republican party. My own view of the duty of the government is that it should furnish all the currency the business of the country requires, and that it should never be delegated to an individual or a corporation. I believe that paper money is needed, and that it should be issued by the government just as bonds are issued, and I believe that it would be just as good. "This is not the first time I have been a candidate for governor of this state. Thirty years ago, when I was full of the vigor and enthusiasm of youth, I was nominated by the Democratic party. I know better now the cares and responsibilities of such an office, and when the last nomination came unanimously accepted, not through ambition, but because I felt it to be a call from my party. "You have named your ticket and it deserves your hearty support, as the men upon it are all men of character and true vigor and enthusiasm of youth. The new waging Democrats should stand by their colors and the candidates of the loyal Democracy. In the opinion of the party, 80,000 votes for governor will be elected. The Democratic candidate in 1892 received 85,000 votes, and in 1890 received 90,000 votes, so you can elect the present candidate if you wish to. "Stand by Your Colors." "Some Democrats wish to defeat Nelson and so they are going to vote for Owen. Don't make that mistake. The Populist vote in 1892 was smaller than in 1890, and it will be impossible for them to elect their candidate. On the other hand many Democrats consider that the election of Owen would be a fatality to the state, and they are going to vote for Nelson. "I know a better way than either of those. Stand by your colors and elect your candidate, and you will defeat them both. Let the faint-hearted drop to the rear, the army will be stronger and there will still be enough left to win the battle. "We have had thirty-five years of Republicanism, and it is now time for a house cleaning. We are going to put in honest Democrats who will clean out the usurious plunders. In conclusion, if I am elected I shall take my position with a determination to do my whole duty. I believe the Democratic ticket will go in, and if it does my door shall not be closed nor my car refused to any man who has a right to be heard." (Applause.)

Adam Gets an Ovation. J. Adam Bede when he slipped to the front of the stage received the ovation of the evening. When I used to come down from the range," he said, "my Republican friends would tell me that I was the only Democrat left. As I have listened to the applause tonight I have wondered how I have multiplied (laughter and applause.) I knew there were Democrats elsewhere in the Sixth district, but I didn't know there were so many in Duluth. You are all going to vote for Gen. Becker, I can see that. The last time I was in St. Paul I advised the Republican committee that they were afraid of having Owen elected to win."

He then gave a little sketch of Towne's life, dwelling sarcastically on his theatrical capabilities. "He is a representative in congress I have a good deal to say against him. Had the Republicans nominated the brainy, broad-minded O. D. Kinney, or any other of a hundred, I would have been satisfied. "I will now give an account of my stewardship. You will remember that shortly after my election I removed to Washington and was in constant attendance on the closing session of the Fifty-second congress. That experience was of incalculable advantage to me afterwards. I have introduced during my service thirty bills, more than any other member of the present congress. All but three of these were in your interest. The most important were those for the relief of the settlers on the Mille Lacs reservation and the Northern Pacific indemnity lands, for the opening of the Red Lake reservation and the deep waterway to the sea. "Ten of these laws, and eight received favorable reports in committee and will receive action in the house early in the coming session. The most important bills were those for the opening of the Red Lake reservation and the deep waterway. The Red Lake bill I pledged to the people and I have kept that pledge. The bill passed the house and it is not my fault that it did not pass the senate. He spent some time on the history of the bill, and said that it was opposed by Senator Davis on the ostensible ground that he did not want it to pass until the question of the state's rights to school lands had been determined. He said that that had no bearing on the bill, and that it was opposed by the pine ring. "Red Lake Bill Will Pass. "Davis can't help it," he continued. "I will pass the senate at the next session and receive the president's signature. If I am elected I pledge you that it will become a law. You realize the importance to Duluth of the opening of the Red Lake reservation, with its wealth of timber, agricultural lands and probably minerals, all of which is tributary to Duluth. "A still more important measure is that for the construction of a deep waterway to the sea. That, as you know, has been one of my hobbies, and it was one of the issues in the campaign two years ago. I would like time to go into this but all Duluth men are familiar with it. "My bill provides for the construction and operation of a government of a deep waterway canal connecting the great lakes with the Atlantic ocean. To do this I would issue $70,000,000 in bonds at a low denomination of $100 each, at a 5 per cent interest, the object being to make a popular loan, a safe investment for wage earners. On principle 1 have opposed the currency of the government, but in this case, where $200,000,000 annually could be saved, I consider it a good investment. It would save from 5 to 7 cents on every bushel of wheat and increase the value of wheat lands $10 an acre. "Cleveland is committed to it, and it is now an administration measure. The president said he would be glad to make it the crowning act of his administration. I should like to make it the crowning act of my life, as I shall if I am elected." (Applause.)

He denied the charge that he had any sensations to spring. "Gen. Towne," he said, "claims that he will have 5000 plurality. I don't believe his friends would bet on that. I did speak and vote to put iron ore on the list, and when I did so I acted in the interests of the masses, in the interests of the users of the products of iron ore to everyone of whom prices will be cheapened by placing ore on the free list. "The shipments of ore are increasing and will increase under a free system. The Mesaba range, controls the output of the country and with deep waterways would control the output of the world. "He then went into the pension question and admitted being a pension reformer, but said that there are injustices in the present law, and his reforms would consist in remedying these and striking from the pension list those who do not need or deserve aid from government. He believed in pensioning the honest, deserving soldier. "Shame on Towne and on all the politicians who tried to bring the pension question into the campaign." He dwelt on his excellent record as a pension reformer, and said that he was the only one who could say "Can such a man be the enemy of the deserving soldier?"

Gen. Becker Lauds Duluth. Gen. Becker, the Democratic candidate for governor, was greeted with applause and began: "As I stand here tonight in the presence of this vast assembly my mind reverts to the time when I first looked at Duluth. It was more than forty years ago, and one or two pine houses and one steamboat on Lake Superior constituted the sole wealth of a place which was surrounded by an almost unbroken wilderness. Nightly as the changes have been in the last forty years, they will be mightier in the next forty, and the man standing in Duluth then will see one of the most populous cities and one of the most important manufacturing markets and commercial centers on the continent. "I am here tonight to talk of the issues of the campaign from a Democratic standpoint. The issues have a two-fold character, federal and state questions. The origin of the Democratic party dates from the American revolution, and the history of the party is the history of the country. It has great influence in shaping the affairs of the government. Every state from ocean to ocean and from lakes to gulf. The party therefore is entitled to a respectful hearing. Thomas Jefferson, the author of the declaration of independence is one of the founders of the party, and the idea of the object of government is given by him in that document is the idea of the Democratic party. That is, the object of government is to secure to the governed life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. "The Democratic party believes in equal rights for all. We believe that there is too much special legislation. The government that undertakes more than it ought will not accomplish much. The party that promises most is likely to disappoint the most. "The Democratic party in theory and in practice, is in favor of the most economical administration of the government. We believe in the strictest accountability on the part of public officers and that the funds derived from taxation should be only such as are necessary to carry on the government. It is an outrage to tax one class for the benefit of another. "Wants Bimetallism. "We have always maintained that silver and gold side by side should constitute the currency of the country. Any legislation which has given preference over the other has been passed by the Republican party. My own view of the duty of the government is that it should furnish all the currency the business of the country requires, and that it should never be delegated to an individual or a corporation. I believe that paper money is needed, and that it should be issued by the government just as bonds are issued, and I believe that it would be just as good. "This is not the first time I have been a candidate for governor of this state. Thirty years ago, when I was full of the vigor and enthusiasm of youth, I was nominated by the Democratic party. I know better now the cares and responsibilities of such an office, and when the last nomination came unanimously accepted, not through ambition, but because I felt it to be a call from my party. "You have named your ticket and it deserves your hearty support, as the men upon it are all men of character and true vigor and enthusiasm of youth. The new waging Democrats should stand by their colors and the candidates of the loyal Democracy. In the opinion of the party, 80,000 votes for governor will be elected. The Democratic candidate in 1892 received 85,000 votes, and in 1890 received 90,000 votes, so you can elect the present candidate if you wish to. "Stand by Your Colors." "Some Democrats wish to defeat Nelson and so they are going to vote for Owen. Don't make that mistake. The Populist vote in 1892 was smaller than in 1890, and it will be impossible for them to elect their candidate. On the other hand many Democrats consider that the election of Owen would be a fatality to the state, and they are going to vote for Nelson. "I know a better way than either of those. Stand by your colors and elect your candidate, and you will defeat them both. Let the faint-hearted drop to the rear, the army will be stronger and there will still be enough left to win the battle. "We have had thirty-five years of Republicanism, and it is now time for a house cleaning. We are going to put in honest Democrats who will clean out the usurious plunders. In conclusion, if I am elected I shall take my position with a determination to do my whole duty. I believe the Democratic ticket will go in, and if it does my door shall not be closed nor my car refused to any man who has a right to be heard." (Applause.)

Adam Gets an Ovation. J. Adam Bede when he slipped to the front of the stage received the ovation of the evening. When I used to come down from the range," he said, "my Republican friends would tell me that I was the only Democrat left. As I have listened to the applause tonight I have wondered how I have multiplied (laughter and applause.) I knew there were Democrats elsewhere in the Sixth district, but I didn't know there were so many in Duluth. You are all going to vote for Gen. Becker, I can see that. The last time I was in St. Paul I advised the Republican committee that they were afraid of having Owen elected to win."

He then gave a little sketch of Towne's life, dwelling sarcastically on his theatrical capabilities. "He is a representative in congress I have a good deal to say against him. Had the Republicans nominated the brainy, broad-minded O. D. Kinney, or any other of a hundred, I would have been satisfied. "I will now give an account of my stewardship. You will remember that shortly after my election I removed to Washington and was in constant attendance on the closing session of the Fifty-second congress. That experience was of incalculable advantage to me afterwards. I have introduced during my service thirty bills, more than any other member of the present congress. All but three of these were in your interest. The most important were those for the relief of the settlers on the Mille Lacs reservation and the Northern Pacific indemnity lands, for the opening of the Red Lake reservation and the deep waterway to the sea. "Ten of these laws, and eight received favorable reports in committee and will receive action in the house early in the coming session. The most important bills were those for the opening of the Red Lake reservation and the deep waterway. The Red Lake bill I pledged to the people and I have kept that pledge. The bill passed the house and it is not my fault that it did not pass the senate. He spent some time on the history of the bill, and said that it was opposed by Senator Davis on the ostensible ground that he did not want it to pass until the question of the state's rights to school lands had been determined. He said that that had no bearing on the bill, and that it was opposed by the pine ring. "Red Lake Bill Will Pass. "Davis can't help it," he continued. "I will pass the senate at the next session and receive the president's signature. If I am elected I pledge you that it will become a law. You realize the importance to Duluth of the opening of the Red Lake reservation, with its wealth of timber, agricultural lands and probably minerals, all of which is tributary to Duluth. "A still more important measure is that for the construction of a deep waterway to the sea. That, as you know, has been one of my hobbies, and it was one of the issues in the campaign two years ago. I would like time to go into this but all Duluth men are familiar with it. "My bill provides for the construction and operation of a government of a deep waterway canal connecting the great lakes with the Atlantic ocean. To do this I would issue $70,000,000 in bonds at a low denomination of $100 each, at a 5 per cent interest, the object being to make a popular loan, a safe investment for wage earners. On principle 1 have opposed the currency of the government, but in this case, where $200,000,000 annually could be saved, I consider it a good investment. It would save from 5 to 7 cents on every bushel of wheat and increase the value of wheat lands $10 an acre. "Cleveland is committed to it, and it is now an administration measure. The president said he would be glad to make it the crowning act of his administration. I should like to make it the crowning act of my life, as I shall if I am elected." (Applause.)

"I will be elected."

He denied the charge that he had any sensations to spring. "Gen. Towne," he said, "claims that he will have 5000 plurality. I don't believe his friends would bet on that. I don't claim that much; I would be satisfied with less. But he says now, as I said two years ago, make no mistake; in spite of the opposition of the land rings and the land and corporate interests, I shall be elected. The fight is one of the pine land rings against the honest voters. (Applause.) "I have been, to the surprise of my critics, for my vote on iron ore. I did speak and vote to put iron ore on the list, and when I did so I acted in the interests of the masses, in the interests of the users of the products of iron ore to everyone of whom prices will be cheapened by placing ore on the free list. "The shipments of ore are increasing and will increase under a free system. The Mesaba range, controls the output of the country and with deep waterways would control the output of the world. ## CUT HIS OWN THROAT

E. H. Harrison, Colored Proprietor of the Spalding Barber Shop, Ended His Life This Noon.

A Razor Was the Instrument Used and He Almost Severed His Head from His Body.

Business Troubles Caused Him to Take His Own Life—His Brother Had an Intimation.

E. H. Harrison, colored proprietor of the Spalding hotel barber shop, cut his throat with a razor at 1:20 o'clock this afternoon in the shop and died soon after. The jugular and carotids were completely severed, as well as the windpipe, and the head was half detached from the body. Doctors say that he probably lived five seconds.

There were but few in the shop, and no one noticed anything unusual until his fall was heard. He was sitting on a stool back of the cash counter when he cut his throat and he fell to the floor and died almost immediately.

The cause assigned is despondency over business troubles. He bought the shop about ten months ago, and had not been very successful. Besides he had property in the city which was pretty well tangled up in financial difficulty.

The first intimation of his intention to commit suicide was given last night to his brother, who thought nothing of it at the time. He was groaning in bed and his brother asked him what the trouble was. He then said that he was in trouble and that he expected to die soon, and he gave his brother instructions to look in his trunk for a deed to a lot on Minnesota point, which should be his. The matter did not occur to the brother again until he came back from dinner and found that Harrison was dead.

He was a very steady, sober young man, and the probability is that his despondency deranged him somewhat. He was 26 years of age and unmarried.

VOTE FOR John L. Morrison, The Leading Candidate.

Who is John L. Morrison, Do You Ask?

He's the well-known newspaper writer who has made his articles pleasing features in The Evening Herald, Duluth's leading daily, for over two years. He's a full grown man—mentally, physically and morally. He used to wear full-grown black whiskers, but because of the jealous protests of Col. Gridley and Col. Olund, he shaved them off, and now patronizes the gentle barber. He wears a No. 7 1/2 hat, No. 8 1/2 shoes, 17 collar, No. 40 overcoat, is 6 feet tall, weighs 190 pounds and is widely experienced in business and public office routine. He has a college education and, when a Sophomore, could run 100 yards in 10 1/2 seconds.

He can run pretty well yet, and that's the reason why he's so far ahead of all his opponents in this race for the court house.

Make No Mistake!

Vote for JOHN L. MORRISON, a competent man and a Winning Candidate.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Housewarming at the Winter Club on East Second Street the Social Event of This Week.

Marriage of Miss Margaret Urquhart, of St. Louis, Mo., and William McKinley on November 14.

Young People Surprised One of Their Set on Halloween—Young Men Give a Dancing Party.

The Winter club housewarming was this week's social event and was so delightful that the members felt that a bright winter season may be expected. Halloween parties were not so numerous this year as in former years. The charity ball is already being talked of, and the ladies of the Relief society are making preliminary arrangements. Of course it will be held at the Spalding and on the Tuesday in Thanksgiving week which this year falls on Nov. 27. A number of society men, both young and old, or rather elderly, are already talking of the buds who, it is said, will come out next year and form a new set. Several names are mentioned and they are all very pretty girls and will be popular. The present society belles will be looked to their laurels and it is whispered that they are awaiting the coming of the buds with great anxiety.

THE WINTER CLUB.

Housewarming at the New Club Rooms on Tuesday Evening.

The opening and housewarming party of the Winter club was given on Tuesday evening and it was so delightful in every way that the members are congratulating themselves that it was organized. The rooms on East Second street are admirably suited for the purpose and are nicely fitted up and furnished. The party was informal. The members were received by Mrs. L. J. Taussig, Mrs. C. B. ## THE LITERARY ARENA

Secretary Herbert Discusses "The Fight Off the Yalu River" and Defends Use of Battleships

High Order of Fiction Now Found in Outing Which Has Become a Popular Magazine.

An Interesting Article on Tammany and Municipal Reform is Given in the Atlantic Monthly.

The North American Review for November opens with an important and timely article on "The Fight Off the Yalu River," by the secretary of the navy, Hon. Hilary A. Herbert. He controverts the opinion that the issue of this battle shows that, instead of battleships, we can safely rely upon cruisers as fighting vessels. The Japanese minister at Washington, Shushunro Kurino, also furnishes a valuable paper on other phases of "The War in the Orient."

Two notable articles on the "Possibilities of an Anglo-American Reunion," written respectively by Capt. Alfred T. Mahan, U. S. N., and Capt. Lord Charles Beresford, of the royal navy, are certain to attract wide attention.

Under the title of "How a Law is made," Senator John L. Mitchell, of Wisconsin, furnishes an interesting and instructive article, describing the course of a bill through congress. "The Business Revival" forms the subject of four papers by the prominent members of commerce at Boston, Cincinnati, Orleans, and the president of the Merchants' exchange at St. Louis. The Rev. Bishop Stephen M. Merrill, of the M. E. church, deals with the "Evolution of Political Parties"; Max O'Rell describes the difference between "French and Anglo-Saxon Immorality" in a vivacious paper; Amelia E. Barr discusses "The Modern Novel"; and Charles Dickens writes most entertainingly of "Public Dinners in London," past and present. Other topics treated are: "Educating a Daughter," by Elizabeth Pasland; "Free Commerce in Mexico," by Claude N. Bennett; "For a Supper of City Noises," by Philip G. Hubert, Jr.; and "Prolonging Life," by William Kincaid.

The American art world will enjoy a special treat in the reading of "Coeur de Rose," a complete story by Grace Ellery Channing in Outing for November. The theme is laid in sunny Italy, in the Riviera di Levante. Haydon, the hero of the story, tired of prizes and medals, studies and students, praises and criticisms, one day demolishes with a sweep of the brush the study he has been working upon for a long time, discards his model and starts for the Riviera di Levante to paint there a woman who in his own language "was to have a green or yellow in her whole body, to make her make her," as he said, "all the carnations that grow; I'll give her my old rose hawl for a scarf and the morning for a hair."

For years he carried in his brain dim images of certain little towns in the Riviera through which he had hastily flitted; and of the splendid beauty of the sea-born women. There he found his model in Ginevra, a character whose perfection of body was even excelled by the immaculate beauty of her character. In these days of realism, when sensational developments of the faults and foibles of mankind are "dished up" disgustingly, it is refreshing to find "Outing," the apostle of pure air, offer to its readers such a delightful portrait of men and women. The fiction of "Outing" is now of a very high order, and its popular magazine should be read by our wives and daughters.

The Atlantic Monthly for November contains much of interest to the general reader. The title which will perhaps attract most attention is that of Henry Childs Merwin's article, "Tammany Points the Way," a history of the days of the municipal reform movement, such articles as this and the one contributed to an earlier issue by Mr. Merwin on "Tammany Hall" are of particular value.

Important epochs in American history and noted statesmen are often written of in the Atlantic, and Dr. Frederick Bancroft has made a valuable contribution to the series in his paper on "Seward's Attitude Toward Compromise and Secession." Dr. George Birkbeck Hill, who has identified his name with the well known, contributes a very interesting paper descriptive of a recent find, "Boswell's Proof Sheets." Dr. William Everett prescribes the method of learning among public men, treats the subject of the "Emperor Haider's Ode to His Soul" with scholarly ease.

The first of a new series of international papers, examining existing relations between the United States and other countries, is Mr. Ludlow's inquiry into the "Growth of American Influence Over England." This issue also contains the first part of a two-part story by Mary Hallock Foote entitled "The Trumpeter." The scene of the story is laid in the Northwest, and it incidentally deals with the Coxye troubles. Lafcadio Hearn contributes "From My Japanese Diary," and there is a charming story of Sicilian customs entitled "Kosa."

The opening of another school year is signified by a paper on "The Academic Treatment of English" by Horace E. Scudder, which supplements an earlier paper on "The Educational Law of Reading and Writing." Poems, exhaustive book reviews, and the usual department complete the issue.

A delightful book on amateur rose culture has been written by Rev. A. Foster-Melliar, rector of Sproughton, in Suffolk, England, and will be published immediately by Macmillan & Co. under the title "The Book of the Rose." It gives the fullest details of the rosarian's work, and is profusely illustrated from photographs of specimen roses and other rose subjects.

An Englishman, who when she was a girl, Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett really looked upon as a rival, to be the out, upon mature reflection, to be the man who, of all others, most truly turned the famous author's life. Mrs. Burnett has written out the story of her curious friendship for the Ladies Home Journal, which periodical will publish it as the initial article in its series of "The Man Who Most Influenced Me," to which six of the most famous American and English women will contribute.

With the November number the Arena concludes its tenth volume, and it gives promise of even greater achievement and prosperity for the coming year than in the past. A glance at the index for the past six months shows what an immense amount of reading on all subjects is afforded in one volume of this live and live review. The opening paper in this issue, which contains 164 pages of reading matter, more than any other American monthly, deals with "The Religion of Emerson." It is written by W. H. Savage, and it will attract the attention of all lovers of the grand old Concord philosopher. Kuma Oishi, A.M., Ph.D., a well known Japanese scholar, educated in the United States and England, writes on "The Causes Which Led to the War in the East."

Congressman John Davis contributes a paper called "The New Slavery." A paper on "The Religion of Emerson," by W. H. Savage, the Australian, whose lecture on proportional representation aroused so much interest this year, writes on "Effective Voting, the only Effective Moralizer of Politics." W. L. Garver describes the Freeland university. Martha Louise Clark deals suggestively with an important subject in the Relation of Imbecility to Pauperism and Crime. Rev. Byron A. Brooks considers "Christianity as It is Preached," a title that arouses curiosity. C. J. Bull takes up the pressing difficulties involved in "Immigration and the Land Question." Dr. Henry A. Hart and Dr. J. M. Peebles, M.D., two orthodox Christian scholars and medical men contribute opposing views on "The Bible and Modern Spiritualism." B. O. Flower begins a series of papers on "The Century of the Century," which he thinks presents certain striking parallels in its literary and social aspects to our own time. Thomas E. Will, A. M., has a lively and certainly timely subject in "Political Corruption; its Methods and How to Defeat it." Walter Blackburn Harcourt, who has been engaged to write a series of endpapers after the fashion of "The Editor's Study" and the "Point of View," winds up a number of solid words and timeliness with a good laugh in a humorous essay called "The Advent of the Young Man."

There will shortly be issued from the press of the J. S. Ogilvie Publishing Company, of New York, a book entitled "Saint and Sinner," or "In Passion's Thralldom," from the pen of the popular author Fanny May, which has been carefully read and commented upon by the readers of well-known publishing houses, who claim that the publication of this book will be a failure to make a hit, being one of the strongest works of realistic fiction ever written.

The hero of the novel is a saintly clergyman who becomes a sinner because of the unholy love he conceives for the wife of one of his parishioners; and depicts in the strongest realistic style the rector's alternate struggle between flesh and spirit. A description of the most vivid vision of heaven and hell is beheld in a dream by the rector. The work is of a high moral character, being pure in tone, and possessing an excellent moral, as the rector is terribly punished for his sin, and nobly atones for it at last. The unfolding of the plot is decidedly original, and the book will doubtless create much criticism, and have a large sale.

Henry Loomis Nelson contributes to the November Herald a delightful article entitled "At the Capital of the Young Republic," in which he offers a picture of official life at Washington at the beginning of the century, illustrating with all the charm of witty and vivid narration a period of real interest. The initial article in the same number has also an American theme, and treats of bygone days of the when sea robbers of New York carried on what they termed "the sea trade," regarding it as a business rather than as a crime, and "agreeable and companionable pirates" (in a town that may still, unfortunately, count among its officials "agreeable and companionable" persons who regard robbery as a business rather than as a crime, as described by Thomas A. Janvier).

Harper's Bazar will devote a great deal of space during the next month to winter wraps, reception toilettes and furs. Children's winter clothing will receive special attention, both from the beautiful and economical points of view. Articles on golf and other outdoor sports will appear, and a very practical paper on "Dinners and Evening Entertainments" is among the prominent features promised.

As a pictorial history of our own times Harper's Weekly is much relied upon by its English and other foreign contemporaries, extracts from the weekly (with due acknowledgment, of course) being made by the illustrated press of other lands with increasing frequency. But not less care is devoted by the publishers to fiction, as appears from their announcement of some of the features that the paper will contain in the immediate future. On Oct. 27 will begin a two-part story, entitled "The Judgment of Dodo," by E. F. Benson, author of "Dodo." Nov. 3 begins a four-part story, entitled "The Parasite," by A. Conan Doyle, illustrated by Howard Pyle. Nov. 3 there will be a four-page supplement devoted to the loan exhibition of ladies portraits at the National Academy of Design; Nov. 10, a four-page supplement devoted to the new north wing of the Metropolitan Museum of Art; Nov. 17 will be the horse show number, with an illuminated cover. From time to time there will be interesting contributions on topics connected with the present conflict in the East.

NEW DULUTH DOINGS.

Latest Happenings in the Suburb Up the River.

NEW DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 3.—[Special to The Herald.]—The people of Fond du Lac listened to a speech by Mr. Baldwin Thursday night at a Republican meeting.

C. Hurd returned Saturday, having been gone a week on a business trip. Mrs. Smith spent Saturday in Duluth. Mrs. Henry Herman went to Duluth Monday night.

Run down the line of the presidents to the Editor of The Herald: William D. Dean, nominee for representative of the Fifty-fourth district in the People's party ticket, is the unanimous choice of the labor unions of Duluth.

Mr. Dean was born in Ekhar, Ind., in 1850 and when but 13 years of age was forced to depend upon his own exertions for a livelihood and his life has been a struggle for existence. He has gathered a fund of knowledge and experience that have well equipped him for the position for which he is a candidate.

Mr. Dean first came to Duluth in 1886 being attracted here by the glorious future of the Zenith City of the unaltered hands. He was employed by the local typographical union and accepted a position as foreman of the Duluth News company, which he held for several years. At the present time he is employed by J. L. LeTourneau & Co.'s job room.

Dean soon proved himself a worker in the field of labor, and in recognition of this was elected treasurer of the typographical union, which position he held three terms. In 1890 he was sent as delegate to the thirty-eighth annual session of the International Typographical union, held in Atlanta, Ga., when he rendered his organization excellent service.

Mr. Dean was elected secretary of the union, and held that position until 1892, when he was elected president, which position he held until April of this year.

In 1893 and 1894 Mr. Dean was a delegate to the Minnesota State Union of Allied Printing Crafts, and was elected as president of the Minnesota union in July, 1893, which position he still holds.

Mr. Dean has always been a worker for the betterment of his race and has won the respect and confidence of all who have come in contact with him. He is a man of high character and of the highest integrity.
